COUNT CASSINI IS DRAGGED FROM BED TO AID GRAB GAME

Russian Ambassador Makes Sunday Visit to Secretary Hay to Convey Assurances from His Government.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.

How tense is the diplomatic game now being played for Manchuria was shown today when Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, who has been confined to his bed and is still far from well, paid a visit to Secretary Hay at the latter's house for the purpose of discussing the question at issue between the two nations.

It is very unusual for the secretary of state to see a foreign ambassador at his house, and especially on Sunday. It is doubtful if this has happened half a dozen times in as many years. It is explained that Count Cassini was too ill to see Mr. Hay at the state department on Friday, when Manchuria became once more a matter for public discussion, and he sent the secretary of the embassy, Mr. Rogestvensky.

On Saturday he was still too ill to leave his bed. But between yesterday and today the United States had communicated with the Russian government through Ambassador McCormick at St. Petersburg, and the purport of the representation was sufficient to make the Russian ambassador to brave the consequences of leaving his couch for talk with Mr. Hay. Immediately after Count Cassini left the house of the secretary of state he drove to his embassy and there met the special envoy of Germany, Count von Sternberg.

While neither Mr. Hay nor Count Cassini would discuss their interview, it is able to state that the Russian government professes to be much disappointed at the attitude which has been taken by the United States regarding the conditions which Russia asks China to comply with before getting out of Manchuria.

No one here can doubt that Russia is still feeling her way. No matter what happens, she will in the end win Manchuria. She is still insisting on having the terms signed by China. The objection which the United States has made as to the open door Russia answers by saying that none of the assurances which she has given to this country will be withdrawn. It is the desire of the St. Petersburg government that the United States withdraw from its attitude of objection.

"What will happen then?" has been asked.

"Oh, then," the reply is, "Russia would be glad to make a special commercial treaty with the United States which would give her the same advantages which she would get through the commercial treaty with China under which the ports of Mukden and Taku-Shan are to be open ports."

"But would these ports be open to all the world?" The answer to this seems to be that the treaty would be "only with the United States."

On one subject the Russian statesmen are very clear. That is that they will not so modify the terms of the demands on China so as to permit the opening of the two proposed treaty ports. In view of this the United States declines to take any other view than that the Manchurian agreement is a direct blow at the "open door."

Cabled instructions have been sent to Minister Conger at Peking to express to the Chinese authorities the dissatisfaction of the United States with Russia's demands and our hope that China will not accede to them. No answers have yet been received to either note, though unofficial assurances are still reaching the department that American interests in Manchuria will be protected.

In the department's note which Ambassador McCormick probably has presented already, Russia's attention is called to the assurances which repeatedly have been given the United States relative to the preservation of the integrity of China and the continuance of the open door policy. Russia also is reminded of the severe blow to American trade which must follow the granting of the first two demands, that no more ports or towns in Manchuria be opened and that no additional foreign consuls be admitted.

Russia's reason for contending for the closed door in Manchuria is the claim that the open door there is not a commercial but a political question. She continues to assure the United States that in some way this country's interests will be protected in Manchuria.

The point is made that as the Manchurian demands are still in negotiation between St. Petersburg and Peking the United States cannot expect that Russia make concessions until the fate of her demands has been determined.

Appreciating the fact that the interests of this country in Manchuria are those of trade and not territory, Russia, it is stated, is disposed to make certain trade concessions to the United States in Manchuria at the proper time.

YOKOHAMA, April 26.—Even those newspapers which previously have been moderate in tone now join in the opinion that the time has arrived for all powers interested in the integrity of China, her development and trade opportunities there, to show a firm front to Russia in the matter of her demands upon Manchuria.

SHANGHAI, April 26.—A mass meeting has been projected to be held here tomorrow. Chinese from all the provinces will be present and will urge the government to make no concessions to Russia concerning Manchuria.

It is reported among Chinese officials here that Japan has made a formal demand upon Russia that Manchuria be evacuated forthwith.

Warned Away from Panama.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA, April 26.—Jamaican laborers have been warned by the colonial government not to proceed to the Isthmus of Panama because of the prevailing distress there. The authorities say that laborers can go to the Isthmus as soon as the United States commences the construction of the canal.

LITTLE LIVE GAME IN SIGHT.

TORRANCE NAMED FOR CHAIRMAN TO SUCCEED QUAY

All Factions for Him If the Beaver Statesman Declines Further Service at Head of Party in State.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
PHILADELPHIA, April 26.

There is much speculation in local political circles as to who will succeed Senator M. S. Quay as Republican state chairman. Among other possibilities discussed is Francis J. Torrance of Allegheny. Mr. Torrance, it is stated, would be acceptable to all factions of the party, and should he accept the honor would work hard to roll up an increased majority for the state ticket in November.

It is not definitely settled that Col. Quay will not succeed himself. He alone can decide. If he will consent to remain at the head of the state organization no other candidates will enter the race. But in case Quay declines quite a number of booms will be uncovered.

Philadelphia will hardly secure the plum. It is agreed that the Quaker city has all that it is entitled to in the way of political honors. Pittsburgh is not handicapped in the same way. Those familiar with the immense business interests which engage the attention of Francis J. Torrance doubt that he could be prevailed upon to take the chairmanship. It would mean at least six weeks of his time at headquarters here, and Mr. Torrance would hardly entertain the proposition.

With Quay out of the fight the friends of ex-Attorney General John P. Elkin would come to the front. In this connection I have heard the name of T. Larry Eyre, ex-superintendent of public grounds and buildings, mentioned. Eyre was assistant chairman to Elkin when the Indiana plowboy had his hand on the throttle. Eyre is very close to Senator W. P. Snyder of Chester, who is slated for the nomination for auditor general. He is also friendly with W. L. Mathues of Delaware, who will be nominated for state treasurer. It is also probable that Eyre would suit Penrose and Commissioner I. W. Durham, but would he suit Quay? That's the question.

General Reeder was given his last term as state chairman because Quay did not want Eyre to have the place, although the matter had reached the stage where Elkin, Penrose and Durham had declared for Eyre. They yielded to Quay's objections and Reeder was re-elected.

Another candidate for the place, in case Quay retires, may be found in the person of W. R. Andrews, secretary of the state committee under Col. Quay. Mr. Andrews, like Mr. Eyre, is thoroughly competent to fill the position, having had years of experience. His friends also say that he expects to succeed Col. Quay. But there would be no more harmony in the selection of Andrews than in the selection of Eyre. Elkin and his friends are particularly hostile to the Crawford county man. They claim that he had much to do with Elkin's failure to secure the gubernatorial nomination, and they propose to even up matters at the first opportunity.

Prior to the last state convention the nominees have chosen the chairman, selecting one personally close and who could be expected to leave undone nothing to assure success. At the last convention Quay had this rule changed by leaving the selection of a chairman to the convention itself, he being the beneficiary. Possibly this will be done at the May convention; if he does not, it is possible that the state candidates will make their own choice.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

WILL DISCUSS PARTY HARMONY

Senator Quay and Thomas S. Bigelow Are to Meet Here Today.

PENROSE MAY JOIN

Citizens Leader Will Have a Conference With His Lieutenants This Morning.

STIFF REPUBLICAN RULES

Thomas S. Bigelow and Senator M. S. Quay are to meet in Pittsburgh today. The Beaver man has announced that he intends to talk party harmony with the leader of the Citizens.

Bigelow spent a quiet day in his Highland avenue home. He was not receiving callers. In addition to his meeting with Quay today he will devote considerable time to politics. Before talking harmony with the senator, Bigelow will confer with his lieutenants, a number of whom are opposed to abandoning fusion. He will probably not be able to go into conference with Quay until this afternoon. By that time it is likely Senator Boies Penrose, who is a guest at the Americus club banquet will also have arrived in the city, and he may be invited into the conference.

Citizens who voted for Pennypacker last fall will have to return to the Republican party by the affidavit route. Each man will have to swear that he will support the Republican ticket in November. By a strict enforcement of this rule there will be many who will not have time to vote, as the polls will be open for only three hours.

The Republican organization has had a prominent lawyer prepare a decision on the eligibility of Citizens to vote at the primaries. The Citizens were under the impression that, as they voted for Pennypacker last fall, their privilege to participate in the primaries would not be questioned. The attorney has decided that those who voted for Pennypacker in the Citizens column supported him as the Citizens candidate for governor and not as the Republican candidate. The city rules have been changed to allow the Citizens to come in by making affidavits of their intention to support the Republican ticket this fall. The county rules were not changed, and under them it will be necessary for the voter to show that he supported the Republican state ticket at the last election. If the decision is enforced it will be difficult for the Citizens outside of Pittsburgh to take part in the primaries. Even if they are permitted to vote, the work of taking affidavits will be so slow that many will not have time to get a ballot in during the three hours the polls are to be open.

Another matter to be brought to the attention of Bigelow today is the final selection of men for the principal positions yet to be filled. Among other appointments will be that of the superintendent of Marshalsea. George Lindeman and Samuel Gibson are said to be out of the race. The place will go to a young man. Director James W. Clark of the department of charities intends to make some changes in the methods at Marshalsea. He has about 900 inmates to care for, and about one-half of them are insane. It is his intention to make all work who can.

YARMOUTH BIDS GOOD-BY TO LIFE OF A BACHELOR

Earl and His Wedding Attendants Dine Together Informally—Program for Wedding Ceremony This Afternoon.

ELABORATE MUSICAL PROGRAM ARRANGED FOR THE WEDDING

At few weddings in Pittsburgh have as elaborate organ programs been prepared as that which will be heard at the Thaw-Yarmouth ceremony in Calvary church this afternoon. Ernest P. Jones, organist of the Third Presbyterian church, will preside. At the Thaw residence the following program was given out:

Prelude and introduction to third act from "Lohengrin."	"Pilgrim's Song of Hope."
"O Thou Sublime, Sweet Evening Star"	Schubert's serenade. (Transcription.)
"Tannhauser."	Andantino in D flat, by E. H. Lemare.
Andante Pathetique.	March and entr'acte, from "Lucia."
Marche Triumphante.	"To Lucrece."
Prelude in G minor, by E. P. Jones.	Wedding march from "Oberon."
Fugue in D minor.	"Angel Serenade." (Transcription.)
Fantasie and Fugue.	Mendelssohn's Wedding March.
March in G minor.	Grand chorus in D minor.
Andante Cantante, by E. P. Jones.	March Triumphant, a masterpiece by the late Frederic Archer.

The earl of Yarmouth, after a busy social day, bade farewell to his bachelorhood last night in an informal dinner with his wedding attendants at the residence of J. Denniston Lynn in Ridge avenue, Allegheny. He took luncheon yesterday at "Lynthurst," and during the afternoon with his fiancee and the immediate members of his family and that of Miss Alice Thaw, was entertained informally by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Curtis Perkins at Fifth avenue and Woodlawn road.

The arrangements for the ceremony in Calvary Protestant Episcopal church at 4 o'clock this afternoon have been completed and include innovations for a Pittsburgh wedding. In its musical features the program for the grand organ has been arranged on the most elaborate scale and will include the masterpieces of many noted composers.

TWO PASTORS TO OFFICIATE.

The ceremony will be conducted jointly by the Rev. Dr. W. J. McEwan and the Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine, according to the Episcopal ritual. While it will be unusual for a Presbyterian clergyman to read the Episcopal service, it will not be the first time that Dr. McEwan has officiated in that capacity.

The earl is an early riser. He called for his coffee before 8 o'clock yesterday morning at the Hotel Schenley, and a few minutes later was ready to join H. C. Norman and Count Della Gherardesca, who arrived for the wedding. Almost immediately carriages were called and the party drove to the Thaw residence, where luncheon was taken. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Thaw and Miss Isabelle May, the marquis and marchioness of Hertford, Lady Jane Seymour and several members of the wedding party walked down the Beechwood boulevard to Fifth avenue, and thence to the Perkins' residence, at Woodlawn road. The weather was delightful and the women engaged in the walk of almost a mile without their wraps.

Miss Thaw wore a maiden gown of rose lint and a large hat of a corresponding color. Her bridesmaid, who walked with Miss Thaw and led the way, was gowned in lint and shit of lavender. The guests were entertained on the spacious veranda and were joined after half an hour by the earl and his brother, Lord Edward.

In the evening the men returned to their apartments at the Schenley for dinner, while the marquis and marchioness and the other members of the house party dined at "Lynthurst." The bachelor farewell, which was to have been held at the Pittsburgh club, had to be abandoned on account of the earl's late arrival in the city, and J. Denniston Lyon designed to have the last hours of the earl's single life spent in a quiet home dinner at the Lyon residence. This was held at 10 o'clock last night.

The dinner being impromptu there were no decorations and the menu was simple. No toasts were offered and all the traditional features of a bachelor's dinner were absent.

TRIBUTE TO PITTSBURGH GIRLS.

The man who will in a few hours room today indulged in pleasantries and paid high tribute to the beauty and graciousness of American women, making especial homage to the girls of Pittsburgh. The other foreign residents followed suit. At 11:30 p. m. the guests drove to the Schenley and immediately retired. Those present were: The earl, Count de la Gherardesca, Lord Edward Seymour, H. C. Norman, H. Pouch, R. Hixon Tebb, Harry B. Thaw and M. Lyon.

There were many callers at Lynthurst yesterday afternoon. Last night only the members of the family and the bridegroom remained in the big brick mansion. Lights gleamed but from few of the windows, but in those the blinds were drawn to prevent the curious from witnessing the ceremony. The house was patrolled by officers in plain clothes and two detectives stood inside to guard the presents which are being arranged for display this afternoon.

HOUSE CLOSELY GUARDED.

There were but few intruders on the grounds and trespassers were quickly pounced upon by the officers and asked to leave. Three men stood in the portico overlooking the boulevard and always

NEGRO IS LYNCHED AND WHOLE COLONY IS PUT TO FLIGHT

Illinois Farmers Avenge an Attack on a Little Girl, Then Open Fire on Several Hundred Laborers in Camp.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Thebes, Ill., April 26.—An unknown negro, aged about 17, was lynched by a mob of angry farmers near the village of Santa Fe this afternoon for attacking the 10-year-old daughter of Farmer Bronson Davis, and this was followed by a general onslaught upon a colony of negroes living in tents, who were engaged in bridge construction work. The tents were burned and many negroes were shot, but so far as known none was killed. Hundreds of shots were exchanged, but no whites were hurt.

Branson Davis lives one-half mile east of Santa Fe, a small village near here. While his 10-year-old daughter was in the barnyard today the negro accosted her. She ran, but he seized her and her screams brought her mother to the rescue. The negro fled. Officers were notified and were soon in pursuit.

The news speedily spread among the neighboring farmers and resulted in an angry mob starting in search of the assailant. The negro, meanwhile, had been captured by officers and was being brought to Santa Fe, when the mob of farmers was met.

A fight followed, during which the farmers secured the negro. He confessed to the crime and begged for mercy. Without a word the mob started with the prisoner toward the new bridge being constructed across the Mississippi, where he was hanged to an oak tree. After the body had dangled in the air a few moments it was riddled with bullets.

Then a rush was made for a colony of negroes. The blacks saw the mob coming and opened fire. A fusillade followed and the whites fired with effect, as many of the negroes were shot down. None of the mob was injured, and it is not known how seriously the negroes were wounded. The mob pressed forward, notwithstanding the steady fire, until the negroes turned and fled toward a nearby wood, taking their wounded with them.

Then the mob fell upon the tents and burned them. After accomplishing a general work of destruction, the mob dispersed. Extra police were sworn in and tonight the village is under heavy guard.

Santa Fe is a village in the extreme southwestern portion of Illinois, near the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad.

TWO WHITE GIRLS AND NEGRO TERRIBLY WHIPPED

Bloomington, Ind., Mob Uses Barb Wire to Lash Trio of Alleged Evildoers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BLOOMINGTON, IND., April 26.—Unmasked and without the slightest attempt to conceal their identity, 38 well-known citizens of Bloomington, this morning, marched in perfect order to the home of a family named Stephens, in East Ninth street, broke open the door, seized 18-year-old Rebecca Stephens and her 16-year-old sister Ida and beat them unmercifully. The elder with a barbed wire whip and the younger with switches.

Joe Shively, a negro who roomed at the house and was charged with being too friendly with the girls, was also whipped with barbed wire. The victims of the flogging made frantic appeals for mercy, but not until both had received a severe punishment at the hands of the mob were they allowed to depart. Both the girls were painfully injured, and the elder is in a serious condition from the fearful blows of the barbed wire lash.

Many of the men were recognized by the victims and warrants will be sworn out at once for the arrest of several.

VENEZUELAN REBELS GAIN DECISIVE VICTORY

One of Castro's Leading Generals Narrowly Escapes Being Captured.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILLEMSTAD, ISLAND OF CURACOA, Tuesday, April 21.—News has reached here that the Venezuelan government generals, Gomez and Ferrer, have been routed at El Guapo by revolutionists under the command of Gen. Rolando. Gomez and Ferrer returned to Caracas with many wounded. Gomez owes his escape from capture to the fact that he was well mounted.

Forces of the government have also been defeated at Barquisimeto, San Felipe and Mornon. Large numbers of wounded government soldiers have reached Valencia, Puerto Cabello and La Guayra.

The revolutionary General Riera has evacuated La Veala de Coro and is now occupying a strong position near Coro, waiting for an opportunity to capture that town without bloodshed.

Minister Velutini has left Caracas for Europe for the purpose of having coined silver money for the republic.

Lieut. Gov. Lee Resigns.

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—Lieut. Gov. Lee this afternoon mailed his resignation to Gov. Dockery.

SANTO DOMINGO TROOPS DESERT GOVERNMENT

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
[Copyright, 1903, by New York Herald Co.]

PUERTA PLATA, SANTO DOMINGO, April 26.—The death of Gens. Aguilar and Alvarez and Minister Cordero, in the assault upon Santo Domingo city a week ago, demoralized the government troops, who have deserted President Vasquez.

CAPE HATIEN, HAYTI, Thursday, April 23.—The German cruiser Vineta, which called at Port Au Prince, brings details of the fighting at San Domingo on April 18.

President Vasquez and his forces attacked the city vigorously at 6 o'clock on the morning of the 18th. After severe fighting that lasted for one hour the government forces succeeded in gaining an entrance to the city. They were quickly driven out, however, leaving behind many of their number dead or wounded.

After being driven from the city the government troops were seized with panic and at 10 o'clock President Vasquez had about him not more than 60 faithful followers. He was forced to flee, abandoning all his arms and supplies. The disaster to the government forces was complete and the success of the revolutionists overwhelming.

The foreign consuls at Monte Cristi have asked for the presence of warships.

REBELS DRIVE BRITISH BACK

Major Gough's Column Barely Escapes Annihilation in Somaliland.

LOSSES WERE SEVERE

Thirteen Were Killed and 28 Wounded, Two of the Slain Being Officers.

ALL WOUNDED BROUGHT IN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Bohotle, Somaliland, East Africa, Saturday, April 25.—Maj. Gough, in command of a mobile column, engaged the enemy near Danop. He lost thirteen men killed, including two officers, and four officers wounded. The enemy had 200 men killed.

LONDON, April 26.—A long official dispatch has been received here from Bohotle, Somaliland, to the effect that Maj. Gough's flying column, numbering about 200 men, attacked a large force of the enemy near Danop. The column formed in a square and resisted with success for several hours, receiving reinforcements from Danop.

Ammunition becoming scarce, the British forces retired slowly on Danop, bringing all their wounded with them. They were continually attacked en route. In addition to 13 men killed, including two officers, there were 28 men and 4 officers wounded. Maj. Gough praised highly the conduct of his forces under trying conditions, and while fighting at close quarters. He recommends several men for gallant behavior. He is now retiring on Bohotle, and is expected to arrive there April 28. Supplies have been sent to meet him.

GHASTLY FIND WORTH $5,000

Body of Drowned Millionaire Rises to Surface Near Poor Man's Boat.

MYSTERY IS SOLVED

Fate of Adolphe Openhym, New York Silk Importer, Now Known to Family.

HE LEAPED FROM BRIDGE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 26.

All doubt that Adolphe Openhym, a wealthy silk importer whose home was at No. 262 Riverside drive, committed suicide by leaping from High bridge on March 30, was set at rest today when his body was found by the captain of a scavenger scow. John Meehan, who will presumably receive the reward of $5,000 offered by the dead man's family, and who was so overcome by the fortune that has come to him that he could only say today that he was doubtful whether to invest in an automobile or a steam yacht.

Capt. Meehan, with his two sons, August and Richard, sleep on the scow Ella Jane, which is tied at the foot of One Hundred and Fifty-seventh street in the Harlem river. True to the instincts developed by his 60 years of seafaring life first thought when he emerged out of the dusk of his craft until the morning was to scan the sky for signs of storm. His next was to look for logs or debris which the tide may have drifted against the Ella Jane during the night.

Pumping gently against the piers stern and near the pier to which she was moored he saw an object which at first seemed to him to be the body of a dog tied in a bag. With a boathook he gently turned the object over, and a man's head appeared on the surface. He summoned his sons and Harry Nafew, who has a boathouse at the foot of One Hundred and Fifty-eighth street, and the four men tied the body to the pier, hoping that it might be that of Mr. Openhym, but not certain on that point.

Policeman Francis telephoned to the West One Hundred and Fifty-second street station for a patrol wagon. Meanwhile the body was lifted from the river to the deck of the boat and the suspense of Capt. Meehan and his companions was soon ended by the finding of papers and letters which assured them that it was Mr. Openhym's body. Mr. Nafew lost no time in telephoning the news to Mr. Openhym's house and was informed that a representative of the family would go to the scene as soon as possible and that the launch which has been for nearly a month dredging the bottom for the body would be instructed to go at once to the Elks' Jane.

Besides letters and personal cards similar to the one found beneath the hand of a hat he cast aside when he jumped to his death, a watch was found on the body, on which was engraved the owner's monogram, and nearly $50 in bills, which were still in a fair state of preservation.

Mr. Morris Hirsch, Mr. Openhym's personal counsel, returned from Atlantic City this evening and at once took charge of the arrangements for Mr. Openhym's funeral, which, he said, would not be held until after a formal inquest had been held, in order to meet the requirements of the law.

"Assuming that there are no other claimants, and that Capt. Meehan was the one who found the body, the $5,000 reward will of course be paid to him," said Mr. Hirsch. "In fact, a notice offering the reward was sent out again only last Saturday and it will be paid exactly as promised, of course."

DAMROSCH ABROAD

Signs Contract for Series of Wagnerian Concerts in Leading German Cities.

BERLIN, April 26.—(Special Cable.)—Mr. Walter Damrosch, who is leaving here today, has signed a contract to direct Wagnerian concerts next year in the leading German cities. He will also direct a series of concerts in Berlin, St. Petersburg, Warsaw and Paris.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—Mr. Conried said tonight: "It is not true that I have engaged Mr. Richard Strauss to direct opera for me, nor have I any intention of doing so. His London agent, Hugo Goerlitz, wrote to me and said that Mr. Strauss would like to come over here and lead the orchestra. I asked him what his terms were, and he said $1,000 a night. I replied that I thought that was ridiculous. I did this in view of the fact that I knew of his being in negotiation with an agent here in New York for a concert tour at $250 a night. Mr. Goerlitz then came down to $750 a night if I told him I was very much obliged, but did not wish to conclude any negotiations with Mr. Strauss."

TAXES CAUSE TROUBLE

Havana Druggists Close Their Stores in Protest Against Recent Enactment.

HAVANA, April 26.—Protests are being made throughout the island against the taxes imposed by the newly created provincial governments. The drug stores of Havana and its suburbs almost without exception were closed today in protest against the stamp tax of 2 cents on every package of patent medicine sold.

The druggists, following the example of the theater managers, have sought to have this tax rescinded, but the provincial council has refused their request. Today it was almost impossible to procure medicines in Havana except at the free municipal dispensaries, of which there is one in every ward. Many of the druggists declare they are ready to remain closed until Gen. Nunez, civil governor of Havana, or President Palma vetoes the tax.

EXPECT 450,000 PEOPLE.

St. Louisans Count Upon That Many Attending World's Fair Dedication Exercises.

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—St. Louis is beginning to assume gala attire for the festivities of the coming week, which will open with the national and international good roads convention, and close with the dedication of the Louisiana purchase exposition.

It is estimated that dedication day will find 500,000 persons within the world's fair gates.

The real beginning of dedication week was inaugurated this afternoon, when the United States monitor Arkansas arrived at St. Louis. Thousands of people gathered along the levee, and on the Eads bridge to welcome her. A delegation of prominent citizens met the Arkansas 12 miles below the city, at Jefferson barracks, and accompanied her to her moorings in the harbor.

MOB LYNCHED NEGRO RELEASED ON BOND

LONGVIEW, TEX., April 26.—News reached here today of the lynching at Carthage, last night, of a negro named Hentley Johnson, charged with assaulting a 4-year-old white girl of that place. The negro was captured by the officers, but was released on bond yesterday. A mob from Carthage caught him and hanged him in the public square.

STUART ROBSON ILL AT ALBANY

TOLEDO, O., April 26.—Word was received here today announcing that Stuart Robson was taken ill at Auburn, N. Y., last night and that his dates for the balance of this season have been cancelled. They covered two weeks in New York, Ohio and Michigan.

Steamboat Inspection Abolished.

OTTAWA, ONT., April 26.—The minister of marine and fisheries has ordered the abolition of steamboat inspection fees, which will relieve the shipping industry of about $200,000 annually, in the budget it was announced that the canal tolls were to be abolished.

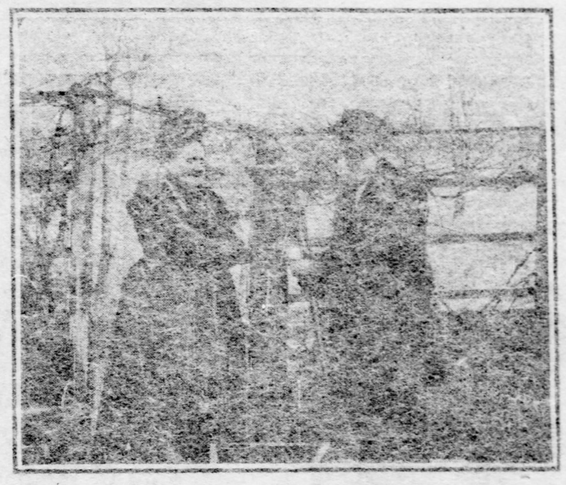
Aged Couple of Idlewood who Have Enjoyed 50 Years of Marital Bliss.



James Finley, aged 83, drawing a cup of water at the family pump at Idlewood for his wife, aged 76.

The fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James Finley of Idlewood, on the Panhandle railroad, near Sheraden, was celebrated Saturday. The couple are aged pioneers of Allegheny county, having come from Philadelphia by way of the Pennsylvania canal in 1832, before the completion of the Pennsylvania railroad. They were united in marriage in Wilkinsburg and resided for 25 years in Penn township. The minister and those present at the wedding have since passed away.

Mr. Finley is 83 years of age and his helpmeet is 76 years. They are both in excellent health and in full possession of all their faculties. They were the parents of 10 children, eight of whom are now living, and 24 grandchildren.

The sons and daughters present at the celebration were: John L. Campbell and family of the East End; L. C. Reed and family of Wilkinsburg; Robert S. Finley and family of Carnegie; John Finley and family of the East End; Charles J. Finley and family of Idlewood; J. E. Finley, wife and daughter of Cleveland, and Joseph Finley, wife and daughter of Carnegie.

The friends and relatives present were: John Morrow and wife of Rodi, Pa.; Charles Morrow and wife of Rodi, Pa.; William Mitchell, Sr., and wife, of Turtle Creek, Pa.; Mrs. Margaret Walker of Carnegie, Pa.; Miss Annie Mcgeary of the East End; Robert Friehtshauser and wife of the South Side; Miss Emma Kneeds of Latrobe.

The Rev. W. R. Wilson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Carnegie, and wife, were also present, the former officiating at the ceremony. Mr. Wilson in the after-dinner address expressed the good wishes of the guests. The couple received many presents.

A THIEF'S STORY OF HIS DOWNFALL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—Respected by every prisoner in the Four Courts jail, bearing himself always the gentleman, pale, fastidious of attire as always, overcome with remorse for the one criminal act of his life, A. W. Townley Lawrence, who was clerk at the fashionable West End hotel and who stole $1,500 from the safe after he had been discharged for becoming entangled with a young woman guest of the hostelry, awaiting the order of the court to remove him to the state penitentiary at Jefferson City, where he will serve two years.

Lawrence fled to California after taking the money, but was arrested and brought back. He pleaded guilty and by his demeanor made himself something of a martyr in the eyes of sympathetic women who have sent notes and bouquets to his cell.

Lawrence's love story, which he blames for his present predicament, may be read between the lines of a narrative which he wrote today at the request of several women who attached their signatures to a note which they sent with a huge bouquet of carnations. In part he says:

"In a hotel lived a maiden. A man walking through the corridor of that hotel met her. He paused before her, for she was the maid the memory of whom had lived through all his wanderings in life's shore.

"Many other maids had he seen, but they only seemed to say to him: 'Sweet are we, but the sweetness you seek is elsewhere. We are but the foreshadowings of the maid you shall one day meet.'

"And this was the maid of maidens.

"As he stood before her he felt an expansion in his breast as if his heart had suddenly become a rose and was blossoming. She spoke softly to him, blushing a rich color the while.

"'I am yours,' she said. He bent to kiss her, but she stepped backward and mocked him; yet as he stood erect she repeated: 'I am yours.'

"When he went away the fragrance of her kiss grew bitter on his lips. Once he said to her: 'I love you,' but came the reply: 'Not as I love you nor as I would be loved.'

"Again he found the maid. As she stood at his side she sent a thrill as of flame through his veins. He kissed her and she said: 'I love you.'

"As he left her he felt his heart chilling and closing up as if it were a dying rose. He started to laugh, but it broke into a sob, and, weeping for the maiden he had renounced for very love, he left the hotel.

"To the young men 'who love and ride away' let me point the moral of this short tale in the following words:

"Oh, man, does your deceit give her the right to deceive another? To wed? To vow at the altar a love dead, dead forever?

"Why do you mock her with the hollow phrase 'thou art pure and stainless?' Do the tears she has shed for you, does the thrill of her heart when she heard your voice, does the blighted kiss that burns, burns now into her brow, and on her lips, do these, these leave her free to carry to a new affection the cinders and ashes of a soul you have ravaged and deflowered?

"Oh, coarse and rude belief of men, that naught is lost if the mere form be pure.

"The freshness of the first feelings, the bloom of the sinless thought, the sigh, the blush of the devotion—never, never felt but once. These, these make the true dower a maiden should bring to the heart to which she comes as wife."

WOMAN'S DEATH PROVED BY REFUSAL OF KUMMEL

Her Favorite Jest Enacted With Sad Ceremony Over Her Coffin.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 26.—Sophia Van Der Hoven was buried today in Hoboken, and a strange funeral it was. The ceremonies were held in Jansens hall, First street and Willow avenue.

Sophia Van Der Hoven was a spinster, 60 years old, and worked formerly as a "stripper" in Mayor Lankering's cigar factory in Hoboken. She had been ill with consumption, and Mr. Jansen, the proprietor of the hall, which is the headquarters of the local labor organizations, suffered from rheumatism.

"She was a jolly old soul," Mr. Jansen said, in telling the story. "And we used to joke each other about our afflictions. One day about a year ago she said to me: 'If I die first I want you to offer me a glass of kummel. If I don't take it you may be sure I am dead, and then you must drink it yourself. If you die first I will do the same.'

The program was carried out to the letter. About 200 members of the union met in the hall. Several kegs of beer were tapped.

Jansen, approaching the coffin, said: "Prosit tante," and held out the glass. "Well, you know our agreement, tante?" he added. "If you don't drink it, I will," and he emptied the glass.

The funeral was attended by Mayor Lankering. The interment was made in Flower Hill cemetery.

Old Gives Place to New.

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 26.—(Special.)—Today for the last time the venerable Rev. J. W. Nott, D. D., for many years a rector of the St. George Episcopal parish, Mt. Savage, conducted services in the old church building, as tomorrow workmen will commence to tear down the old structure, and where it stands a white enamel brick church edifice will be built at a cost of about $10,000. For many years the venerable preacher, now in his 83d year, has led his flock in worship in the old building.

Plant-Bann Marriage Denied.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Positive denials that ex-Sheriff Thomas J. Dunn is to marry the widow of Henry B. Plant, the founder of the Plant system of railroads and steamships, were made today. Authoritative statements to this effect were made by representatives of Mr. Dunn and Mrs. Plant.

Child Falls Against Stove.

NEWARK, O., April 26.—Charles Keenan's infant child died tonight, having fallen against a hot stove this afternoon.

FIGURES SAY FOOTBALL IS NOT DANGEROUS GAME

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ANN ARBOR, MICH., April 26.—Edwin Dexter of Illinois university has made an investigation in some 60 American colleges regarding accidents, deaths, etc., in football, and has furnished Keene Fitzpatrick with the results of his investigation. In 10 years he finds 210,351 students have been enrolled and 22,786, or 10.8 per cent, of these have played football. Six hundred and fifty-four of these have been sufficiently injured to cause absence at classes and three have been killed as the result of the game. Thus far the last 10 years one man out of every 2,846 players has been injured. Prof. Dexter thus summarizes his data:

1. One student in 10 in America plays football.

2. The proportion of students who play in small colleges is about twice that of the university.

3. The proportion of men playing is slightly decreasing.

4. About one person in 35 players is injured badly enough to cause loss of time in classes.

5. The number of college men who are permanently injured is so small as to be practically a negligible quantity.

6. College football adequately supervised in nearly all institutions.

7. The opinions of college officers as regards the value of the game are 27.3 to 1 in favor of football.

8. The newspaper reports of injuries to football players are often exaggerated. Not so much, though, except on college teams.

9. Accident insurance statistics lead us to believe that many other sports are more dangerous than football.

Loubet Leaves Algeria.

BONA, ALGERIA, April 26.—President Loubet's visit to Algeria was concluded this evening with a banquet by the municipality of Bona, after which the president embarked on the French cruiser Jeanne d' Arc, amid the enthusiastic ovations of the populace and steamed away in the direction of Tunis. The cruiser will reach Tunis tomorrow.

MANY PRISONERS TAKEN IN RAIDS

Supt. McTighe Spends Busy Sunday Casting the Police Dragnet.

DAY'S RECEIPTS ARE BIG

Speakeasy Proprietors Put Up Forfeits for Their Appearance This Morning — Gambling Houses on the Hill Visited.

Superintendent of Police McTighe and his officers were busy raiding disorderly houses and speakeasies yesterday. During the day they arrested 143 men and women in these resorts. The places closed by the officers were in the First, Second and Third wards and in the hill district. Supt. McTighe said last night he was closing these establishments as fast as he could and with as little publicity as possible. Most of the proprietors of these places gave a forfeit for their appearance for a hearing before Police Magistrate Stewart this morning. During the day $2,500 was taken in in fines and forfeits at the Central police station.

The first place visited by the officers was that of Lizzie Rodgers, at No. 403 Third avenue. Seven visitors were placed under arrest. The other places were as follows: Annie Anderson, No. 408 Third avenue, 3 visitors; Marie Mc-Phillips, No. 337 First avenue, 2 visitors; Claudia Welsh, No. 440 Third avenue, 39 visitors; Joseph Murphy, No. 44 Penn avenue, 18 visitors; Lillian Duncan, No. 15 Shingiss street, 2 visitors; Bessie Harris, No. 17 Shingiss street, 3 visitors; Jennie Martin, rear of No. 17 Shingiss street, 3 visitors; Sadie Grimes, No. 423 Third avenue, 10 visitors.

Two raids were made in the hill district, one at about 4 p. m. and the other at 8 p. m., and 28 negroes arrested. Acting Capt. Matt Gorman and Acting Lieut. Charles Grimes, with a squad of officers, dropped down upon the Blackburn club at No. 68 Fulton street, where many gambling games were in progress, but out of a crowd of nearly 100 visitors but 14 were placed under arrest. The others managed to elude the officers by means of the roof and windows. M. S. Adams was locked up as the alleged proprietor of the place. Considerable gambling paraphernalia was confiscated and taken to Central station, among the lot being a faro table, poker table and chips and a nickel slot machine.

At 8 p. m. Lieut. James McAvoy raided the house of Maggie Cook at No. 118 Shores alley, finding the proprietress and 12 visitors, four women and eight men. The raids created great excitement and a crowd of several hundred people gathered about No. 2 station when the prisoners were taken in.

At the morning hearings in the police stations yesterday Rose Williams was fined $50 for keeping a disorderly house at No. 36 Washington street, and Lloyd Dixon $100 for keeping a resort at No. 1322 Poplar alley. Two women found in the former place paid $25 each and five in the latter the same amount. Seven men visitors were fined $5 each. Eleven men arrested for gambling paid the same sum. Laura Johnson of No. 2412 Mulberry alley was fined $50 and 13 visitors were fined $5 each.

QUIET IN ALLEGHENY

Police's Crusade Resulted in Little Liquor Being Sold in Allegheny.

The partial morality crusade which the Allegheny director of public safety, T. B. Scandrett, is conducting was said last night to be fairly successful. Scandrett issued orders that no liquor should be sold in gilded-entry houses, speakeasies or unchartered clubs. Men who suspected all such taboosed places last night say the order was being obeyed.

Speakeasies that have flourished on Sunday were dark last night, and the unchartered clubs sold no beer, although to pave the way for a claim to legitimacy some of them were open to members, who could buy nothing to drink, however.

Some beer was sold in disorderly houses, but to nobody for whom an inmate could not vouch. Men who asked for drink were refused unless on entering the house they inquired for some particular inmate.

VICTOR CLEMENTS DEAD

Once Languished in Transvaal Jail on Charge of Being a Jameson Raider.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, April 26.—A telegram from Saltillo, Mexico, announces the death today of Victor Clements of Salt Lake city, a mining expert of international fame. Mr. Clements underwent a surgical operation yesterday.

Mr. Clements conducted important mining operations in all parts of the world. As an associate of John Hays Hammond he took a conspicuous part in the development of many great mines in South Africa.

He was regarded by the Boers as one of the ringleaders in the Jameson raid, and for many months languished in a Transvaal jail under sentence of death. Timely intervention of the American and British governments saved him.

THEATER CLOSES SCHOOL

New House Opened at Zanesville to Have Matinee, and That Settles It.

ZANESVILLE, O., April 26.—The "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" company "marched" into Cleveland today at noon on a special train and will remain here for a three days' engagement.

The occasion of the "Johnny" visit is the opening of the handsome new Weller theater which was completed yesterday afternoon. The theater has a seating capacity of about 1,900.

On Wednesday a matinee performance will be given and the day will be generally observed in the nature of a holiday. The board of education has decided to dismiss the schools on that day.

Wabash Lets Big Contract.

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 26.—(Special.)—The Wabash Railroad Company has made a contract with the B. F. Cheyholt Coal & Coke Company at Cecil, W. Va., near Grafton, to put in four sidings on which to carry out the mine output of the main Wabash track. This leaves no doubt that the Wabash will use through this county, paralleling the Baltimore & Ohio from Grafton to Bellington.

New Orleans Editor Decorated.

NEW ORLEANS, April 26.—Armand Capdevielle, editor of L'Abeille de la Nouvelle Orleans, received yesterday from the French government a brevet of "officer du academie." The honor which has been bestowed upon Mr. Capdevielle follows 50 years of active journalism on the oldest French daily newspaper in the United States.

Thieves Ransack a House.

Thieves, some time between 7 and 10 a. m. yesterday, broke into the house of Mamie Burk, at No. 194 River avenue, Allegheny, and ransacked the place from cellar to garret. It is not known how much plunder they secured as Miss Burk is at Atlantic City.

YOUTH KILLED ON RAILROAD

Walter Fundenberg, Aged 17, Son of a Local Doctor, Hit by a Train.

SOME MYSTERY ABOUT IT

Man Helped to Remove Body from Under Street Car and Found It Was That of His Own Son.

Walter Purnell Fundenberg, 17 years old, of No. 5805 Fifth avenue, was killed by a train on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Shady avenue station, last evening shortly before 6 o'clock. He was a son of Dr. Walter H. Fundenberg, a professor of the Pittsburgh Dental college. Just how the accident occurred is not known. The body laid at the morgue until 10 o'clock last night before the deputy coroners were able to find the dead boy's relatives, who later identified him. The identification was by the boy's uncle, Dr. George B. Fundenberg, of No. 323 Amber street, East End.

The boy was a student at Trinity Hall academy, Washington, Pa., and was well known in athletic circles. It is supposed he was killed by train No. 31 going west. The train crew, however, disclaimed knowledge of running over anyone. The body was found by the crew on shifting engine No. 826. Engineer J. F. Gibert and Fireman J. L. Stroble saw the body lying on the track. They stopped their engine and placed the body in the tender and brought it to the Union station, where it was taken to the morgue.

HAD GONE OUT FOR A WALK.

Young Fundenberg left home yesterday about 2 o'clock. He said he was going for a walk. Where he went and what he did is not known. It is thought, however, that he got on train No. 31 at East Liberty station to come to Shadyside station. This train does not stop at Shadyside station, and his relatives think he tried to jump off and was thrown under the wheels. If he was thrown off the train he was not seen by any of the passengers or the train crew.

Young Fundenberg was not walking on the track when killed, for the trainmen are positive they passed no one at that place. The railroad officials are of the opinion Fundenberg must have fallen off the train. The boy's name and address were found by some letters found in his pocket. The boy's parents are distracted over his death.

The boy was crushed across the body, the wheels having passed diagonally over the trunk. The head and lower limbs were uninjured. The body was taken home late last night.

Young Fundenberg was home on his Easter vacation and was to return to school today. He had just returned from a visit to his grandfather, Dr. William F. Fundenberg, whose home is at Atlantic City.

SAD SIGHT FOR A FATHER.

Attracted by a crowd that gathered around a street car last night, after an accident, William Cromie of No. 2214 Penn avenue offered his aid in doing what he could to take a body from beneath the wheels, when he discovered, to his horror, that it was his own son who had been killed.

Samuel Cromie, aged 8 years, had run in front of Bloomfield car No. 18, while playing at Penn avenue and Twenty-third street last night, and was crushed to death under the wheels. When the car reached Twenty-third street Conductor W. F. McCully said he noticed the car stopping suddenly and gave the motorman a signal to go ahead. His signal was not heeded and he gave it again. The motorman came running through the car greatly excited, and told McCully he thought he had struck someone. They got off the car and saw the dead body of the boy under the wheels.

The father of the boy was heart broken when he saw the body and could not look at the child, so badly was he mangled. The body was removed to the morgue.

STRIKE EXPECTED TODAY

Question of Unionism Causes Trouble in Harbison-Walker Clay Working Plants.

CLEARFIELD, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—The indications tonight are that there will be a general suspension of work at the clay working establishments of the Harbison-Walker Company at this place and Woodland tomorrow morning. The company and the employes are at war over the organized labor question, and the workmen have been informed that their union will not be recognized.

A large number of the union men were discharged last week and their places filled with non-unionists. But the non-unionists were prevailed upon to join the union, and now all of the employes of the company are unionists.

The headquarters of the company are at Pittsburgh.

LETTERWRITER CAUGHT

Man Who Warned Authorities of Danger to Roosevelt Is Likely Insane.

ROCKFORD, ILL., April 26.—(Special.)—A. J. W. Loveland, who wrote a letter to the Springfield, Ill., authorities stating that great danger threatened President Roosevelt if he visited that city, was arrested by the Rockford police.

Loveland admits he wrote the letter and claims to have received a communication that the president would be attacked. He is believed to be insane and a commission will inquire into his mental condition tomorrow. Loveland is a cabinet maker in a local factory, and is about 45 years of age.

INVALIDS RESCUED FROM FIERY DEATH

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—Narrow escapes from death and deeds of bravery marked a fire in a seven-story apartment house near Riverside Drive this evening. Mrs. Annie Emmons, an invalid, was saved only after she had been seriously burned. Mrs. Annie Cunningham, also an invalid, was carried to the street in her invalid's chair through dense smoke.

GATES PURCHASES ODD FURNITURE

DENVER, April 26.—(Special.)—John W. Gates is buying six pieces of furniture for his den composed entirely of elk and deer horns. There are two large armchairs, settee, table, footstool and smoking set. The only parts of these articles which are not made of horn are the seats of the chairs and settee and the tops of the footstool and table. These are of oak, which have been oiled to show their beautiful grain.

Died at Age of 105.

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 26.—Betsy Clark, better known as "Aunt Betty," died of old age this evening in her 105th year. She was a native of Kentucky and lived there until she was 70 years old. Her mother died at the age of 113. She had belonged to the Baptist church for 68 years.

Well-Deserved Praise for The Sunday Gazette and Its Features

"Your cartoon in The Sunday Gazette portraying the 'rubbernecks' ogling women on the streets was not in the least exaggerated," wrote a woman reader of The Gazette yesterday, "and you would confer a great favor and earn the everlasting gratitude of thousands of Pittsburgh women if you could do something to stop the staring and even insults that unaccompanied members of the weaker sex are compelled to endure as they walk along the streets. A stoppage of this practice would be as highly appreciated as would reform in the trading service of the city."

The fair correspondent also made a few remarks about how she enjoyed other features of The Sunday Gazette, such encomiums are common with The Gazette, and are deserved. The Sunday Gazette yesterday lacked nothing that goes to make up a high-class paper. Everything in connection with the Thaw-Tarnowith wedding, T. R. Bigelow's return to the city and all the rest of the political news of the county, a Pittsburgher's side of the story of the alleged crookedness in securing oil leases in Indian territory, the arrest in this city of a man charged with the theft of $20,000 worth of diamonds and everything occurring in and around Pittsburgh were covered fully and written in a pleasing style.

Senator Beveridge's prediction of war as a result of the Manchurian question, the latest developments in the Balkan troubles, the slaughter of Arabians by British, the latest Washington news and everything of importance from all points of the globe appeared in the six large sections and 44 pages of The Sunday Gazette.

The colored parts and the humorous section were entertaining as usual to those who enjoy something in a light vein. Unbiased and fearless editorials, the best of market reports and opinions, authoritative theatrical news, everything going on in the social line, the latest and best in sports, musical news from an expert standpoint, and special articles on many different subjects and things made The Sunday Gazette far and away the best paper appearing in these parts yesterday. The enviable reputation, large circulation and unstinted advertising patronage, with their steady increase, are features that tell much more than words can.

YARMOUTH BIDS GOODBY TO LIFE OF BACHELORHOOD

others guarded the stables and the grounds surrounding the rear of the house. Another officer stood in the shadow of the porte-cochere and challenged every stranger who approached on foot. So much secrecy was observed in choosing the men and in stationing them around the house that two detectives mistook one another and each made mutual arrests. When they reached the stable they were able to identify themselves and resumed their posts.

"Lyndhurst" will be astir at dawn today. Scores of presents are in the express offices ready for delivery and will arrive at the house early in the morning. The finishing touches will be placed on the simple floral decorations and a retinue of servants will be on hand to serve the collation which will follow the reception in the evening.

TO GET THE MARRIAGE LICENSE.

The earl likewise will spend a busy morning. With his attorney, J. D. James, he will repair to the court house to procure his marriage license. At noon he will repair to the Schenley for luncheon and during the afternoon will prepare for the ceremony.

Much interest has been taken in the form of the ceremony, which will be unique, inasmuch as clergymen of different denominations will officiate. Both Dr. McEwan, a Presbyterian, and Dr. McIlvaine, an Episcopalian, will stand beside the chancel rail and read the service. Although he is unusual for a Presbyterian minister to participate in the long ritual of the Episcopal church, it will not be new work for Dr. McEwan, who is familiar with the service, having performed the Episcopalian ceremony on previous occasions.

The destination of the earl and his bride in their honeymoon jaunt will not be made public. It is likely, however, that they will return east on private car No. 7,504, on the Pennsylvania road.

MAY GO TO ENGLAND.

It is presumed that they will sail for England and will be entertained at the country seat of the marquis of Hertford within a few weeks. They are expected to leave "Lyndhurst" just after the reception which is to be tendered the bridal party following the ceremony. They will slip away quietly, but there are some of the younger members of the family who will render the couple the traditional tribute of flower showers and old shoes.

The police arrangements provide for all carriages attending the wedding to approach the church from the east. Officers will be stationed around the building to direct the route of the carriages. The conveyances of the Thaw family and those of the bridegroom will stand in Station street. In leaving the church carriages will drive toward the west along Penn avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse will remain in Pittsburgh to attend the wedding and will return to their Washington home during the week.

NEW COLLEGE DEDICATED

Exercises Held Sunday at Jewish Theological Seminary in New York.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The dedication exercises of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America were held today. The address of the occasion was made by the Rev. Dr. Kaufmann Kohler, president of the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati.

After prayer by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Schulman the presentation of the building was made by Jacob H. Schiff.

The acceptance of the institution on behalf of the corporation was made by Dr. Cyrus Adler in a few well chosen words. Prof. Solomon Schechter spoke on "The Mission of the Seminary." The Rev. Dr. Marcus Jastrow of Harvard offered the closing prayer.

CARNEGIE HAS NOT BOTHERED PROVIDENCE

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—Mr. Carnegie, in a statement credited to him when he made his gift of $900,000 to Tuskegee Institute and Booker T. Washington, said: "Providence has been very kind to me of late, because of a piece of realty I bought has risen $200,000 in value. And when I come to think of it, I can assign no reason for this generosity except that I have not bothered Providence with my petitions for about 40 years."

FAREWELL DINNER TO MAURICE GRAU

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—On the eve of his departure for a long rest in Europe, the directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company entertained Mr. Maurice Grau at a dinner at the Metropolitan club tonight. In a room magnificently decorated 40 men whose names are identified prominently in the material support of grand opera in this city, testified in laudatory words and handclasps their appreciation of the services done by the retiring impresario.

May Not Wait on Congress.

PANAMA, April 26.—(Special Cable.)—Regarding the increasing likelihood of President Marroquin ratifying the Panama canal treaty, articles of the present Columbian constitution decreed by congress and duly sanctioned on August 4, 1886, fully empower him to take direct action if he so desires. Chapter 11 of that constitution says of the prerogatives of the president regarding legislative powers that special privileges and authority are conferred upon him in time of war.

EMPRESS OF CHINA WILL CONTRIBUTE

Gives $400,000 to Give Her Country an Exhibit at St. Louis Fair.

GRATEFUL TO AMERICA

Being an Amateur Artist of Proficiency She Has Promised to Donate Some Scrolls of Her Own Handiwork for the Show.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PEKING, March 25—(Via San Francisco, April 26.—The commissioners of China to the St. Louis exposition, Prince Pao Lun, Tsoti Wong and Francis A. Carl, have met in Peking for their first conference. The two first named have had audiences with the empress dowager and secured a liberal appropriation, 600,000 taels, equivalent to about $400,000, for the Chinese exhibit. The dowager first referred the matter to the provincial viceroys. They pleaded poverty and she ordered the sum from the treasury of the imperial government.

Prince Pao Lun is a cousin of the emperor, about the emperor's age, and probably would have sat upon the throne himself, but for the dowager's intervention to control the succession and secure a weaker man. Before the boxer outbreak he occupied a fine palace in Peking, but its contents, including valuable art objects, were sold by American missionaries for the benefit of their converts after the relief.

Pao Lun also has been friendly with foreigners. Tsoti Wong is a graduate of Yale, a most accomplished linguist, and has been in the government service at Shanghai for several years. Mr. Carl, commissioner of customs at Chefoo, is a native of Tennessee and has been 22 years in Sir Robert Hart's organization.

The empress dowager, as a token of appreciation of the protection afforded by the American commissioners to their colleagues, of the vast money and art treasures of the Forbidden City, has promised a loan exhibit of some rare porcelains, bronzes and pictures from the palace. The dowager has a deserved reputation as an artist among Chinese connoisseurs. Recently she gave Mr. Conger two paintings from her brush for the collection of the Iowa Historical society. Her majesty is somewhat reluctant to place her work in competition with that of professional artists, so hesitates to donate pictures to the exhibit. She has, however, promised to donate several scrolls.

Viceroy Yuan Shi Kai, who is giving this province the most enlightened and forceful government enjoyed by any part of China, is surrounding himself with a large staff of American advisers and assistants. His principal adviser is Charles Denby, Jr., son of the former minister, Dr. D. C. Deby, a Dartmouth graduate, and some years president of the Canton-Hankow railway. Wahh Li Ming Chang established, has charge of the reorganization of schools in the province. Fifteen schools, including that at Tien-Tsin and an important institution at Pao Ting Fu, in which foreign languages, sciences and other branches are taught, are now in operation. E. P. Allen is attorney for the government railroads and other interests. Two young Americans have recently arrived to take charge of the new government mint at Tien-Tsin. One is a young engineer from Lehigh university, the other a practical mint expert from the government mint at Philadelphia.

PRESIDENT RAMSEY REACHES NEW YORK

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—Completing a pleasant run across the Atlantic, the St. Paul of the American line, reached port today. Among her passengers were Joseph Ramsey, Jr., president of the Wabash railroad, who four weeks ago hurried across the ocean to attend the bedside of his daughter, Miss Anna Ramsey, who was lying dangerously ill of typhoid fever in Cairo, Egypt. She died just previous to his arrival. Among the other arrivals by the St. Paul was J. R. Hutchinson, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

Follows Wife to the Grave.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—Grief stricken because of the death of his wife, with whom he had lived nearly half a century, and who was buried this afternoon, Fenwick A. Hogan dropped dead less than an hour after the burial. He was in the parlor of his home at Tottenville, Staten Island, surrounded by his children. It had been observed that he was very weak previous to the funeral service, but there was no indication of serious illness.

Another Victim of Red House Wreck.

SALAMANCA, N. Y., April 26.—That there was still another victim of the railroad accident at Red House last Monday was established with reasonable certainty today when relatives of L. K. Osborn of Mansfield, Tioga county, Pa., declared some keys found in the wreckage to be belonging to him.

Woman Fined for Hitting a Negro.

Mrs. Chairman Fitzgibbons of No. 2612 Fifth avenue struck Bert Henderson, a negro, Saturday night in Fifth avenue, Soho. She was arrested and did not make a satisfactory explanation to Magistrate E. C. Negley at the Oakland police station, and was fined $10.

PARRY ANSWERED BY MAYOR JONES

Says He Represents Vicious and Lawless Element Among Manufacturers.

ALL MEN ARE BROTHERS

Mayor of Toledo Says Employers Are Prone to Forget This Great Fundamental Truth—Unionism Has Much to Learn.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOLEDO, O., April 26.—This afternoon at Golden Rule hall Mayor Jones spoke upon the subject, "The Convention at New Orleans and Its Position Toward Organized Labor."

Among other things the mayor said that he thought it was likely that a large percentage of those present at the convention had had trouble of one kind or another with their labor. He went further than this and said: "President Parry and the radical following that dominated the convention, declaring war upon what was called the vicious and lawless element of organized labor, really themselves represented the vicious and lawless element among the manufacturers; that is, they were radical. They were most influential of any opinions contrary to the spirit of Parry's annual report, in which he characterized the law of the trade unions as the law of the Huns and vandals.

"It was the first assembly among the many that I have addressed," said the mayor, "in which I was ever hissed, indeed, it was the first one to which the gag law was ever applied to me. I tried to tell them that in dealing with the laboring men, it was highly important that we should remember the status of the employer and the employe that we heard so much about; that to that by the decree of the Almighty they are equals and that our fundamental law emphasizes that fact and the workingmen must, therefore, be dealt with as brothers, must be dealt with according to the golden rule. But they did not want to hear about the golden rule. Then came the cries 'point of order,' 'question,' and interruptions of one kind and another until I saw it was the point of wisdom to let them have their way.

"Trade unionism has much to learn. We all have much to learn of democracy and equal brotherhood, and this attack, unjust though it was in many particulars, will help to purge the trade union movement of its weakness and errors. It will take a step forward, rebuild upon American principles, eliminate the undemocratic and unamerican principles from its practices. The National Association of Manufacturers will either manifest a more tolerant, liberal, American spirit, or it will go to the wall and be heard of no more. Indeed, that is very likely to be its fate if it is to continue a one-man organization, which it has evidently very largely been during the last year."

THREE LIE DEAD IN COLLINS HOME

Double Funeral of Brothers Who Died of Pneumonia Within Two Days.

FATHER LET GO OF LIFE

Another Son in the Hospital With a Bare Chance for Recovery. Mother's Health Is Precarious. Strange Series of Fatalities.

While the bodies of his two sons were being borne to the grave, the father, John Collins, Sr., lies cold in death. For several hours yesterday the three dead occupied rooms in the Collins home, No. 4 Brighton place, Allegheny. Three deaths and two accidents have occurred in this family since last Wednesday. A third son is in the hospital, with a slight chance for recovery.

Daniel R. Collins, aged 30, one of the sons, contracted pneumonia last Monday. He died at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Michael J. Collins, aged 39, a letter carrier, another son, fell on the Pittsburgh postoffice steps a week ago yesterday. He was taken to the Homeopathic hospital, where it was found that his leg was broken. While in the institution he also contracted pneumonia. Upon hearing of the death of his brother, Daniel R., he collapsed, and died Friday evening at 5 o'clock.

Daniel R.'s funeral was to have taken place Saturday morning, but when Michael died the family decided to hold the double funeral yesterday afternoon.

On Wednesday, when the news of the death of Daniel R. was conveyed to his mother, she fell in a swoon. In falling she struck a table and sprained her arm and was otherwise injured. For some time her life was despaired of, but she recovered sufficiently to attend the funeral of her two sons yesterday afternoon.

John A. Collins, a third son, was struck by a train at Millvale April 19. He was starting to work as a brakeman, and was standing on a track waiting for a train to pass, when another ran him down. He was taken to the West Penn hospital where it was found that his skull was slightly fractured and his left arm smashed. The injured limb had to be amputated. His condition is so serious that the news of the death of his father and two brothers has not been made known to him.

While the family was preparing for the funeral of the two brothers, the father died. He was 73 years old, and for a number of years worked in the Ft. Wayne shops, Allegheny, as a machinist. Three years ago he was pensioned. He was afflicted with asthma, and a few days ago took pneumonia. The death of the second son was too much for him, and he released his hold on life.

The funeral of the two brothers was attended by hundreds of persons. The brothers lie side by side in the home in Brighton place, and the remains of the father lay upstairs. As soon as the brothers' bodies were removed from the house, the father was brought down and placed in the room vacated by his dead sons.

Michael J. was a member of branch No. 84, National Association of Letter Carriers, and the members of that body turned out at the funeral. Headed by Nirella's band the letter carriers marched to the home of the dead. The remains occupied two white hearses and were taken to the St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, at Sherman avenue and Ohio street, where the services were held. The remains were interred in Calvary cemetery. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral of the father.

STREETS THRONGED WITH HAPPY CROWD

Balmy Weather Brings Out Population and Also Many Visitors to the City.

Pleasant weather brought out the crowds on the streets yesterday. There is an old saying that rain on Easter day means rain the seven Sundays following, but yesterday was an exception to the fulfilment of this superstition. Fifth avenue was the favorite resort yesterday afternoon and last evening of promenaders who wished to enjoy a foretaste of summer or to display spring bonnets and dresses which the unfavorable weather had kept in hiding for several weeks.

Last night Fifth avenue was crowded with a happy throng that wound its way aimlessly up and down the thoroughfare. The street cars did a big business all day and evening. Many people went to the parks and others took long walks and trolley rides. The improvement of the weather also increased the number of Sunday visitors to the city.

More strangers were seen yesterday on the streets than on any Sunday since last fall. Even a band of a dozen gorgeously attired and thickly painted Indians, belonging to a wild west show at McKees Rocks, came to town and were followed about the streets by a crowd of several hundred men and boys. The party went to the public safety building, where they begged to take a look at the interior of the prison, but failed to obtain the necessary permit, owing to the absence of Supt. McTighe.

SMALL BOYS STILL SMOKE.

Wilkinsburg Officials Will Find Out Where They Get Cigarettes.

Despite the recent passage of the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to any person under 21 years of age, there are yet some places in Wilkinsburg where the deadly little smokers can be secured by those prohibited by law. Many small boys are smoking them in the streets.

Burgess Keys and Chief of Police Snyder are interesting themselves in the matter and quietly gathering evidence upon which to base arrests. They are determined that violators shall be prosecuted if minors are furnished cigarettes, whether directly or indirectly.

TO HOLD A GREAT PARADE.

Workingmen Planning Demonstration for Labor Day.

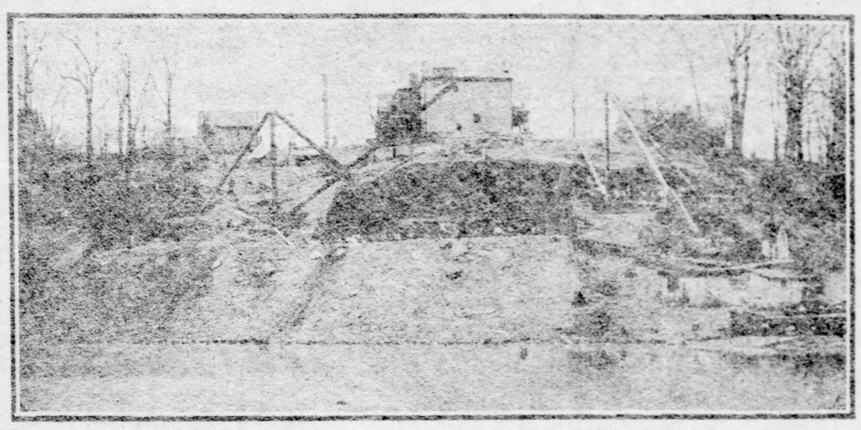
The greatest Labor Day in the history of Pittsburgh is being planned for September 1 by the United Labor league. A committee has been appointed to call a convention to elect delegates from all trades and to boom the project for a big demonstration on Labor Day.

George W. Miller, chairman of the parade last year, will have the same position this year, and he already is making out plans for the event.

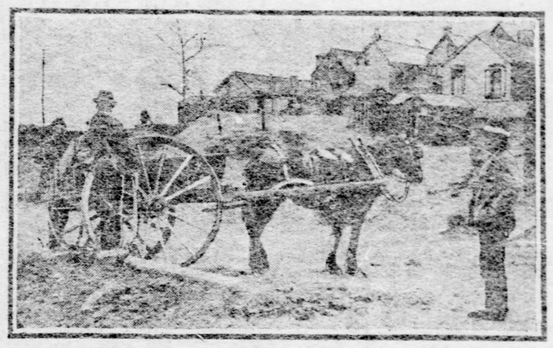
Cadets Will Applaud Lulu Glaser.

Next Thursday evening at the Alvin theater, the graduating class and faculty of Trinity Hall military academy will attend the performance of the Lulu Glaser opera company in "Dolly Varden." Several boxes have been reserved for their accommodation, and also a large number of seats in the parquet to be occupied by the young men and their friends. The boxes will be draped in the colors of the academy, which are light and dark blue, and the management will issue souvenir programs for the occasion. Master William Glaser, brother of the star, is a member of the graduating class of this famous school.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD'S NEW SHORT CUT.



View of the Work at Silver Lake.



Filling Along the Bank of the Boulevard.

The construction by the Pennsylvania railroad of what is known as the "Brilliant cut-off," the new lines of track from the main lines of the road, near the Fifth avenue passenger station, down Negley's run to a point near the Brilliant water works and thence across the Allegheny river, over a new bridge, to a connection with the West Penn tracks, is being pushed rapidly. Several hundred men and teams are at work and daily changes are to be noted in the topography of the narrow valley through which stretches the mile speedway of the Beechwood boulevard. The work is one of the most important the Pennsylvania now has under contract, and no time is to be lost in bringing about it scompletion. When the cut-off is in operation it will go a long way toward forestalling another period of freight congestion.

MURRY VERNER LAYS TRAP AND CATCHES THIEVING WAITER IN DUQUESNE CLUB

For a long time many members of the Duquesne club, on whose membership list are most of the wealthy men of this vicinity, have missed small change from their clothes—from nickels up to $100 bills, that were in their pockets to be used for paying carfare and buying tobies, newspapers, etc. All efforts to catch the culprit were unavailing, although a strict watch was kept and numerous traps were laid. At last Murry A. Verner, who has shown his ability in building and managing street car lines and in conducting political campaigns, hit on a scheme and decided to play detective. The millionaire took a half dollar, marked it and placed it in his overcoat pocket before taking it off previous to taking luncheon. He had guessed right, for after he called for his coat and put it on again, he felt for the 50-cent piece and found it was missing. George Copeland, a waiter, who had handled the coat, was suspected, and on being searched the marked money was found on him. Copeland was arrested and at the hearing at Central station yesterday he was fined $50 or 90 days to the workhouse.

GOOD BIDS MADE FOR CONVENT SITE

Congregation of St. John the Baptist Agreeably Surprised by Offers.

MAY GO STILL HIGHER

Last Proposition Was $15,500, but Another Would-Be Purchaser Will Give $1,500 More. Church Property to Be Sold.

The congregation of the Catholic church of St. John the Baptist, at Thirty-second and Liberty streets, were agreeably surprised yesterday at the good price offered for the convent property, Nos. 2943 and 2945 Penn avenue. It had been generally advertised that the trustees wanted to sell the property and bids have been coming in. The best bid in writing was $13,700, on which a commission was to be paid an agent. Yesterday morning the congregation met and several offers were made for the property.

First somebody made a motion that the highest bid so far received be accepted, but when the chairman of the board was about to put the motion somebody bid $14,000 net. Then another bid was made, and in a short time the offers were jumping up until the last bid, made by James B. Lawler, was $15,500 net, nearly $2,500 more than the best bid offered in writing. Lawler's offer was accepted, subject to the approval of the court. The bid will be submitted to the court by Bishop Richard Phelan, but it is expected that the property will bring much more, for one of the bidders served notice that he would offer the court $1,500 more than the Lawler bid.

The greater the bid the more the congregation will be pleased, for it wants to get as much money as possible to pay for the handsome church now almost completed, four blocks away from the present building. The old church property and several lots in Penn avenue at the forks of the road will be offered for sale next, and a meeting of the congregation will be held next month. Father E. M. McKeever, the pastor, is ready to receive bids at any time, however.

Conners Was Discharged.

Charles Conners was discharged at his hearing yesterday before Magistrate Negley as he had only been a little demonstrative. It was shown that he had nothing to do with the person who struck Policeman Joseph Loeffler over the head with a beer bottle, making a severe cut, when the officer was attempting to make the arrest.

WORKING PROBE IN PITTSBURGH

Postmaster Holliday Preparing Information for Department in Washington.

BONUSES ON SUPPLIES

How Suspects Are Believed to Have Accumulated Fortunes. Officials Want to Know About the Distribution of Goods.

Postmaster George L. Holliday has been called upon by Postmaster General Payne at Washington to assist in the investigation of the scandal attached to the postoffice department, which is proving one of the biggest sensations in national government circles since the star route frauds.

Postmaster Holliday has been asked, in conjunction with the heads of other first-class offices of the country, to furnish the department with a report of certain classes of supplies received by the local office during the six years commencing January 1, 1897, which was a few months ahead of President McKinley's first term.

Postmaster Holliday stated yesterday that this report would be completed in about a week and forwarded to Washington. It covers the number of typewriters, canceling machines and other such appliance used in postoffice work. The postmaster is asked to make up itemized lists of supplies received from Washington upon requisition and without requisition. Mr. Holliday was not able yesterday to estimate what proportion of the supplies had been received without requisition.

It is customary for all supplies to be obtained upon the requisition of the postmaster, as he is considered best able to judge the needs of his office. It is claimed that officials in Washington have been making princely fortunes in bonuses from contractors for procuring for the postoffice department supplies in unlimited quantities and distributing them among the various postoffices of the country.

To get rid of surplus stock thus acquired the guilty officials at Washington are said to have notified postmasters that they could get almost anything they wanted—and in as large quantities as they desired—by simply sending in a requisition. It is alleged that in many cases even this precaution was not taken, and that goods were forwarded without any requisition at all.

Postmaster Holliday said yesterday that he would be able to render a satisfactory account of all supplies that he had ordered and show what had been done with them. In many cases postoffices are said to have received supplies for which they had no earthly use and that the goods forwarded from Washington often lay in offices throughout the country for several years before any use could be made of them. Many small offices are said to have received canceling machines, although they did not have the means of operating them.

WILKINSBURG WILL BE THE TOWN BEAUTIFUL

Improvements of an elaborate nature on the exterior of the premises of hundreds of Wilkinsburg homes have begun and the activity along this line is expected to extend well into the middle of the next month. The improvements outlined will add greatly to the general attractiveness of the borough, for which Wilkinsburg is already noted, and evinces the laudable pride that Wilkinsburg residents take in their homes and in the town.

The Special Sale Set for Today

Is full of snappy evidence that this store offers many advantages to people who study economy, and an altogether safe place for that other class of people who buy rather carelessly and very seldom look into the matter of over-charging.

It would amaze many people, if the matter was taken up in a statistical way, to know the many different grades of goods sold for outrageously high prices all around us—goods that we carry in stock in great quantities and sell for reasonable figures we find in different stores in small quantities marked unreasonably high.

Now that we are rebuilding, our usually low prices in many instances, are brought down still lower. All the retail departments of the store are ready today with seasonable goods for underprices. Brief hints:

Quite a Number of Pieces of Fine Furniture, Together With Superb Bronzes and Rare Bric-a-Brac to Be Sold for Greatly Reduced Prices.

Remaining over from previous sales in the Fifth Floor Furniture Department are some pieces of unique and exclusive Furniture, and in this same department—the one in which we contract for the entire inside completion of a home—are also some rich Bronzes and Bric-a-Brac. The large stock which we carried has dwindled, by reason of compulsory reductions on account of rebuiding, to these few pieces.

People who are interested in furniture and ornamental subjects of the most select type are invited to examine the pieces mentioned below. It is not likely such an opportunity will again be offered soon.

President Roosevelt, emerging from three weeks of refreshing communion with nature, will soon have digested the expressions of public opinion pertaining to his recent public utterances. As he swings on around the circle he will hear and feel how the people have taken his suggestions of policies. Pretty soon he will be talking again and giving the public something more to think about, to talk about and to tell him how it feels about it. By the time the chief magistrate is back in Washington he will be in pretty close touch, if not in sympathy, with popular sentiment upon public questions and ready to take up again the great work he must perform for his country.

In another column is a communication from a correspondent concerning the first application of the screw propeller in navigation. It was on the Ohio river. The reappearance of the screw in connection with steam power was remote from the Ohio, and it is only now there is a prospect of its return to its original habitat. Steamboat men have been very slow about departing from original types. Even at this time some of them protest there can be nothing better than they have in use. A few, indeed, take umbrage at a mere suggestion that there can be anything better. But the world moves. Necessity was ever the mother of invention, and when necessity calls new and better types of steamboat will appear.

Completion of the big power house at Connellsville adds materially to the Pittsburgh trolley system and should be of mutual advantage to the city and the coke region. The plant is unique in one respect, namely, that one-half of the steam equipment is composed of large turbine engines, the first installed in the Pittsburgh region. This is the type advocated by Rear Admiral Melville for the new fighting ships of the navy. If it is good enough for capable engineers planning plants for private profit, it is likely good enough for Uncle Sam's fighting boats. The advantages of the turbine are listed by the experts as greater speed, less vibration, less strain and economy in steam—four items worthy of consideration.

While the crowded condition of the street cars favors pickpockets in plying their trade there is always a possibility that they may jostle the wrong man. An incident of yesterday is illustrative of what we mean. Of course it has not been proven that the man brought to the police station is a thief, and he is entitled to the doubt until there is proof, but there is evidence enough that the right man can be caught upon occasion. It is never wise to carry large sums of money on the person, but those who are compelled to do so ought to be alert when in a jam on the street or packed in the sardine boxes, called by courtesy street cars. Where conditions favor thieving each individual has an added share of responsibility for the safety of his purse.

President Roosevelt since coming out of the woods has learned that one citizen, at least, is not desirous of appointment to public office. This odd piece of humanity is W. W. Heffelfinger, widely known as a Yale athlete. He has declined an appointment to the civil service commission, a position in which President Roosevelt began his career of national office holding. It may be taken that Mr. Heffelfinger does not want to become president, or it may be concluded that, having no great wealth at his command, he is of the opinion he had better make some money before entering public life. It is certain he does not dodge because he fears the life would be too strenuous for him. A man who has played at halfback on the gridiron is not readily intimidated by a threat of strenuosity.

While the smoke nuisance continues in Pittsburgh, inventors are busy on the other side of the Atlantic endeavoring to mitigate it. London Lancet recently contained a description of an apparatus for washing smoke from a chimney, the invention of Prof. Giovanni Mugna of Italy, which is in successful operation on the stack of a London restaurant. The machine removes all the soot and prevents the gases deleterious to health from reaching the air. About the same time La Nature, Paris, gave an account of the demonstration of M. Tobiansky, before the Belgian society of engineers, of an apparatus for the filtering of smoke and the utilization of its constituents in making light. This operation is said to be profitable, so it should be worthy the attention of engineers as an economy of the first magnitude in smoke-plagued cities.

Hugh J. Cannon's appeal to Emperor William in behalf of the Mormon missionaries under order of expulsion from Germany is not likely to be of much effect. The plea that polygamy is not taught is, no doubt, technically true. To declaim that article of Mormon faith in a "gentile" community would not aid much in the work of proselyting for converts. Yet, polygamy has been a part of the Mormon creed, and it appears that is the foundation of the German objection to the Mormon missionaries. The probability is that polygamy appears in the literature distributed to those already "converted" and the trouble has arisen from that. Senator Smoot's appeal for intervention by the United States government may have some result. The missionaries are, apparently, American citizens, and the burden is upon the German authorities to prove against them conduct that would justify exclusion from the privileges to which American citizens are entitled in Germany. There need be no fear, however, that any serious international complications will arise over the matter.

Technical School Site.

It is probable the action of the finance committee will settle the technical school site controversy. The vote of ten to one against condemnation proceedings in committee is an indication of an overwhelming majority in councils in favor of closing the Stevenson option under which the city may obtain the chosen site for $350,000. There is wisdom in this decision. Many competent judges have declared the price to be reasonable, but even assuming that it might be beaten down a few thousands of dollars, the cost of proceedings and the delay would leave the balance on the wrong side of the ledger. By Mr. Carnegie's offer the city will come into possession of an institution which, with its endowment, is rated at $5,000,000. Public opinion is agreed that it will be worth to the community more than the total cost, since it will have great influence upon the future of the city and its material interests. The business view, then, is that immediate possession is valuable.

There have been many inexcusable delays in providing a site for this institution. Political disturbance has been a factor, and, in addition, there have been mysterious secret influences at work to prevent prompt realization of the high aims of the donor. Just what these influences have been or why they have been exerted the public may never know. It is certain they were not public-spirited, but in view of the prospect for rapid progress now, they may be forgiven and forgotten.

The duty of the hour is to press forward. The way is open. The period of delay has been utilized to the utmost by the board of trustees and committees in perfecting the plans and deciding upon the scope of the school. When the time for actual work is at hand it may be urged at the highest possible speed, so that within the first decade of this century Pittsburgh may be enjoying the fruits of Mr. Carnegie's greatest benefaction.

Headship in America.

It must be regarded as a tribute to the genius of American progress that William K. Vanderbilt is described in certain of the press dispatches from London as the "head of the Vanderbilt family." Of course, it is to be presumed that the writer of the particular phrase is some American domiciled in London, for the very good business reason that the American newspapers prefer to have their foreign news interpreted to them by one in sympathetic touch with things American. Nevertheless the recognition of W. K. Vanderbilt's headship under a London date line is not unimportant. It important in no other way it is so in calling attention to the different standards of values that distinguish American and English life, which difference of standards, it may be said, accounts in no small degree for the change in relative positions of the United States and England in manufactures and commerce. In the United States headship is wholly a matter of achievement. In England it is, in the highest circles and the other circles that imitate them, a matter of primogeniture. There son succeeds father as the head of the family, and following this rule the eldest born of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt would have become the head of the family at his father's death, and would have been universally recognized as such. But when Cornelius Vanderbilt died it was his brother, William K. Vanderbilt, who stepped into his place as the working and therefore as the actual head of the Vanderbilt family. When, therefore, he is described in the London cable as the head of the Vanderbilt family he is described accurately. It was in his case a mere matter of natural selection. He has been through his lifetime more than a mere man of wealth. He was and is a working millionaire, with a special fitness, developed by application, that entitled him to the authority he has wielded alone since his brother's death. His capacity and intelligence marked him for the place he holds, just as similar qualities mark other Americans eminent in business for the positions they fill. In the case of William K. Vanderbilt it is less that he is the son of his father and the grandson of his grandfather than that he is himself that entitles him to his position of influence. The same law of natural selection that has operated in his case runs through all American affairs and molds and forms American life. The fittest to survive do survive, and in this way there is formed in each generation a new aristocracy of achievement instead of an aristocracy of birth; in this way there is a constant planting of the seeds of life, and there is constant harvest of their fruits, instead of a decay that unfailingly saps the national vitality.

William K. Vanderbilt differs from most other men of achievement in the United States in having been born rich. A few others born rich are also in the front rank of American life. But their inherited wealth was not necessary to their success. They are esteemed to have succeeded, not because of it, but in spite of it, for the man who is born to wealth and position is rightly held to lack the incentive to rise above his fellows by individual exertion. That they have not succumbed to dry rot, but have risen superior to the conditions that produce it is as much to their credit as is the achievement of each of that host of Americans who have risen superior to the fettering conditions of poverty. To be something in the United States a man must achieve something. There is no lasting distinction in being a son or a grandson. No man here is at the head of anything merely by being born to it. After being born he must prove his right against keen competition. He must work if he would really live. It is this which keeps the republic strong; it is this which gives vigor to its growth, and is forcing it to a foremost position in the affairs of the world that it had not sought. The whole sum of individual strength and achievement is the nation. The nation has "just grown," and its growth has been a robust, healthy growth. The seeds of decay have not yet been planted, and they will not be while all honors and rewards are for him who dares and strives, whether in business or in politics, or in statecraft, or in the fields of pure thought, and even in what we call society.

Peace and War.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie's gift of $1,500,000 to provide a permanent home for the international court of arbitration will attract some attention even in the midst of war alarms in the east and in the far east. In his letter to the diplomatic representative of Holland at Washington, Mr. Carnegie says his purpose is to encourage the peaceful settlement of national disputes, and he hopes the time will soon come when war, "the greatest of our stains," will be no more.

It is to the credit of Mr. Carnegie that he is not discouraged by the belligerent attitude of the nations and that he is willing to expend his millions for a peace court while the republics, kingdoms and empires are spending their billions for armaments. It is to the credit of the government of Holland, resting under the shadow of probable seizure for imperial glory, that it undertakes to provide the site and faithfully administer the fund for maintaining the temple of peace. The peace sentiment is growing in the world, despite the ambitions of kings, kaisers and czars to seize territory, open new avenues for commerce and increase the revenues of crowns.

The present situation in the Balkans and the controversy over Manchuria render it quite probable that the corner stone of the arbitration may be laid in cement mixed with blood, and that the dedication ceremonies may be overshadowed by scenes of carnage on the Bosphorus or the China sea, but at the end of the melee the nations, bruised and sore, may be the better able to appreciate the idea of conciliation and arbitration. Civilization has ever advanced with a gun in one hand, since the Chinese invented gunpowder. Prior to that it made progress with a bludgeon, a sword or a catapult. But it has always gone forward and will continue to go forward. It has discarded time-honored weapons for better and will continue to do so. Thus will it come finally to argument and arbitration—to the consensus of enlightened public opinion as the most powerful of all weapons. Mr. Carnegie and The Hague may play their part.

Municipal Offices.

In an editorial article relating to what its headline terms "ripper lawlessness," the Press says:

> When the gifted lawyers were consulted by the "rippers" of the legislature for advice as to the best manner of ousting from office men who had been but recently elected by the people, it was quickly ascertained that the constitution did not look with a friendly eye upon any such legislative usurpation. The people were given the right to elect their own mayors.
>
> There is some confusion in the mind of the writer of the foregoing concerning the spirit of our institutions and our constitutional provisions. He will need to read the constitution very carefully to find therein any reference to mayors or to the manner of their election or selection. He will find that cities may be chartered; that certain things are prohibited to them; that certain things are required of them; that they must have a certain minimum population, but that most things with regard to them are left to legislation, which must be general and not special. The constitution does not give a name or a title to the chief officer of a city, nor does it provide that authority shall be centralized in such an officer, or that, if so centralized, he shall be elected by the people. If the constitution had provided that the chief officer of a city shall be a mayor and that he shall be elected by the people, the legislature would have no more power to legislate him out of office than it has to legislate the governor of Pennsylvania out of office by providing for the election or appointment of a recorder of Pennsylvania. The office of mayor is not one of the offices directly established by the constitution, as is the office of governor, or of secretary of the commonwealth, or of attorney general, etc., or the office of sheriff, or of coroner, or of prothonatory, etc. The office of mayor is established by legislative enactment under authority of Section I of Article XII, of the constitution relating to the "officers not otherwise provided for" in the constitution, and it is set forth explicitly that they "shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law."
>
> What is and what ought to be, are two different things. We think that we ought to elect our mayor, but the constitution provides that he "shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law." Until the enactment of the present charter for second class cities the people of Pittsburgh elected their city treasurer. That right has been taken from them, and the right of appointment is given to the head of the city government, now again elected by the people under authority of an act of assembly, and not protected in his place by anything stronger than an act of assembly. The constitutional foundation for the offices of city treasurer and mayor are the same. They are offices permitted but not ordained by the constitution, and the manner of their selection is left to the wisdom or folly of the legislative power. This is what is. As to what ought to be, it is generally agreed that the mayors of cities should have the same constitutional warrant as the sheriffs and other chief officers of counties and the same constitutional protection, and that the constitution ought to provide for and require their election by the people. Doubtless at some future time the people will be given an opportunity to vote on an amendment of the constitution so providing, or the matter will be properly attended to in a general revision by a constitutional convention.

FIRST SCREW PROPELLER.

The following account of the first application of the screw propeller is from Chaffin's history of Easton, Mass., published in 1886. It has been sent to The Gazette by a correspondent at Marietta, O., who noted the special article on the "New Style Steamboat" of two weeks ago. Our correspondent says: "The boat of the Ohio company, Adventure Galley, afterward called the Mayflower, had been sent from Marietta to Buffalo, now Wellsburg, on the Ohio, in August, 1788, for the purpose of conveying several families, the first families to settle in Marietta, down the Ohio river. It was for this trip that Gen. Tupper wished to apply his idea. You will note that Dr. Cutler records that 'it succeeded to admiration.' The boat arrived at Marietta August 19, 1788, having started on the morning of the 17th. . . . What became of the propeller idea after this trip we have no means for discovering. The same boat made many trips up the river after this, whether with or without a screw, we know not. The fact remains, however, that a screw propeller was used in navigating the Ohio in 1788. That 115 years should elapse before the principle should again be applied to river boats seems to indicate very slow evolution."

The historical chapter is headed "Brig.-Gen. Tupper of the Revolutionary Army and of the Ohio Company." It reads thus:

> Benjamin Tupper was lieutenant colonel in Col. Bailey's regiment from January 1, 1777, to July 1, at which time he became colonel of the Eleventh regiment of Continental troops, which command he held to the end of the war. From September 1, 1778, and for more than a year afterward, he was inspector in Gen. Patterson's brigade 3.
>
> 1 State archives, continental officers, vol. for 1777 to 1779, page 138.
>
> During the memorable winter of 1777-1778 his regiment was with Washington at Valley Forge; and on January 28, 1778, he addressed a pathetic appeal to the president of the council of Massachusetts, imploring help for the distressed soldiers. He served with honor throughout the war, and toward its close was appointed brigadier general by brevet. He took charge of the military organizations at Springfield at the time of Shay's rebellion and repelled the attack made by the insurgents on the armory. He and Gen. Putnam were chiefly instrumental in organizing the Ohio company, a company formed to buy and encourage the settlement of the fertile lands of the Ohio valley. Gen. Tupper was one of the most active in surveying and laying out the lands and inviting their occupation by settlers. We cannot follow in detail all his interesting western experience in the Ohio territory. He was appointed judge of the court of common pleas in 1788; was a Free Mason of high rank and a member of the society of the Cincinnati.
>
> A most noteworthy thing in the life of Gen. Tupper is the fact, based on what seems sufficient evidence, that he was the real inventor of the screw-propeller. The authority for this is the diary of Rev. Dr. Manassah Cutler, a clergyman of note, and afterward a member of congress. He was with Gen. Tupper in 1788, while on his journey to Ohio. The following extract from his diary is quoted by Solomon Talbot in his account of Gen. Tupper:
>
> "Buffalo, now Wellsburg.
>
> "Friday, August 15, 1788—This morning we went pretty early to the boat. Gen. Tupper had mentioned to me a mode of constructing a machine to work in the head or stern of a boat instead of oars. It appeared to me highly probable that it might succeed. I therefore proposed that we should make the experiment. Assisted by a number of people we went to work and constructed a machine in the form of a screw with short blades, and placed it in the stern of the boat, and which we turned with a crank. It succeeded to admiration, and I think it a very successful discovery."
>
> It would thus appear that Gen. Tupper, 98 years ago, anticipated the discovery of the screw-propeller, which was nearly half a century in coming into favor, but which every ocean steamship now employs.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

"O, the misery of living!"

Shut right up, or change your tune to "O, the pleasure of living."

Misery is made and, usually, self-made, like some people.

Misery is not a heavenly thing, therefore, not made in heaven. It comes from elsewhere—you know.

Were misery sent by God it would fall alike upon all, the just and the unjust, as do the rains.

We make our misery, for most part, and what a mix we do make, even worse than home-made ice cream without ice.

There is one thing about misery, however, that you don't find in everything else, and that is its willingness to be foisted upon short notice. If you want it you don't even have to call for it twice, and it gets down to business without the least delay, and never tires, but like a hungry worm, keeps on coring and squirming.

Like the cuckoo and the foul birds that drive other birds out of the nests they have built, abusing them and eating their eggs, misery drives happiness from the heart and occupies its wholesome nest in which to rear its foul brood.

* * * * *

Pleasure comes, but misery has to be fetched, and much of it is fetched from afar.

You may have known those who went a long, long way to get a lot of misery which they might have gotten along very well without.

Of course they didn't go purposely to get the real thing, labeled and bundled ready for use, but to get something labeled happiness, pleasure, riches, fame or title. But it works all right and they have misery morning, noon and night.

Were you to do a little quiet investigating you would probably discover that in almost every instance they had chased sweet-voiced, meekly-winged birds of joy out of their hearts to make room for foul, croaking birds of fine feather.

It is the rule, as you may know, that birds of fine plumage are not sweet singers. Nature seems to have given them bright clothing with which to hide their disagreeable and unattractive features.

Or did they themselves choose fine feathers in preference to fine qualities of disposition and voice?

There are some people who would rather be seen than to be known.

You may have known some yourself who were all right as long as they kept their mouths shut—pleasing to the eye, but offensive to the ear.

* * * * *

Keep the heart clean and you will not be miserable. You will have troubles, more or less, just as every one has, but they will not make you miserable, for if you look at trouble right there are bright spots scattered through it, which may be a silver lining. Keep your eyes both on the bright spots, even if they are no more than mere specks.

And if it seems to be entirely dark, with neither spot nor speck of brightness, be patient and hold your tongue and think some—not of the darkness, but of the brightness behind the cloud, for there is brightness behind every cloud that drifts across the sky. If you can't be bold and courageous be as brave as you can, and set about making the best of things as they are, and before long a cheerful ray of hope will break through the cloud, or play around its edge, or, maybe, soften its tone throughout.

But if it is misery you want you can get it, and get it quick and sharp. All you have to do is to throw up your hands when a cloud of trouble shows on your horizon, begin lamenting your ill luck and wind up by finding fault with Providence for not having looked after your comfort more carefully than you were looking after it yourself.

* * * * *

Some folks manage to keep themselves surrounded with an atmosphere of misery, but all the time bewailing their miserable condition. If you have ever noticed it, such as these keep their homes dark, and allow them to become dingy and dusty. They will chase a streak of sunlight out of the parlor as though it were a snake, and if a bit of fresh air manages to ooze into a bedroom it is promptly shut off and the crack stopped as tightly as though a breath of pestilence were seeking an entrance.

And this sort not only wear gloomy looks, but gloomy clothes, and their manner suggests gloomy feelings. Their talk is gloomy, which indicates gloomy thoughts. To them this world is a gloomy waste, and heaven a shady place beside a pit of gloom. As they have shut the sunlight out of their homes, so have they shut the light of love out of their hearts, and the light of hope out of their souls.

So when a cloud of trouble drifts your way throw open the windows of your home, bid the sunlight, the breeze and the hum of busy, joyous life to enter in. Be brave, but not bold nor defiant; and above all be honest enough to examine yourself critically as to the cause of your trouble. Then you may frankly mention it to a friend in whom you have confidence, but don't go around mouthing it everywhere, and to everyone you meet. Nor don't make a silly fool of yourself by getting drunk under the thin pretext of drowning trouble, for you very well know that trouble thrives on strong drink.

It requires some nerve to push trouble aside, for sometimes your neighbors will say you are heartless, or unsympathetic, or disrespectful.

This often happens in the case of those who have been bereft of a life partner. Unless a widow decks herself out in gloom from head to foot, wears a gloomy countenance, and in every way appears gloomy, there are those who will nod, or wink, or in some way give a hint that she didn't think much of her man, or that she is on the lookout for another. And she knows what these nods and winks mean just as well as those to whom they are directed, if not better.

* * * * *

Dear Quiet Observer—On the subject of matrimony relating to widowed ones, a communication from "Fair Play" appeared some time ago, which I thought sensibly written, and it asked for debate. And I notice since "A Mite" contributes an article and asks: "In the great day whose wife is she?"

The scripture answers: "Not married or given in marriage there;" and again, "Shall we know each other there?" Well, people can go insane over unanswerable theological questions. It is enough to act honest and fair, keep a level head here below and endeavor to be happy.

The attention to a certain kind of missionary work may be all right to those who just reconcile themselves to a life of widowhood (male or female), but companionship and mating is intended by God and nature, as in the song: "There is a heart that's made for thee, go forth and find it." But circumstances and connections in many ways should be considered carefully for persons of middle life or past.

Sufficient means, or income, is essential, if not on both sides at least on one, and it is not always necessary that such things must be on the side of the man. We see it frequently otherwise, and why not, if love and happiness is the result? In very large estates anti-nuptial contracts are sometimes made, as grown children interested may cause unpleasantness.

But after all if the principals feel satisfied that their affections and that they will be happy with each other's love (and that is what is intended for all), have they not as much right to the sweetness of life as others? Or must they live on as "Fair Play" stated it, to loneliness, looking forward only to death.

Why should they? INQUIRER.

* * * * *

Sure enough! Why should they?

Well, who is saying they may not, or shall not? Or who has any right to forbid them happiness?

Widows are picked at a good deal by maidens who haven't made a catch as yet, and sometimes spoken of as being too fly, or fresh, or something.

But how can a widow help being attractive to men? Wasn't she always so? If she hadn't been she wouldn't be a widow—she wouldn't have had a chance to be.

True, her experience may give her a slight advantage, but since she has it, may she not use it? Experience is what we are all after, or at least we are all getting it, and it devolves on us to use it in such ways as will do most good.

It isn't because they are widows that some women are specially attractive to men. They would be equally as attractive, if not more so, without their weeds, or other evidences of having been married. Unless a woman has the qualities which attract men and win their love and affection, men will not flutter around them, nor propose to them, nor marry them, their widowhood notwithstanding.

Don't blame the widows; nor the widowers. They can't help it if they are attractive, and who can blame them for marrying if they want to and have the opportunity?

Talked of in New York.

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Eden Musee has hit on a method of advertising. A Japanese coolie draws a jinrikisha, in which is seated an attractive girl in the regulation kimono of Japan, about Broadway and other principal thoroughfares. The girl evidently is not a Japanese, but she handles her fan with all the grace of a woman of that race, smiling pleasantly at the public as she does so. Of course, the name of the musee is prominently lettered on the vehicle in gilt characters, but the center of attraction is the girl in the unaccustomed vehicle, particularly to the young men—and old ones too, for that matter.

Washington in Unattractive Surroundings.

The equestrian statue of George Washington in Union square looms up in the midst of heaps of sand, mortar, piles of Pittsburgh steel girders and a chaos of wooden shanties. The father of his country is soon to be moved from the spot he has occupied for so many years to a commanding elevation in the midst of the park. In the meantime, under present conditions, he looks like a piece of junk.

Old Books Are Junk.

Talking about junk, Mayor Low's secretary has casually decided that old books come under the technical heading of "junk" so far as the city government is concerned. It matters not whether it is a perfect Shakespearean first folio of 1623, a New England primer, a Breeches Bible or any other volume for which a collector would almost give his right hand. Secretary Reynolds calls it just "junk."

Nine Thousand Seekers of Homes.

Nearly 9,000 newly-arrived immigrants were at the Barge office and Ellis Island yesterday. It represented only the production of 24 hours. The officials were over head and ears in work trying to dispose of the strangers, and there was a babel of tongues that would have driven to distraction any class of men except the matter-of-fact officers who were bringing order out of chaos. If aliens continue to come in at this rate all summer it is not easy to imagine what will become of them all eventually. Most of them go west, but enough of them stay in New York city to still further congest the crowded quarters on the East and West Side where the average is 500 foreigners to one American.

Sacred Concerts Kept Within Bounds.

The police kept a close watch on the "sacred concerts" tonight. The appearance of a performer in fancy dress or the negotiation of a dance would be enough to cause an arrest at any time on a Sunday evening. This is so well understood that it is seldom indeed that an infraction of the law is noted. And the notable fact about it all is that the quiet entertainments given on Sunday evening now are as pleasing to the public, apparently, as were the rough and tumble shows which were the vogue when Tammany was in power and things were wide open.

Horses and Men Need Rest.

Riley Grannan, the plunger, whose reputation for "playing the ponies" boldly is second only to that of "Pittsburgh Phil," has just returned from a trip to England. He says he thinks the British method of racing only on one to four days a week is better than the continuous performances which are the rule here. "Horses need time to rest, like men," observed Mr. Grannan sagely, and the group surrounding him at the Metropole this evening nodded their heads solemnly in acquiescence.

Their Automobile Balked.

An automobile got stuck in Herald square last evening just when the crowds were going to the theaters. The power had given out and nothing would make the machine budge. A gentleman and lady were the passengers, while another man, evidently a friend of the couple and an amateur chauffeur, was handling the levers. The young woman sat still and endured the coarse jibes of the by-standers for about five minutes. Then she got out and was swallowed up in the crowd while the two men, assisted by a dozen shouting boys, ignominiously pushed the refractory auto along broadway to "automobile row," where the repair shops are, in Thirty-eighth street.

Bangs' Joke on Maj. Pond.

John Kendrick Bangs, the writer and humorist, had a funny experience with Maj. Pond of the famous lecture bureau not long ago. The story came to me second-hand, but I was assured it was true. It seems that Bangs has several times unsuccessfully tried to arrange with Maj. Pond for a lecture tour. The major and Bangs could not come to terms and they did not care much about each other personally. Bangs began to write for one of the magazines under the nom de plume of "Wilberforce Jenkins." Maj. Pond saw the matter and liked it. Why should he not get "Wilberforce Jenkins" to deliver a series of lectures under his (Pond's) direction. He learned somehow that "Wilberforce Jenkins" could be reached by a certain telephone number and called up that worthy forthwith. Bangs, of course, answered the telephone, and in answer to inquiries, admitted that it was "Wilberforce Jenkins" talking, but added that he did not think he would care to do business with Maj. Pond. He had heard that the doughty major was "no good." Up rose Pond in his wrath and demanded to know who had told him so. "Mr. Bangs," came the answer. For the next five minutes Maj. Pond expressed his opinion of Bangs, while that gentleman chuckled at the other end. It should be added that "Wilberforce Jenkins" and the major got together afterward and arranged the lecture tour, but Maj. Pond does not yet know whether Bangs' practical joke was laughable or not.

Hanna and Parry.

That President Parry of the Manufacturers' association should find it necessary to resort to invective in replying to Senator Hanna is evidence of the weakness of his cause. People outside of Ohio may be led to believe that Senator Hanna's attitude on the labor question is a new one and solely inspired by political motives, as Parry insinuates, but Ohioans who know him best, and are, so to speak, his neighbors, have no such idea. Senator Hanna's labor views were formulated at a time when he had no connection with politics outside of that interest of every citizen. Years before he ever was known in politics he was not only advocating, but practicing, the policy of representation of employers conferring with representatives of employes in the infinite trade and fixing a scale of wages for a stated period. He has never had a strike on his properties; the employes of his Cleveland street railway line refused to strike only a few years ago when the town on all the other lines went out. Five years ago, when a candidate for senator, his strongest advocates were the leaders of national labor organizations, who had known his views and his policy as no employer.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

+ + + +

Mr. David M. Parry's rejoinder to Senator Hanna's rebuke of his assault upon organized labor is amusing, but not convincing. Mr. Parry has a fine flow of sarcastic language and is apt in dispensing insinuations and sneers. But in such controversies as this it is not ironic words but facts—cold facts—that convince and count. And because he evades the facts and deals merely in sneers it is to vain that Mr. Parry depicts Senator Hanna as a "labor crusher" whom the bumping of a bopolitical bee in his bonnet have converted in to a hypocritical humanitarian. If Senator Hanna's rebuke had not gone home Mr. Parry would not be so angry, and would not make the angry man's blunder of shutting his eyes to notorious facts.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

+ + + +

The remarks submitted by Senator Hanna with reference to the common ground on which employers and employes may meet, the desirability of a spirit of conciliation and the benefits to be derived from a good understanding are all in excellent temper and taste. But they are very general. The difficulty arises when an attempt is made to apply these principles to concrete cases. Differences of opinion then arise, and the heated remarks of President Parry indicate that there is far from being a unanimity of sentiment between employers and employed. What Senator Hanna said in condemnation of Mr. Parry will contribute to his popularity with the workingmen, but it does not leave the Manufacturers' association in a better position than it was before.—Louisville Courier Journal.

+ + + +

Hanna believes in the mutual interests of employer and employe, a proposition that nobody is disposed to deny. The problem is to get them together. But Hanna as an employer himself is a standing rebuke to the nothing-to-arbitrate fraternity and is doing much good as an industrial pacificator. He should devote some of his beneficent talks to those business men in the west who are organizing for the sole and avowed purpose of preventing honest workingmen from organizing.—Boston Globe.

+ + + +

There never was a more grotesque caricature of any public man than that which certain influences have attempted to palm off on the community as the real Mark Hanna. If he is an up-to-day conservative, that reveals him commending organized labor and advocating a better understanding between classes. Before he had appeared in politics he was known among his workmen as "the old man," and in the manufacturing and mining and transportation enterprises in which he was engaged strikes were almost unheard of. Personal kindliness, impetuosity and an unusual degree of sentiment, obscured at times by the half-autocratic manner of a strong man, characterized him and had an engaging and even appealing illustration in his life-long friendship and devotion to President McKinley.

Mark Hanna is a pretty good citizen, a forceful, square man and a most enthusiastic American, who is getting along toward his three-score years and ten and who is devoting the energies of his later years to his country's interests as he conceives them, with a whole-heartedness that does him shy amount of credit.—New York Mail and Express.

+ + + +

Those who are hoping for a period of industrial peace will find reason for encouragement in the somewhat remarkable address delivered by Senator Mark Hanna at the annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers at Columbus. Senator Hanna's speech was not notable in that it contained any new contribution to the labor discussion, but it will be given wide attention as offsetting the unfortunate expression of President Parry of the National Association of Manufacturers. Mr. Hanna's personal interest is identical with that of President Parry. Both are representatives of the employer class. President Parry has seen only evil in the present line of development of labor organizations, and suggests that the way to industrial peace can be cleared only by destroying them. Senator Hanna, on the other hand, holds the road to be found in such organizations largely outbalancing the evil. His suggestion is that the way to industrial peace may be found by making friends with the unions, profiting by their good features and aiding in uplifting them to higher standards of organization and utility.—Sioux City Journal.

Without Merit or Excuse.

From the Washington Star.

The new libel measure which Gov. Pennypacker now has under consideration deserves to be vetoed. It is wholly without merit or excuse. But it has served one purpose. It has shown that the hide of the average machine politician of Pennsylvania can be pierced. For a long time there were serious doubts about this matter. Such capers were out at Harrisburg and elsewhere in the state as amazed the country. The press, without distinction of party, laid on and spared not. But apparently no good was accomplished. Political shamelessness seemed even to increase. Critics at last, evidently, had begun to tell. The bosses could not longer stand the gaff

FIFTEEN THOUSAND VISITORS VIEWED THE FLOWERS AT SCHENLEY

Immense Throngs Delighted With Show in the Phipps Conservatories.

OLD-FASHIONED GARDEN

Numerous Driving Parties Ride Through Highland Park—Zoo Center of Attraction—Names Suggested for the Baby Lions.

Over 15,000 persons visited the flower show at the Phipps conservatory yesterday. Supt. Falconer was delighted with the interest that the public has manifested in the exhibition and stated that the show would probably be continued until after next Sunday. During the past week the fading flowers were replaced for Sunday. The bulbs in the Holland garden had been removed and a variety of calceolaria substituted, making a pretty effect with their many colors. The sweet-scented night-blooming nicotiana, together with the cinerarla, azaleas, rhododendrons, tulips, genista, hyacinths and narcissus made a gorgeous mass of loveliness. The display of Siberian lilies, Siberian peonies, English wall flowers and the fine specimens of the blue Rocky Mountain columbine were also delightful. The old-fashioned flower garden had attractions for all the visitors, and they lingered long at the pretty spot.

The attendance at Highland park was better than usual. Many driving parties were out, and during the afternoon a steady stream of pedestrians strolled over the walks, while the greater number visited the zoo. Head Keeper Ernest Trelow estimated that between 6,000 and 7,000 persons viewed the animals.

Considerable interest was manifested in the baby lions. The four recent additions are still kept from the public gaze, although it is expected that they will be ready to be seen next Sunday. The cubs have not been named as yet. It was suggested yesterday that one of the little arrivals be dubbed "Lady Yarthaw," in honor of the international wedding today. Another name proposed for the male cub was "Greater Pittsburgh Bill."

Organist Edwin H. Lemare gave his 556th free organ recital in Carnegie Music hall to a throng which occupied every seat. The opening number was the overture from "Tancredi," by Rossini. It was well executed and evoked considerable applause. The Prize Song from "Die Meistersinger" was effectively interpreted and skillfully played. The fantasia on the Austrian national hymn, "God Save the Emperor," by Chipp, closed the recital.

ROUTE IS EXPENSIVE.

Hungarian Attempt to Divert Immigration from America to Fiume Is Difficult.

VIENNA, April 26.—The efforts of Koloman de Szell, premier of Hungary, to divert Hungarian emigration from its present routes through Bremen and Hamburg to the Hungarian port of Fiume are meeting with unexpected difficulties.

One of the largest of the shipping companies in Europe has been considering the establishing of a new line of steamers from Fiume to America and had begun negotiations with the Hungarian government for the necessary concessions. It was found, however, that the Fiume route would be much more expensive, as the journey from that port would occupy from 14 to 20 days as compared to 8 to 12 days from the German ports. For this reason the negotiations have been suspended indefinitely.

The government, however, is not willing to abandon its efforts to build up the port of Fiume, and the suggestion of the subvention of such a line is now made as the only means of enabling the government to carry out its plans. A bill authorizing such a grant will be introduced in the Hungarian parliament when the political situation is favorable to it.

LARGE POSTAL RECEIPTS.

Increases at Braddock, Especially Among the Money Orders Issued.

There was a wonderful increase in the receipts of the Braddock postoffice for the year ending March 31, as shown by the report of Postmaster Sheets. Much money has been sent away by the foreign element employed in the mills of that town, considerable being sent by the Slavs, while a great deal went to Ireland, Italy and Austro-Hungary.

The receipts from the sale of stamps, stamped envelopes, postal cards, etc., were $30,227.65, an increase of $3,618.43 over last year. There were 13,371 foreign and domestic money orders issued, which amounted to $133,469.44, an increase of 2,775 orders and of $21,931.17 over last year. Foreign and domestic money orders received and paid were 7,658, amounting to $161,627.77, an increase of 1,290 orders and $25,474.19 over last year. The number of parcels registered were 8,483, an increase of 1,531 over last year. Postmaster Sheets' salary has been increased from $2,800 to $2,900 for the coming year.

STORK ON THE WING.

Secretary of State Hay Will Soon Become Grandfather Once More.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. James Wadsworth, Jr., the second daughter of Secretary of State Hay, after a short visit at the home of her parents in Washington, has gone with her husband to the latter's country home in the Genesee valley, New York.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay have been entertaining this Easter season and have given two very large and brilliant dinner parties to the members of the diplomatic corps. Mrs. Payne Whitney, the eldest daughter of the family, who has also been visiting at the family residence with her young baby, was present at these dinner parties, but Mrs. Wadsworth left home before they occurred. The reason for her doing so is that over the Wadsworth home is hovering the stork which is expected to alight with its precious burden some time in July.

Seven Counterfeiters, Arrested at Posen, Germany, Manufactured All Kinds of Coin.

BERLIN, April 26.—Seven counterfeiters have been arrested in a body at Posen. The men counterfeited various coins, the coupons of government bonds and foreign coins, including those of the United States. They are said to have had American connections.

Direct inquiry to the court at Posen for information and details concerning this American connection brought the reply that the court could not answer the query for several days, pending examination of the prisoners.

PICKPOCKET CAPTURED BY HIS STURDY VICTIM

Street Car Thief Passed His Plunder to a Companion, but Was Unable to Get Away Himself. Known to the Police.

After being robbed of his money in a street car yesterday afternoon J. A. Grossloss of Sheraden captured the criminal and took him to the Central police station, where the prisoner was recognized as a well-known thief of Allegheny. The prisoner gave his name as Patrick Collins, but to the front office men he is known as Snyder, Harris and by many other aliases. Grossloss saw Collins hand his pocketbook to another thief in the rear car, who immediately jumped off and got away. The pocketbook contained $35.

PATRICK COLLINS.

Grossloss was with a lady in the car and was going to Mt. Lebanon to see some lots. He was standing in the car and noticed that Collins was pushing him a great deal. Grossloss looked around to see if Collins was being crowded and saw there was no one in back of him. He became suspicious and felt for his pocketbook. As he was reaching for it he noticed Collins hand it to another man. Grossloss said nothing. He handed his companion some money and told her to go home; that he had been robbed and was going to arrest the man who had taken his money.

Grossloss stepped to the rear of the car to prevent Collins from getting off. When the car reached Mt. Lebanon he took hold of Collins. The thief resisted and Grossloss told the men standing by that Collins had robbed him. Peter Shields, the well-known real estate dealer, took a hand in the arrest. Constable McMurray of the Fifth ward was summoned and Grossloss and the officer took Collins to the Central police station, where he was turned over to Detective George W. Cole.

Grossloss is in the meat business in McKees Rocks. He is a muscular, active young man.

"I did not propose to lose my money without making a fight for it," he said at the police station. "I would have broken every bone in that thief's body before I would have let him get away from me. I saw him give my pocketbook to another man, who jumped off the car and got away, but I made up my mind to get him."

Some of Collin's friends went to Grossloss last night and offered to return his pocketbook and money provided he would withdraw his complaint at the hearing this morning. Grossloss refused to do this.

"I would rather lose the money and send Collins to the penitentiary," said Grossloss last night. "I am going to do all I can to send Collins to prison."

Collins was also identified last night by Detective William Elmore as George Donahue, who was arrested by Detective Elmore Christmas eve.

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS COMING TO CONVENTION

Completing Arrangements for the National Catholic Total Abstinence Gathering.

Four thousand visitors are expected in Pittsburgh during the national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence society. At the meeting of the general convention committee in the new Corpus Christi lyceum, Lincoln and Rowan avenues, last evening, Father John A. Beane said he has been officially notified to date that 900 delegates and 3,000 members will be here, and all the reports are not in yet. As the organization has over 100,000 members in the United States the attendance here will run above the figures already reported.

The sub-committee on hotels reported the arrangements they had made for quarters and said that several of the hotels had contributed to the entertainment fund. The sub-committee on hall reported that they had not yet secured a place for the convention to meet. They will want a theater for three days, and as the convention will be held at a time when the theaters are undergoing the usual summer renovation they had not been able to close a contract.

Joseph A. Weldon, for the sub-committee on finance, said he had received many donations from the business men of the city, irrespective of denomination. He had no doubt that he would have enough money to properly entertain the visitors.

The diocesan union of the Catholic Total Abstinence society met in the lyceum for the first time and the meeting was the largest in its history, the representatives of the societies turning out in great force. Father Beane presided.

An invitation to attend the 30th anniversary of the Immaculate Conception society of Irwin, on May 12, was accepted. The Lithuanian society of St. Casimir's church, South Side, and Corpus Christi society were admitted to the union. Addresses were made by P. R. Condron, Stephen Madden, John Forng, F. L. Floyd and Charles D. McShane. The next monthly meeting will be held at St. Bridgid's church May 24.

STOPPED ARGUMENT BY ARRESTING BOTH

J. C. Hunter of 3408 Penn avenue and A. C. Scott of No. 2927 Spring alley, negroes, were arrested at Penn avenue and Twenty-sixth street last night by Officer Andrew Winstel, charged with being suspicious persons. Hunter told the officer that he had been visiting Scott during the day, and had laid down on a lounge to take a nap. When he awoke he missed his pocketbook, containing $22. He and Hunter went out in the street and began arguing about the lost purse and called Officer Winstel to settle it. He thought the best way to settle was to lock them both up, which he did.

WANT SHOPPERS TO GO TO STORES BEFORE 6 P. M.

Salespeople Ask Buying Public to Help Them Secure Shorter Hours Saturdays.

Efforts will be made by the salespeople employed in the stores of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to induce the persons who do shopping on Saturdays to reach the stores before 6 o'clock in the evening. They argue that many persons put off until late in the evening the shopping that they could just as well do in the afternoon. The salespeople are trying to influence their employers to discontinue keeping open on Saturday evening, and hope that with the co-operation of the buying public they will be able to accomplish their object. They claim that they are among the few people of the working class who do not get a Saturday half-holiday. As an argument for closing without causing a loss to storeowners they cite the cases of some stores that close at 5 and 6 o'clock on Saturdays. The United Labor league has indorsed the move of the salespeople.

Plumbers' President Is Coming.

W. M. Merrick of Chicago, president of the International Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters, will pay a fraternal visit to the members of the craft in the Pittsburgh district on Friday evening, May 1. In honor of the event they will meet in the Building Trades council hall, 225 Fourth avenue. A smoker will follow.

Stonemasons Will Ask an Advance.

A meeting of union stonemasons will be held in Arnfeld's hall Thursday evening. The matter of presenting the new wage scale to the employers for their ratification will be considered. It is expected that a slight increase in wages will be asked.

Labor Men Adopt Resolutions.

GLASS WORKS STILL TURNING OUT PRODUCT

All of the Factories Did Not Shut Down When It Was Expected.

Notwithstanding the efforts of prominent glass manufacturers, a number of individual or wildcat glass factories are still in operation. It was expected that all would cease working on Saturday. But this was not the case, and it is likely that the plants now in operation will not put out their fires until June 30. All of the factories are working under the Denny scale. President John L. Denny of the Independent Glass Workers' association stated yesterday that nearly 400 pots were in operation. The weekly output of these pots is about 7,500 boxes of double-strength and 23,501 boxes of single-strength glass.

The factories in Pennsylvania still working are: New Bethlehem, 30 pots; Brookville, 30 pots; Eldred, 30 pots, and Shinglehouse, 60 pots. The plant at Anderson, Ind., which has been working under the Burns scale, is now under the jurisdiction of the Denny contingent. A new force of glass workers, all members of the independent organization, took the places of the members of the parent organization when the latter quit work. The new men will receive 12½ per cent less wages than the former employes.

The Climate of Colorado

Nowhere in the world is there a more delightful summer climate than in Colorado. People who go there for a while return with new life, and the benefit derived from the pure, bracing, healthful air seems to have a lasting effect.

There is no hay fever, no malaria in Colorado. Charming days and cool nights. Plenty of golf, riding, fishing, hunting and climbing. Good hotels and moderate charges for everything.

Our handsome little 72-page book tells all about Colorado in an interesting way, and it is full of illustrations. It also has an excellent topographical map of the State. I wish you would send to-day for a copy of the book, for I am sure you will find it well worth reading. Enclose six cents in postage to

COLUMBUS FIREMAN UNDER FALLING WALL

Several Business Blocks Destroyed, Causing Loss of Half Million.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—The most disastrous fire known to this city since 1836 today caused the loss of property upon which a conservative estimate placed a value of $500,000. Capt. Daniel S. Lewis of fire company No. 11 was buried in the ruins.

The fire destroyed the Brunson and Union Clothing Company buildings, at Fifth and Long streets, and several smaller structures and damaged the Nicholas block.

The fire was attended by many exciting incidents, the most thrilling being the rescue of Philip Nation, a grocer, from his apartments on the fourth floor of the Brunson building, where he had been hemmed in by flames.

The fire started in the Brunson building and its progress was fanned by a brisk wind from the north. This building was occupied on the ground floor by the Walkover Shoe Company, Talmadge Hardware Company and Bott Brothers' saloon. The upper floors were occupied mainly as living apartments, the exceptions being the W. C. T. U. rest room and the art studios of Maurice Hague and E. F. Hayden.

Smoke was first seen issuing from the basement under the saloon. The fire smouldered for half an hour, and the firemen thought they had it under control, when flames suddenly burst from an upper story.

The flames, after clearing out the Brunson, spread to the buildings south.

Capt. Daniel Lewis was caught by a falling wall while carrying a hose into the Palace barber shop.

THREE MURDER TRIALS ON NEW CASTLE DOCKET

Coming Term of Court Will Also Have Large Number of Damage Cases.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—Three murder trials, and damage suits in which the aggregate of more than $100,000 is asked, are scheduled for trial here at the coming criminal court term.

The murder cases are those against Robert Nugent, charged with shooting last month John B. Ferguson of Allegheny at New Castle junction; George Merkle, charged with shooting John Genkinger one week later in the apartments of Mrs. Eva Rumbola, and George West, charged with the fatal stabbing recently at Moravia of Civil Engineer Ralph Stiver of Millvale, Allegheny county.

The damage cases come up for trial with the opening of the April civil court Monday afternoon. They are for the greater part suits entered by employes for damages sustained in injuries while employed in the local industrial plants and railroads.

BALL PLAYERS ARRESTED.

Three Caught, but Other Members of Two New Castle Nines Prove Sprinters.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—The first arrests here in months for violation of the Sabbath observance laws occurred this afternoon, when Charles, George and Kane Marion were arrested while playing ball.

A squad of five officers swooped down on two amateur nines in a game near the steel plant. All but three players proved sprinters and escaped.

At the Sabbath observance convention here this week the authorities were urged to prosecute all persons violating the Sunday laws.

Engagement Announced.

WASHINGTON, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—Announcement has been made here of the engagement of Miss Mabel Hood and Harry D. Hamilton, both of Washington. The marriage will take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Hood, in Locust avenue, on June 2. The prospective bride is a well-known Washington girl and a member of a prominent family. She is a graduate of the Washington seminary. Mr. Hamilton is a young attorney.

Zelienople People Scared.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—Burglars are terrorizing the people of Zelienople and the southern part of this county and the residents are purchasing arms to protect their homes. Within the past few nights several homes and stores have been entered and no arrests have been made. It is supposed that the same gang operating about this city has been extending its operations.

Foresters at Banquet Board.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—Supreme Senior Beadle of the Foresters of America D. E. Hunihan of East Pittsburgh and Deputy Grand Chief Joseph Henegan of Braddock were guests of honor here last night at a banquet given by New Castle court, No. 206, of the Foresters. Ex-Mayor Ford of Pittsburgh was also invited and was expected, but at the last moment was detained at home.

To Be Married at Claysville.

CLAYSVILLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—Invitations have just been issued for the marriage of Miss Mary Noble of Claysville to Mr. Clarence Curtis of Westerville, O. The wedding will take place May 12 at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Curtis is in business in Washington. The young couple will reside in Wyoming.

Samuel Dorsey Killed.

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 26.—(Special.)—Samuel Dorsey, colored, aged 30, was instantly killed after midnight at the Pittsburgh yards by an eastbound freight train. He fell asleep while sitting on the curb at the passenger station. He came here from Allegheny, Pa., where he has two sisters.

BOWEN GAINS POINTS ON FOREIGN DIPLOMATS

Allies Have Retired from Demand That Blockade Expense Be Arbitrated.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Herbert W. Bowen, the Venezuelan plenipotentiary, has drawn up a new protocol for the determination by The Hague arbitration tribunal of the question whether the blockading powers shall be entitled to preferential treatment in the payment of their claims against Venezuela. This has been presented to the British ambassador and copies furnished to the diplomatic representatives of Germany and Italy.

The new instrument contains all the points on which the negotiators practically are in accord except one, which it is thought will be amicably adjusted.

The allied governments have determined not to press the point of consideration by The Hague tribunal of whether or not Venezuela shall be compelled to pay the expenses of the blockade. The new protocol contains no provision on that point. The document has been transmitted to London by cable and an early answer is expected by the British ambassador which will authorize him to proceed with the consideration of the matter.

According to the protocol the tribunal of arbitration is to be appointed by the czar of Russia, and will meet September 1.

PLAN TO STOP WABASH IS NEW WRECK POINT

B. & O.'s New Property at Zanesville Badly Damaged by Box Car.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., April 26.—Within the past 24 hours the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company has had two very peculiar accidents in this city. Yesterday afternoon a B. & O. box car was shifted on to the new switch that was stretched across the Spauling property when that property was purchased to lock the doors against the Wabash.

The switch ends at the Eighth ward abutment of the bridge and is of a very steep grade. The car got beyond control of the yard crew and, crashed into the abutment, wrecking the car and caving in the abutment.

This morning, in the roundhouse at the shops, an engine was being taken from the turntable when it got beyond the control of the crew handling it, and backed clear through the side of the roundhouse, caving one section of the building from ground to roof.

TO COST $30,000.

New Castle Odd Fellows Prepare Plans for Their New Temple.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—Fully $30,000 will be expended in the construction of the new Odd Fellows' temple, which is to be built under the auspices of Shenango lodge, No. 195. The lodge recently purchased the Kurtz-McCracken building, in Neshannock avenue, and this is to be remodeled and greatly enlarged. An entire third story will be added, which will be devoted exclusively to Odd Fellowship, while the first and second floors will be arranged for living purposes.

The plans have just been completed by Architects C. and A. L. Thayer of this city, and work on the improvements will be commenced at once.

Architects Thayer also designed the new Odd Fellows' temple at Youngstown, which is to be dedicated Monday. It cost $28,000, and is one of the handsomest lodge buildings in this part of the country.

WASHINGTON CHURCH RECEIVES CHINAMAN

WASHINGTON, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—For the first time in the history of Washington county, a native born Chinese, Wah Lee, was received today into the Christian faith by immersion. The baptism occurred in Tyler lake at 4 o'clock this afternoon, in the presence of hundreds of spectators. Wah Lee was a laundryman and was converted through the efforts of the local band of the Christian Alliance.

THE THREE RIVERS.

CINCINNATI, O., April 26.—River 24.8 feet and falling. Clear and pleasant. But one tow boat arrived, the Dave Woods, which was delayed at the upper landing, came down to the main landing and delivered her tow and took back empties. The H. F. Frisbee took a tow of miscellaneous freight below at dark. She is bound for Cairo and will return with a tow of pulp and staves. Capt. James Rees, president of the Memphis & Arkansas City Packet Company, passed through the city today on his way to Pittsburgh.

LOUISVILLE—River is falling, with 8 feet on the falls, 10 feet 2 inches in the canal and 28 feet 6 inches at the foot of the locks. Weather clear and pleasant. The Coal City Belle tow got away for New Orleans today. The Frisbee will be down for Cairo tomorrow and the W. W. O'Neill will be up.

CAIRO—The river marks 44.2 feet on the gauge tonight, a fall of five-tenths during the past 24 hours. The Henry Lotterel tow got away for New Orleans at 10 a. m. The Barrett passed down for New Orleans at 11 a. m. The John A. Wood arrived from New Orleans at 4:30 p. m. and departed for Louisville tonight. The Lilly departed at 2 p. m. The Rees Lee is due from Memphis. The Iron Age will pass up from Memphis tonight with empties. The Polar Wave is due from Arkansas river with a tow of logs.

MEMPHIS, TENN.—River 33.7 feet, seven-tenths over the danger line. The Fred Herold has laid up and the James Lee resumes her place tomorrow in the Memphis and Friars Point trade.

WHEELING—River 7 feet 8 inches and falling; clear and cool. Departed, Ben Hur (Pittsburgh, 4:30 p. m.); Lorena for Zanesville, 5 a. m.; Virginia for Cincinnati, 8 a. m.; Kanawha for Pittsburgh, noon; Keystone State for Pittsburgh, 1 p. m. Up, with empties, Crusader, 3 e. m.; Tornado, 8 a. m.; Jim Wood, 11 a. m.

MORGANTOWN—River 9 feet, stationary.

PARKERSBURG—River 8 feet and stationary. Bessie Smith left for Wheeling, Virginia for Cincinnati.

RIVERMEN ARE GLOOMY.

Boat Excursion Season Received a Decided Boom Yesterday.

The rivermen are feeling gloomy over the condition of the water. Until the rivers rise there will be little business for the rivermen.

Yesterday was a gala day for boat excursions. The trips were confined to the pool. Only for the excursions the wharf would have been deserted yesterday.

A few men were at work yesterday loading coal on the J. B. Finley. It is the intention to send this boat on a down-river trip as soon as the water permits. The boat is being given a thorough overhauling. She was in bad condition as a result of an accident several weeks ago.

The crew on the steamer Eleanor were asked by a little miss to contribute to a church which is about to be built in one of the suburbs of the city. The entire crew, from Capt. Reichard down, gave toward the fund. The little girl went away with $10. The crew consists of R. E. Meeks, L. P. R. Meeks, Daniel Phillips, William Kennedy, Ed. Hale, L. Long, Charles Carter and William Farley. The talk of new records made on the rivers lately has recalled some of the record-breaking trips made years ago. One the old rivermen point to as one of the best was that of Capts. Hiram Baker and Joe Aultman, who floated two coalboats from Pittsburgh to Louisville in 72 hours, leaving here on April 12, 1860, at 6 p. m., and arriving in Louisville at 6 p. m. on April 15. There was 17 feet of water in the harbor at the time. This is a record which stood for years. For years boats were floated down the rivers, but none has been taken down the rivers in this manner, to any extent, since 1862.

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 6.2 feet and the river was stationary.

PARLEZANA IS DEAD TWO MEN ARE HELD

Foreman of Italians at Monongahela Tells Confused Story About Shooting.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MONONGAHELA, PA., April 26.—Given Parlezana, the Italian miner who was assaulted on the Monongahela bridge Friday night, about 11 o'clock, is dead at the Monongahela hospital. Nichola Fuda is under arrest on suspicion.

Parlezana was going to work at the time, in company with Piegro Previza, a fellow workman. Suddenly, while on the bridge the light of their miner's lamps was blown out, and almost at the same moment Parlezana fell with a bullet in his head and the murderer fled.

Fuda, it is alleged, held animosity toward the dead man which culminated in an open quarrel about two weeks ago. Albert Thomas, who is foreman of the Italians on the Allegheny county side, claimed to be the only man with Parlezana at the time of the shooting. He told such a confused story to the coroner, W. H. Sipe of Washington, who will hold an inquest, that he also has been held to see what he knows about the affair.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—David Wright of Colliers, a Panhandle brakeman, while walking on the tracks last night was run over by a backing engine and killed.

WASHINGTON, PA.—An investigation shows that the alleged robbery of the grave of Joseph McKnight, the wealthy hermit of Chartiers township, is a myth.

GREENSBURG—Hanna Burke, aged 38 years, a domestic in a Greensburg family, was instantly killed last night at the Harrison avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad. In crossing the tracks she walked until train No. 5 westbound had passed, only to walk into the path of No. 6, eastbound.

ZANESVILLE, O.—The Prohibition county executive committee selected the following county candidates: Representative, H. J. Haskell; treasurer, A. Y. Whitte; clerk, Ed F. Frazier; recorder, George Young; commissioner, L. L. Revenaugh; infirmary director, J. L. Read; coroner, A. P. Vogt.

The Death Roll.

William Swager.

William Swager is dead at his home in West Bridgewater, aged 69 years. The immediate cause of death was pneumonia. He was a native of Beaver county. For many years he was a business man in Pittsburgh, retiring 10 or 15 years ago. He was a member of the Baptist church, of Iron City lodge, No. 182, I. O. O. F. of Pittsburgh. His wife was a daughter of the late Anthony Beaver of Moon township, Beaver county. He is survived by his wife, two daughters and two sons. The remains will be interred in Homewood cemetery, Pittsburgh, under the auspices of the Iron City lodge, No. 182, I. O. O. F. upon the arrival of the 10 a. m. train at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie depot Tuesday.

Miss Antoinette Cracraft.

Miss Antoinette Cracraft, aged 54, one of the best-known women of Washington, Pa., died at her home on South Main street yesterday morning of cancer. She was the daughter of the late Hon. Ebridge Cracraft, for several years a member of the state legislature, and lived in Washington all her life. For the past 15 years she has been librarian at the Washington public library, formerly being a teacher in the public schools. She was a sister of the late John Cracraft of Pittsburgh, and Washington, D. C. She is survived by one sister, Miss Adeline Cracraft of Washington.

Nicholas J. Keller.

Nicholas J. Keller died at his home, No. 54 Euclid avenue, Bellevue, early yesterday morning after a two-weeks' illness of stomach trouble. He was born in Switzerland in 1829 and came to this country when 3 years old with his parents, who settled in Meadville. In 1842 he located in Pittsburgh, where he resided until last year, when he removed to Bellevue. He was in the ice business, and around the local rivers for many years. Mr. Keller leaves five daughters and two sons, besides a brother, Oswald Keller of Hazelwood.

Charles Francis Wilbur.

Charles Francis Wilbur died yesterday morning at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Wilbur of South street, New Castle, aged 48 years. He was the son of the late Jacob B. Wilbur and was for many years in the hardware business at New Castle, until he became interested in banking in Michigan. Ill health compelled him to retire some months ago and he was in Montana for his health until a week ago, when he returned home to die.

Funeral of William L. Stewart.

The funeral of Attorney William L. Stewart was held yesterday afternoon in Indiana. The services were conducted by the Rev. Swartz Crawford of the Presbyterian church. The members of the Indiana Bar association and the Royal Arcanum were present in a body and marched to the grave in Oakland cemetery. Mr. Stewart died from consumption. He was 50 years old and one of the leading attorneys of Indiana.

Mrs. Dora Mente.

Mrs. Dora Mente, widow of Albert Mente, died at the Passavant hospital yesterday morning. She was born in Germany in 1848 and came to this county 36 years ago. She was noted for her kindness to the sick and was a member of several beneficial associations. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Ross W. Black, Mrs. Charles H. Kessling, Mrs. Oscar Radin and Mrs. J. C. Lappe, and one son, Alvin.

Mrs. Mary Cook.

Mrs. Mary Bingham McCulloch Cook, aged 58, was found dead sitting in her chair at Freeport Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Cook was the only child of Dr. W. P. McCulloch, many years deceased. She was twice married, in 1867 to Col. Corbet, and in 1882 to Dr. W. J. Cook, who died 15 months later. She was a member of the Episcopal church.

Obituary Notes.

Burt Slas of New Castle died at the hospital there of appendicitis, peritonitis and typhoid fever. He was 28 years old. A widow and three children survive him.

Mary A. Peighiel died yesterday at her home, No. 182 Home street, Lawrenceville. She was well known throughout the Seventeenth ward, where she had lived for many years. The interment will be tomorrow afternoon.

PERSONALS

Samuel Diescher, a civil engineer and architect; Maj. John P. Penney and George H. Anderson, secretary of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce, left last night for St. Louis. They are delegates appointed to represent the chamber of commerce at the national good roads convention, which will be held in St. Louis April 27, 28 and 29. The convention is called at the solicitation of the United States government. The subject of good roads will be discussed by some of the most prominent men in the country. Mr. Diescher will read a paper in behalf of the delegates of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce. While in St. Louis the delegates will also represent the chamber of commerce at the dedication of the grounds of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. On the 30th of this month will mark the 100th anniversary of the purchase of the Louisiana territory from the French government by the United States. The dedicatory exercises will last three days, April 30, May 1 and 2. The event will bring together many of the prominent men of the country. President Theodore Roosevelt and staff, foreign ministers, governors and their staffs and similar state officials will take part in the dedication. The Pennsylvania railroad will run several special trains to St. Louis for the occasion. On Wednesday morning at 1:30 a special will pass through the city on which will be the United States diplomatic corps. Following this train will be one occupied by the governor of Connecticut and staff. Several other special trains will pass through the city for St. Louis. The dedicatory exercises will open by the explosion of 1,000 bombs sent up simultaneously.

Dr. A. M. Chase of Ft. Reno, O. T., passed through the city last night over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. He had been in Washington undergoing an examination for the purpose of being commissioned a United States physician. Dr. Chase graduated in medicine in the Michigan university at Ann Arbor. Upon leaving college he entered service with the government as a contract physician. He was detailed to the Thirty-second regiment, known as the "Bicol Scouts." He was in the Philippines during the entire war, and at its close was transferred to Ft. Reno. He is on a furlough, and, being desirous of receiving a commission, decided to be examined for such duty. Speaking of his experience while in the Philippines Dr. Chase said: "I found the Maccabebe Philippines a healthful race of people. They are very clean regarding their own persons, but their home life is very sluggish and unsanitary. They wash regularly every morning and evening, but their houses, which are placed on posts, are never cleaned. They are little people, but very hardy. No matter what pain they suffer, they never murmur. With the sanitary system inaugurated by the United States government the Maccabebes are as good a race of people as can be found anywhere. Shoes were unknown to them until the Americans landed on the islands. They went about in their bare feet, and thought nothing of it. Now they will not be without them. They invariably lay on the floor, but the port records show that thousands of beds are being imported there every month."

The limited on the Pennsylvania railroad was delayed nearly half an hour last night at the Union station. Just about the time the train was to leave a heavy freight came roaring along the Ft. Wayne track east-bound. Just as the engine rounded the curve she became disabled and stalled. The sparks of the engine settled in the boiler head and the puffing of the iron horse made a furnace of them. The base of the boiler head was white with heat and the engineer was afraid to run the engine any longer in that condition. He stopped the train and poured water on the hot cinders. With stopping the train on the curve it took four engines to haul the freight away.

FALLS ON KNIFE.

Heart Is Pierced and He Dies Instantly—Brother Talks of Foul Play.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—A peculiar accident with a fatal termination occurred at midnight at Hillsdown, when Joseph Monico stumbled and fell and was pierced to the heart with a butcher knife which he carried in his breast pocket. He had been butchering during the afternoon and spent the evening at the home of a friend. About midnight Monico started for home with four companions.

The coroner held an inquest and decided that death was accidental. Monico was 35 years old and a quarryman. He leaves a widow in Italy.

His half-brother arrived today from Sharon and says he believes his brother was a victim of foul play.

Woman's Corner

A pretty, well-dressed girl boarded a Center and Negley car the other day. She wore a modish blue silk shirt waist and a smart covert jacket. Her becoming black-and-white hat was trimmed with a wreath of fine pink roses. As she entered the car she was obtrusively eyed by a big blonde man who seated himself opposite. All the way up town that male creature sat is stretching the term to call him a gentleman) sat before that pretty young girl and eyed her. To do her justice, she was plainly annoyed. She did the only thing possible under the circumstances and ignored him, but when he got off the car down in Oakland a look of genuine relief came to her face.

Street Car Flirtations.

It is a great deal to say for this city that that sort of thing is not more common. Cases of that sort are not frequent here. A woman is debarred of the privilege of rebuking a man who impudently ogles her in a public place. But it is none the less most annoying. There is an instance of one young lady who acknowledged the stare and smile of a would-be fascinator with a bow. The man, delighted, edged up and said, "I believe we've met before." "Oh, yes," said she in a clear high voice; "you call on our cook. I'll tell Bridget I saw you." The tableau may be imagined. It was an excellent rebuke. SALLIE CARROLL.

Embroidered muslins are much used, both as entire gowns and for the accessories thereof. They are dainty, beautiful charming, but, alas! are among the more perishable things of earth. As lovely a gown for a spring wedding as could be desired is of pale ecru canvas, and is combined with the embroidered flouncing. The skirt, a tunic, falls over a flounce of the white, and is closed diagonally at the front, where there is a circular frill. The bodice is softly draped with a diagonal opening, finished with a frill that matches the skirt, and that falls on a line with it to give a graceful serpentine effect. The sleeves are full above the elbows, with deep cuffs of embroidered muslin that are laced with narrow pale blue velvet, and blue velvet makes the deep belt or girdle. Another gown is of blue and white liberty satin, and shows a novel skirt that consists of alternate bands of plain and pleated silk. The bodice is a soft full one with yoke of embroidered muslin and soft full front of chiffon. Edging the open waist are rows of muslin buttons, and the big upper sleeves droop over snug-fitting cuffs that also are of muslin. Nothing more charming, nothing more tasteful, could well be imagined. The muslin is daintiness itself and combines with the soft silk to give a most satisfactory result.

Baroque pearls in many odd shapes are much sought as hat pins. Very large tops, round or oval, with a decided leaning toward the latter. Large imitation gems, like emeralds, amethysts, pearls, turquoise, etc., for a center, surrounded by an elaborate device in gold, are among the most used hat pins.

The Prettiest Hat Pins.

A new idea takes the form of a peacock's feather, wrought in colored enamel in mosaic fashion, outlined with tiny diamonds.

Scarcely less striking are the Egyptian designs in colored gold and enamel or another favorite has fine lines of simili traveling the enamel.

Flower or scroll patterns are still favored.

Small owls' heads of gold or silver, with tiny jeweled eyes of red or yellow, make quite attractive ends for hat fasteners. Small black bats, veined in gold, and also with small colored stones for eyes, have their wings outstretched and are even more odd and, therefore, more popular than the owls.

Still another design is that of a female head adorned with modern headgear, but so artistically are the bonnets treated that they are very effective.

Put two ounces of unsweetened chocolate into a granite saucepan and stand over hot water until melted, add a quarter of a cupful of water and a cupful of sugar and cook to a syrup, then pour gradually over the well-beaten yolks of four eggs. Cook this mixture over hot water until thickened, stirring constantly, then take from the fire, stand in a pan of cold water and beat with a wire egg beater until cold. Beat a pint of rich cream until stiff and dry, add the chocolate mixture and flavor with vanilla. Rinse one-pound baking powder cans in cold water, fill with the mixture, cover with paraffine or buttered paper. Rub the edges around the lid with lard. This will harden and prevent the salt water from leaking into the mould. Then pack in ice and salt for three or four hours. Turn out and serve in slices with a spoonful of whipped cream on each slice.

Old lace shawls are adaptable to many dress schemes, for they can be used without being cut in many cases, and run's veiling might be taken for the undress, since fashion looks with favor on that simple material again, extolling it for its amenity to gowning and for its pretty draping qualities. But point d'esprit would be a more elegant choice. Were the new tea-colored point d'esprit chosen (tea is a warm shade of cream with a suspicion of the fleshe or spring quality about it), with an ivory lace coat over it, edged with blush pink and white roses, a very graceful gown would be the result.

Mrs. Jane L. Stanford recently has caused to be erected on the campus of the Leland Stanford Junior University at Palo Alto, Cal., a church as a memorial to her husband. United States Senator Leland Stanford. It is now regarded as one of the most beautiful and artistic structures in the world. It is estimated that Mrs. Stanford has laid out $600,000 on the structure and its decorations.

Mrs. Crossley of Indiana is thought to be the most extensively traveled woman in the world. She is now preparing to make her 21st tour around the globe. She has crossed the Atlantic no fewer than 70 times, has made 12 journeys to the top of the Pyramids, has visited every town of note in Europe, Asia, Africa and America. All this amount of traveling has been crowded into a period of 18 years. Her collection of curiosities from every quarter of the globe is said to be wonderful.

Many cream-colored cloaks are spangled with gold and silver, others are made in fine cloth, with silk Renaissance lace over it, deep collars and hanging sleeves, and only imperceptible fastenings. The Japanese kimono has been adapted to many kinds of evening cloaks, made in crepe de chine, in satin, and even in velvet. But for a dress to slip on in the morning before the toilette is made it is quite carnaled, the sash keeping it in place without any other fastening. It is taken off just as quickly, and we have improved on the Japanese model, as far as we are concerned, by widening the skirt. There are a good many washing materials which would be useful for it, and especially those that are mercerized. Soft-finished satin, in white or black, lined with a ruffle, having an ample inch frilled with crepe ends and deep Empire sash, makes a very original wrap, and chine silks are employed, veiled with fine net.

An excellent sweet pickle may be made inexpensively from prunes. To four pounds of fruit one pint of vinegar, one ounce each of cloves and cinnamon, and a quarter of an ounce of ginger. The sugar, spices and vinegar are boiled together for 10 minutes. Add the prunes, which must have been previously soaked for 24 hours and steamed for 15 minutes. Boil all together until the syrup is clear and the prunes are tender.

Cheviot gown in cream white with dashes of black, and trimmed with bias bands of black and white taffeta. The skirt has three shaped flounces at the bottom, cut intersections, each section bound in taffeta. A bias strap of material runs the entire length of the back seam and is decorated with taffeta silk covered buttons; three buttons placed on each seam at the divisions of the top flounce. Blouse in Eton effect, with two shoulder caps and revers falling below the waist line. Cluny lace and crocheted balls are the decorations.

FOUGHT FOR LOTS

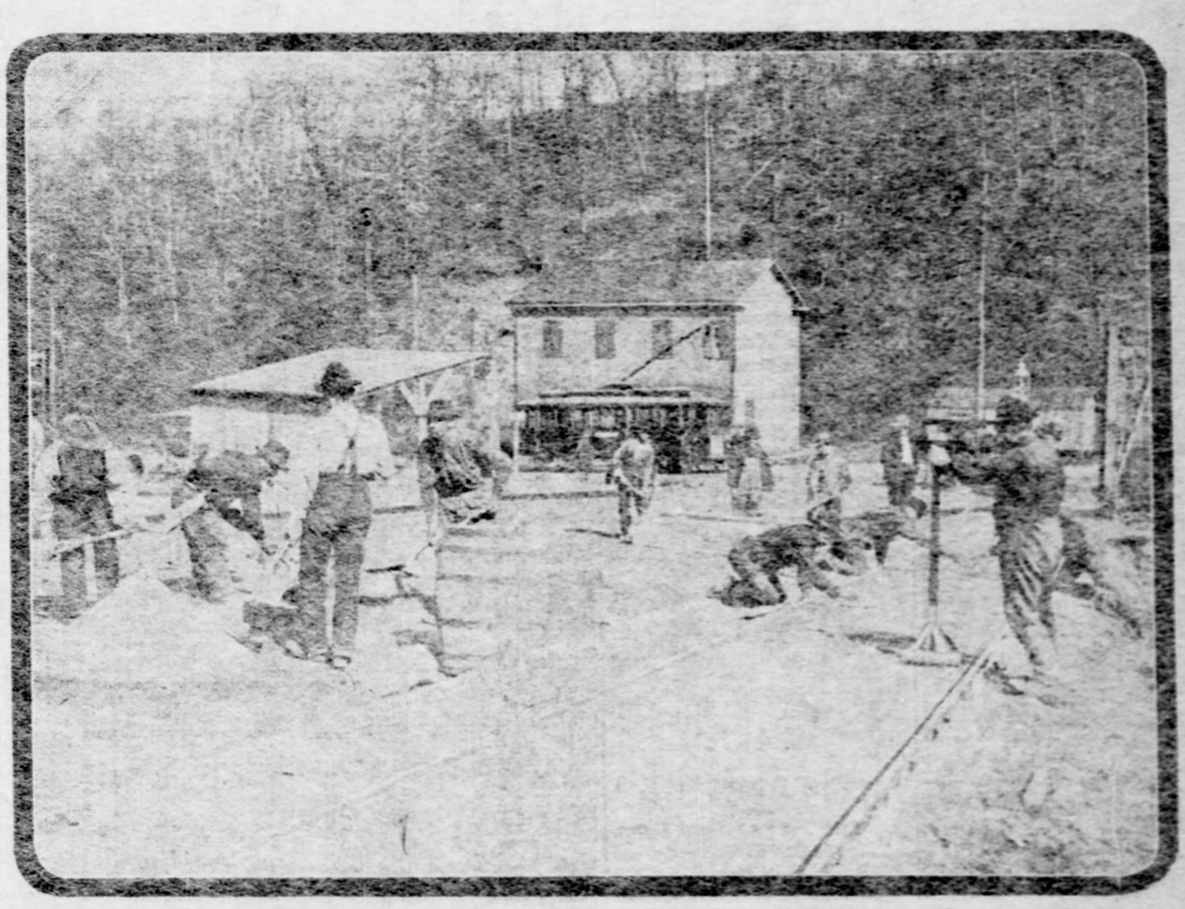
WILD SCRAMBLE FOR WEST LIBERTY No. 3

Big Crowds Out Saturday Night and Yesterday--Exciting Scenes.

Over 300 lots sold. Clamor for them unprecedented. NEW PLAN will be closed out in less than a week. If you weren't out, run today. Make some money like other people.

Were you out at West Liberty yesterday? If you weren't you MISSED the SIGHT of YOUR LIFE. Three thousand cool headed judges of good real estate feverishly FOUGHT FOR the CHOICEST LOTS in our No. 3 plan which was opened Saturday afternoon. Some of the buyers Saturday evening were so amazed that they came back yesterday morning with their friends and relatives to put them in on this good thing. Many waited until afternoon—then they were sorry. BEFORE 12 O'CLOCK WE HAD SOLD 109 LOTS.

Anticipating another Sunday rush the Pittsburgh Railways Company put on a dozen extra cars. From 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 last night every car outbound was crowded. Arriving at Cape May Avenue—the present entrance to our property—many refused to wait for the carriages we had provided but RUSH'D around snatching price cards off the stakes in the lots. They didn't wait for salesmen, but carried coveted cards to our office. All afternoon crowds stood about waiting for agreements.



Constructing Granolithic Sidewalks in One of the Graded, Paved and Sewered Streets in West Liberty. From a Photograph Taken April 20.

REAL ESTATE MEN AMAZED.

In the crowd were many REAL ESTATE MEN. They KNOW a GOOD THING, and BOUGHT. They can sell any time at a handsome profit. This No. 3 plan is the NICE LYING PROPERTY surrounding our Cape May Avenue office. All streets sewered and graded, and many paved. FEW early buyers COULD BELIEVE we could sell LOTS on SEWERED Streets for $50, $75 and $100. They snapped up all they could get. One man who proudly claimed to be the father of eight children bought a lot for each child. "I expect each lot to be the foundation of a fortune," he said.

RAIN WAS FORTUNATE.

We're glad it rained. Kept people away. We simply could not have handled them. While the SALE WAS BIG the rain kept enough people away to leave many EXCEPTIONALLY CHOICE LOTS for today's buyers. BUT GO EARLY. If you can't get out during the day, go AFTER SUPPER. Many of the streets are lighted with natural gas in beautiful street lamps, in keeping with the otherwise HIGH CHARACTER of the SURROUNDINGS. Salesmen on the ground until 10 o'clock.

OVER 300 LOTS SOLD.

New Plan Will Be Closed Out In Less Than a Week.

PRICES AND TERMS.

These are the EXPRESS TROLLEY TUNNEL LOTS. The high-speed palatial trolleys that will whiz under Mount Washington will carry you from West Liberty to the Pittsburgh Postoffice in 10 minutes. THAT'S WHAT'S MAKING THE BOOM. That's what no other plan of lots has. WE are building that tunnel. WE will build the express trolley line and it will go right through the center of plan No. 3. NO WONDER PEOPLE GASP when they realize this and then see these high-class lots selling at such ridiculously low prices as $50, $75, $100, $150, $175, $200, $250, $300, $350, $400 and $500. Terms ONLY $10 DOWN—then $1 a week up. Liberal discount for cash—15 per cent. No taxes. No interest for two years. General Warranty Deed insuring the title free with each lot.

FREE! FREE! FREE! To people Who will build homes in West Liberty now we will give $25,000.00 worth of lots free. Newly married couples jump at this. We pay car fare of all buyers within 100 miles of Pittsburgh. If you can't come, WRITE. We're selling lots of lots by mail. Take Mount Lebanon or Castle Shannon car on Liberty, Smithfield or Carson streets. Get off at Cape May Avenue. Call at our office for free car tickets.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Pittsburgh at St. Louis.
Chicago at Cincinnati.
Boston at New York.
Philadelphia at Brooklyn.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Not since the days of Capt. Anson and the renowned "stone wall" infield, not since Silver Flint, Mike Kelly, Clarkson and Williamson were in their heyday, has the West Side baseball park seen such a tremendous throng as surged through its entrances today—24,288 persons saw the game.

They wanted to see the champion Pittsburgh team, Chicago's opponent. They hoped to see Chicago win, and they did.

The score was, Microbes, 9; Pirates, 6.

Because of the crowd special ground rules had to be made. Serious trouble was averted several times. As the game began those clamoring for bleacher seats started an incipient riot, but policemen restored order.

The game at its opening did not hold out much promise for a Microbe victory. Pittsburgh began scoring in the first inning, when Beaumont made one, after reaching first through an error by Casey. Then after two were out Casey made another mistake. A moment after this Bransfield doubled and Beaumont had counted.

The second inning was another Pittsburgh act, Beaumont and Falkenberg getting around the circuit before the necessary three were out, on a couple of singles and as many bases on balls. In the sixth inning the Pirates tied the score after the Microbes had made five in the fifth.

Jack Taylor opened the inning by going out on a grounder to Ritchey. Hans Wagner allowed Clarke's grounder to pass him. Slagle was safe after a bunt. At this point the noise was deafening. Kling lined a hot one straight toward the pitcher. Falkenberg stooped it and tried to get Jones, but threw wildly and fanned. The bases were full and Falkenberg could not get the ball over. Dobbs walked and this forced Jones in with the first run.

Tinker then put a liner toward Falkenberg, which the latter tried to handle with one hand. He did not succeed and Tinker was safe, while Slagle scored. A drive to right by Casey, which Clarke, Beaumont and Wagner let fall to the ground between them, scored Kling, and Tinker came from Ritchey to Bransfield tallied Dobbs.

Then Tinker made the sensational play of the contest. Hanlon was batting and two men were out. Hanlon had already struck out twice and Tinker saw little chance of being caught. But Hanlon looked big enough to sneak up behind and as Falkenberg prepared to deliver the ball Tinker ran and slid safely across the rubber with the fifth run.

Sloppy ending playing on the part of the Microbes gave the Pirates enough runs in the first half of the next inning to tie the count. Smith scored on a hit by Falkenberg and the latter reached home through a muff by Hanlon.

In the seventh the Microbes fell upon the champions again, this time getting three runs, which gave them a commanding lead. In the next inning the Microbes made one more. In this inning, with two out, Wagner got another grounder pass him and when Casey doubled into the right garden crowd Tinker counted. This made the score 9 to 6, a lead which was hard to overcome.

Pittsburgh made its last tally in the ninth. With one out Clarke got a base and singles by Leach and Bransfield scored him. Leach was forced at second and when Merritt died to Slagle, the great game was over. Score:

Smoot's Protested Home Run Wins for Cardinals at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, April 26.—With two men on bases and two runs needed to tie the score, Smoot lined out what Umpire Johnstone called a home run and thereby allowed St. Louis to win to-day's game. The locals claimed that Smoot was out by at least two feet at the plate, but Johnstone held differently. The police had to escort Johnstone from the grounds. Attendance, 17,000. Score:

UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO MAY PLAY IN PITTSBURGH

Champion College Lacrosse Team of Canada Writes Here for a Game.

The University of Toronto Lacrosse team, which will play the Johns Hopkins university team of Baltimore for the intercollegiate championship of America, is anxious to play a game in Pittsburgh with the recently organized local team. Secretary Lambie of the Pittsburgh team yesterday received a letter from W. N. Livingston, manager of the University of Toronto team, asking for a date in Pittsburgh, at the same time suggesting May 28.

It is possible for the game to be played on the day that Livingston suggests as at that time the Pittsburgh National league team will be on a trip and Exposition park can be secured for the contest. Secretary Lambie will send a reply to Livingston either today or tomorrow.

The Canadian team is scheduled to play Hobart college at Geneva, N. Y., May 26, and the Crescent Athletic club at Brooklyn, May 30. Swathmore college will be played at Swathmore June 3, and the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, June 5. The game with Johns Hopkins for the championship, will be played June 6. On the return home the Akron Indians will be met at Buffalo, June 8, and the Detroit Athletic club will be played June 10.

TRAVIS' STRONG GOLF.

Jack Duff Puts up Good Game, but Is Beaten for President's Cup.

NORTHFIELD, N. J., April 26.—(Special.)—Walter J. Travis justified all expectations yesterday by easily beating L. A. Darby in the final round for the Atlantic City cup in the golf tournament at the Atlantic City Country club. His magnificent golf simply played Darby in the afternoon and 6 up. Fownes in the morning by eight strokes. By winning the cup Travis became the permanent possessor of the trophy. The following is the score by which Travis won the cup:

TRAVIS—

PROTESTED BY ORBIN.

U. of P.'s Captain Says Illegal Decision Was Made on Noble in Game With Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., April 26.—(Special.)—Capt. Walter Orbin of the University of Pennsylvania baseball nine has protested the game won by Yale 2 to 1 yesterday. He claims that Umpire Miah Murray made an illegal decision when he allowed Noble out in the eighth inning for not running to first after three strikes.

Capt. Orbin says that there is no such rule. After he struck out and Catcher Winslow dropped the ball Noble walked part way to the Penn player's bench and then ran to first after he was ordered to do so by Capt. Orbin. A man was running home from third with what would have been the winning run had it been allowed. Murray refused to change his decision.

DECIDES AGAINST COLUMBUS.

President Hickey Gives Two Disputed Games to Toledo.

TOLEDO, April 26.—President Stroebel of the Toledo baseball club this morning received notice from President Hickey of the American association, that the game played in Toledo last Thursday by the Toledo and Columbus clubs, and which was won by the latter, 2 to 0, has been given to Toledo.

The game was played under protest owing to the fact that Columbus insisted on playing Clingman. Yesterday's game, which was forfeited to Columbus, owing to a decision of the umpire, has been thrown out.

GAMBLERS ROUTED BY BALL PLAYERS

Beltzhoover A. C. Rids the High Bridge of Gamesters.

OFFER RESISTANCE

It was a bad day for the gamblers at High Bridge, out the Castle Shannon railroad, yesterday. They were not only compelled to vacate the premises, but were beaten and had their stocks in trade destroyed, not by the officers of the law, but by the Beltzhoover Athletic club players.

It was a case of either the gamblers or the ball players having full reign at this famous, or rather infamous, Sunday resort, and the tossers won because they had the sympathy of the people who go there and rely better prepared physically for a fight.

The details of the gambling at High Bridge, as told in these columns last Monday, stirred up the law-abiding people in that section of High Bridge. Notice was served on the Beltzhoover Athletic club that if it wished to continue its games it would have to dispose of the gamblers, and also that Sunday baseball was not wanted. The Beltzhoover players readily grasped the situation and when they went to the field yesterday it was with the determination of chasing away the gamblers.

The players on the team marched to the cluster of gamesters in a body and served notice that gambling would have to cease instantly and for all time at High Bridge. The gamblers, who were reaping a rich business, demurred and said that they had as much right on the premises as the ball players and would not leave. This was enough for a challenge for the diamond fists. Instantly there was a rush made for the gamblers. The dice boards were thrown into the creek and the other boards and machines were hurled to the ground and demolished.

The gamblers offered resistance, but the baseballists were handy with their fists and in a very few minutes had the gamblers on the run. The individuals who have been fleecing children and "suckers" were no match for the ball players when it came to a rough-and-tumble fight. They had to flee from the premises with several dollars discolored eyes and other marks of a general fight.

After disposing of the gamblers the Beltzhoover players went to the ball field to practice. They were satisfied in driving away the gamblers, and if they hope to play Sunday games they will have to see to it that there shall be no disorder at any of the games.

PLEASED WITH OPENING

Risher Likes His Team, While Matthews Intends to Make a Change.

Despite the fact that the day was not a good one because of the threatened rain and coldness the managers of the local independent teams were pleased with their openings Saturday, everything being considered. The crowd, which numbered almost 2,000 persons, was the largest that has attended an opening game at Steel Works' park on Homestead. This attendance, however, has been doubled in mid season.

Manager Howard Risher was pleased with the showing of the team. He was not "Wonderful" about the attendance. It was the article of ball that he wanted. The men certainly did do good work with the bat, and this is just what Risher wants above all. Risher is impressed with the work of Coursey, the Geneva, N. Y., boy, behind the bat, and also his hitting. Bill Marshall will not be missed, said he. "Slab" Burns, pitcher, reported at Homestead Saturday, but he was bothered with a bad toothache and he was not asked to don a uniform. However, Hollis and Flanagan, the new pitchers, however, kept Wilmerding from hitting the ball.

Manager Noble Matthews of the Pittsburgh Amateur club is pleased with his opening game with Tarentum. The attendance came up to expectation, but he was sorry to have Henry Mucker injured. Mucker is Matthew's prize catcher, and it is probable that he will be out of the game for some time with his split hand. Matthews has not yet decided on his line up, and it is likely that he will make a few changes. Once he gets the men he is after he will have nothing but the fastest kind of Friendship park. This means that the best semi-professional teams in the state will be played.

When Ed Hicker gets his Millvale team in the field it is possible that the fast eastern visiting teams will delight at Homestead. Friendship park and Millvale on different dates, but on the same trip. Matthews has not yet decided as to his attraction for next Saturday. Several local teams want the date.

NEW PLAYERS SIGNED.

Manager Dennis Getting Good Team for New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—Manager J. B. Dennis of the New Castle Athletic baseball team has signed three out-of-town players to complete the line-up of the nine. The new men are, pitcher, P. J. Hoffman of Erie; Samuel McAllister of Niles, O., and Second Baseman John Kaufman, who was with the Canton Marines last season.

The other players are placed as follows: Hodgkinson, pitcher; Walter Thurling, first; John McDonald, catcher; Daniel Keenan, short; William Asberry, third; Gill Kleindienst, left; William Kemp, middle; J. B. Dennis, right; substitute, Moon.

The first game will be played with Sharon, May 2, at home, and the club will open the season at Niles, May 19 and 20. The Winter A. C.'s play here Memorial Day.

NO GAME AT DETROIT.

Ministers and Laymen Act Vigorously Against Sunday Ball.

DETROIT, April 26.—No baseball was played in Detroit today, owing to vigorous action on the part of ministers and laymen, and the possibility of the sheriff enforcing the existing laws. Sunday games scheduled for Detroit by the American league have been called off.

SMATHERS ON SPEEDWAY.

Has Ida Highwood, 2:09 3-4, Out and Beats Cockerill's Swift, 2:11 3-4.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(Special.)—After having suffered two defeats on the Speedway last week with Queen Wilkes—the first, it is said, ever charged to her account when she was in form—E. R. Smathers today brought out one of his reserves and again rode in front in the 'leven.

So like Queen Wilkes in color, form, size and carriage was the beautiful little bay mare he drove up the road that until his trainer, George Spear, came along just behind him with the former pride of the speedway a few persons among the thousands looking on were aware that it was not Queen Wilkes but Ida Highwood, 2:09¾, over which Mr. Smathers held the reins.

By way of "feeling them out," the two handsome mares were worked through the stretch together. It looked like a "race for blood" as both owner and trainer appeared to be driving in earnest when they passed the half mile pole, with Ida Highwood leading by half a length. After thus getting a line on her speed, Smathers let Ida Highwood go down in company with John Cockerill's Swift, 2:15¾, a horse that is always able and willing to go a good race.

Trotting like a runaway as she neared the finish line, the mare parted company with him and won by four or five lengths. Her quick, big strides carried her to the front again in the return trip, and then her record, who is tuning her up for the Grand Circuit and the Amateur wagon races at the Empire track, called a halt, this being her first fast work this year. Smathers did not drive Queen Wilkes in any of the brushes. He feels that she needs a short rest.

HOLLIS GIVES ECLIPSE BUT THREE SAFE HITS

Mohawk Pitcher Does Good Work and He Beats His Rivals With Ease, 18 to 0.

But three measly singles was the best that the Eclipse A. C. was able to negotiate from the delivery of Will Hollis, the Mohawk pitcher, for yesterday afternoon. It was the first game of the season for these teams and as both are composed of players from Mt. Washington a certain amount of rivalry existed.

There were very few stages of the game that Eclipse was dangerous, and it lost 18 to 0. The Mohawks scored one run in the first inning and then did not tally again until the fourth, when five runs were chased over the plate. After this inning it was a succession of hits on the part of the Mohawk batters. Hollis, however, was invincible and was not found. Barker made a catch which was one of the features of the game. SEASIDE A. C. VICTORIOUS.

Mt. Troy Finds Boyle in Sixth. But Can't Get Enough Runs to Win.

Seaside A. C. defeated the Mt. Troy A. C. yesterday at Mt. Troy before a crowd of 1,500 persons. "Lefty" Boyle held Mt. Troy for five innings, but in the sixth inning they started to bat, and with some loose playing on the part of Seaside managed to push eight runs across the plate. But thereafter they were never dangerous, and finally succumbed to the score of 13 to 10.

The features were the battery work of Boyle and Bishop, and the hitting of Lenz and Robertson. This makes a victory for each club and the deciding game will be played at Mt. Troy, May 11 for a side bet of $2,500. Score:

Youngstown Students Beat New Castle High School, 22 to 7.

NEW CASTLE, PA., April 26.—(Special.)—The Raven High school team defeated the New Castle High school team here yesterday in what was the opening game of the season for both teams. The local men went to pieces in the second and fourth innings and allowed the visitors to secure a winning lead. The locals made a rally in the sixth, when they secured five runs, but were unable to overcome the lead of their opponents. The Youngstown pitcher in the sixth inning hit his first three men, filling the bases.

Osborne in left and Grander at first played the best game for Youngstown, while David Harris was the star of the local team. The same teams play again at Youngstown next Wednesday. The score:

POWERFUL CRAFT IS THE RELIANCE

With Designer Herreshoff at Wheel She Beats Down Bay.

IS MUCH STIFFER

BRISTOL, April 26.—The yacht Reliance was taken out for another spin lasting two hours, this afternoon and on the whole she proved to be the old yesterday a stiff, powerful craft. She was very fast in beating and reaching.

Under small sail she left her anchorage shortly after 2 o'clock and beat down to the lower bay in a light southeast wind. When she came abeam of Musselbed light she caught a slant of wind and reached over to Prudence island, making long and short legs almost down to Gould island. Then she was brought about and started on a reach back to Bristol, setting her balloon-jib-topsail for the first time, and entering Bristol harbor by Tappoopesquan channel, a course not usually followed by the Herreshoff boats, they having used the east channel. Designer Herreshoff was at the wheel on the trip. The breeze throughout the afternoon was about seven knots and the water was smooth. The balloon-jib-topsail set finely. The other sails did not seem to set quite as well as yesterday, which might have been due to the fact that the wind was not so strong. The Reliance was stiffer than yesterday, standing almost upright. The crew wore their blue suits and watch caps, the latter carmine and black (the Isolin colors), for the first time.

COUNTRY IS BUSY AND PROSPEROUS

Remarkably Favorable Conditions Described by Government Expert.

FIGURES DO NOT LIE

Every Branch of Industry Thriving and There Is No Ground to Expect Any Change from What Can Be Seen at Present.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 26.—"I have been studying the statistics of our commerce for 26 years, and I have never known the time in which they indicated greater prosperity, greater activity in agriculture and manufacturing, or in any of the producing industries of the country, than at the present.

"There is nothing in sight at the present time, at home or abroad, which in my judgment would warrant even the most pessimistic in anticipating adverse conditions in our domestic or foreign trade."

The above declaration by O. P. Austin, chief of the bureau of statistics of the treasury department, is included in a series of interviews on the prosperous condition of the country to be printed by the Record-Herald tomorrow. Mr. Austin's conclusions, the Record-Herald goes on to say, are fully supported by local authorities in a striking statement from the agricultural department and by the announcement of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Armstrong.

Railroad men, bankers and farmers, manufacturers, and wholesalers, are even more enthusiastic than these officials of the government in their predictions of continuing and advancing prosperity. From no quarter comes any note of pessimism; everywhere there is the same cheery hopefulness, the same certainty of 1903, that will even eclipse the splendid record of 1902.

WHAT EXPORTS SHOW.

The chief of the treasury bureau of statistics, in addition to his above statement, said to a Washington correspondent: "The exports for the 12 months ended with March amounted to $1,041,000,000, and while this falls slightly below the figure of the two preceding years, the reduction is due to conditions existing in the early part of the year, and not to those of the present time. For these four months ending with March no such export record was ever known.

"An equally striking evidence of prosperity is found in the figures of the import trade. The imports for the 12 months ended with March exceeded $1,000,000 in value, and this is the first time imports have ever crossed the $1,000,000 line in a 12 months term. There is a difference of opinion among the economists as to whether large imports are evidence of prosperity, but the fact that the largest growth in importations is found in articles required for use in manufacturing justifies the assertion that the growth of imports, in this particular case at least, is an evidence of prosperity."

"Prosperity is indicated by the consumptive capacity of a nation," said Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Armstrong. "In the fiscal year 1894, during the lethargy which followed the crash of 1893, the total revenue from customs duties was $131,818,530 62.

REVENUES FROM CUSTOMS.

"At the close of business April 25, 1903, there had been received for this much of the fiscal year, as a result of the collection of revenues from customs, $238,-996,857. An estimate by the government actuary based on this showing brings the approximate total of revenues from customs for this fiscal year to the enormous sum of $282,180,000, the largest in the history of the United States.

"It shows that the consumptive capacity has been increased more than 100 per cent, and a people can not increase its consumption unless it is prosperous."

Unexampled activity in trade throughout the United States is reported from all the leading sources of information. Some time before the winter ended representatives of several trunk lines traversing the west and northwest were a unit in declaring that crops were to be extremely bountiful, the opinion being based on investigations in the grain belt. These preliminary statements are now being strengthened by such facts as lead to the positive conclusion that the basis for prosperity in any nation—the yield of its soil—is to be greater and more stupendous than any in recent years.

THE CROP PROSPECTS.

Of particular interest is a report by the agricultural department at Washington announcing winter wheat condition to be 97.5, or 15 points higher than the average April condition in corresponding months for 10 years. The area of winter wheat is vastly greater, and an estimate is made that it aggregates 34,000,000 acres. This is a record of 4,000,000 acres greater than reported in 1901, which was called a top-notch season. Moreover, it suggests a yield of 511,000,000 bushels, or 132,000,000 in excess of the crop of a year ago and 115,000,000 greater than the largest similar crop in the country, that of 1901.

Letters from all sections of the far west and the middle western country to bankers in Chicago and New York tell a single story of a gratifying present and of brilliant promise for the next eight months. Railroad men in Chicago who are in touch with agricultural and commercial matters make declarations equally assuring.

TEST OF ARNOLD MOTOR PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Conservation of Energy the Feature of Chicago Engineer's Invention.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, April 26.—At Lansing, Mich., yesterday a successful test was made of the Arnold electro-pneumatic system for the operation of railway cars, said the inventor Elon J. Arnold of Chicago, the transportation engineering and electrical expert, is radiant. Previously Mr. Arnold had been very conservative in promises regarding his motors, but after the experiments he had no hesitation in declaring the system a success. He said:

"While I shall not undertake to run any cars over the road until next week, because of the failure to receive certain brakes and tanks, I am satisfied that the motors will do everything I have hoped. It is expected that the new motors will revolutionize electric railway methods. One of the chief features is the conservation of energy through the use of compressed air. Energy is stored as the car is propelled by the usual methods, and may be used as if the car were equipped with a storage battery. The direct conductor may therefore be dropped at the outskirts of a city and the car propelled by means of the compressed air. Much overhead construction can be avoided on sidings and in other cases where it might be inconvenient to run trolley wires. The final experiments with the motors will be made next week, when a trip over the new electric line to St. Johns, a distance of 20 miles, will be made.

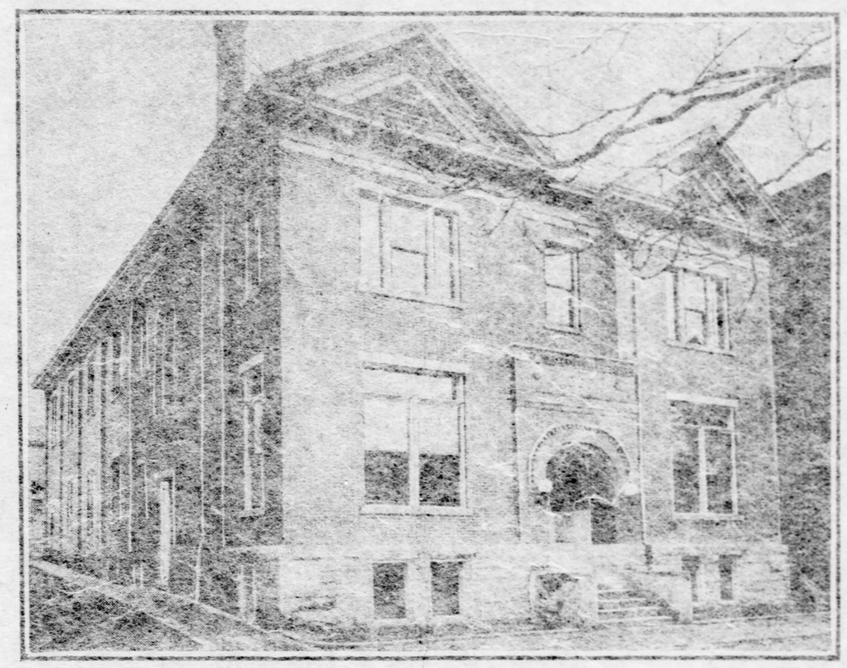
NEW ODD FELLOWS TEMPLE, YOUNGSTOWN, O.



This Building Will Be Dedicated Today.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 26.—(Special.)—The new Odd Fellows' temple will be dedicated tomorrow. The dedicatory services will be in charge of Grand Master Bever of Columbus. The program for the evening, when the ladies of the Odd Fellows are invited, includes addresses of welcome by Mayor-elect W. T. Gibson on "Our Order," by Grand Master J. M. Bever of Columbus; "The New Odd Fellow," S. S. Connor; "Our Sister Rebekahs," S. D. L. Jackson; "Relations of Odd Fellows to the Government," Past Grand Master W. S. Clapp of Warren. The new building is entirely occupied by the Odd Fellows. It includes a magnificently furnished lodge room on the second floor. On the first floor is the banquet hall and ball room.

FATES AGAINST BIGELOW'S BILL

The Director's Condemnation Measure May Not Reach Councils Today

MEASURE NOT PRINTED

Solicitor Rodgers Refuses to Turn Over Site for Institute Addition Until Title to All the Property Is Obtained.

Director E. M. Bigelow's condemnation ordinance, which was defeated by the finance committee Saturday afternoon and ordered reported to councils with a negative recommendation, may not be considered at all by councils. Assistant Controller E. Z. Morrow stated Saturday that he doubted whether the ordinance could be printed in time to be reported to common council tonight. It was late when the finance committee finished Saturday evening and the ordinance could not be sent to the printers to be put in form for councils until this morning. If the bill is not in the hands of common council tonight, the question of condemnation cannot be considered except by defeating the ordinance for the purchase of the Filan-Magee property, which is before the body on second reading. If there is no opposition to the purchase ordinance, it can be passed finally tonight by common council and sent to select branch.

If the purchase ordinance goes through tonight a special meeting of select council will be called at once to put the bill through that branch and send it to the mayor, so that it can be signed immediately and the purchase of the property consummated within the week. It is believed that Director Bigelow will offer no further opposition to the purchase, owing to the fact that a majority of the Citizen leaders of common council have declared against Mr. Bigelow's plan of condemnation.

W. H. Stevenson, chairman of the finance committee, who is fighting for the purchase of the Flinn-Magee property, said yesterday that he thought the bill would go through councils now without much opposition. He said the further delay of the measure would make any councilmen responsible for its obstruction unpopular.

The city has not yet turned over to the board of trustees the site for the addition to the Carnegie institute. The trustees announced some time ago that they expected to start work on the institute addition immediately on giving bond to cover pending appeals of property owners from assessments of the board of viewers, but City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers has declared that the trustees cannot start on the addition until a clear title to the property has been obtained.

A title to all the property cannot be secured until all the cases pending are settled. Since receiving this information negotiations have been opened with the dissatisfied property owners to settle their claims out of court. It is expected that all claims will be compromised and the remaining property for the addition acquired within a couple of weeks. As soon as these cases are settled and a title obtained by the city then the property will be turned over to the institute trustees and work on the addition commenced.

Select council meets this afternoon in regular session. No special session will be held tonight. Common council meets tonight.

Church Women Will Be Hostesses.

The ladies of the Calvary Lutheran church, Wilkinsburg, will give their fourth annual supper next Thursday evening in the church dining rooms, South avenue and Center street.

Railroad Trestle on Fire.

The burning of the trestle work of the Junction railroad on Herrs Island, Allegheny, at 1:30 a. m. yesterday, caused an alarm to be turned in. The damage was slight.

PARIS PREPARES TO GREET EDWARD

English King's Visit Will Be Occasion of Great Pomp and Splendor.

RENEWAL OF AMITY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, April 26.—Elaborate arrangements are being carried out rapidly for the welcoming here of King Edward. They are on a scale of truly royal splendor. The fetes will follow those held at the time of the visit to Paris of the czar of Russia, and will include a number of events affording opportunities for brilliant spectacular effects. Government architects have provided a plan for the decoration of the streets by day and for illuminations by night. Private residents and shopkeepers have contributed large sums of money toward transforming the avenues and boulevards of the city into masses of color, with floral arches, Venetian masts and loopings of flowers. A large force of troops is being assembled to add to the military pageantry of the event.

When King Edward arrives at 5 o'clock next Friday afternoon President Loubet, the members of the ministry and the staff of the British embassy will proceed to the Bois de Boulogne station to meet him. The station will be hung with rich velvet and Gobelin tapestries. The meeting between the president and the king will occur under a silken canopy. After the greetings King Edward and President Loubet will enter a state carriage with positilions and outriders, and, escorted by a regiment of cuirassiers, they will drive through the Bois and the Champs Elysees to the British embassy. Throughout the entire route soldiers will be massed on either side of the thoroughfares.

WILL STOP AT EMBASSY.

King Edward will stay at the British embassy, which, during his sojourn, will be regarded as a royal residence. He will occupy the apartments which have not been used since the last visit to Paris of the late Queen Victoria, but which have been sumptuously redecorated and equipped for this occasion. They overlook a fine sweep of the park and the gardens of the embassy.

President Loubet will leave King Edward at the embassy, but the king will proceed to the Elysee palace at 5 o'clock to pay a formal call upon the president, which will be returned by the president.

In the evening King Edward will be the guest of M. Loubet at the Comedie Francaise to witness the presentation of "L'Autre Danger."

On Saturday morning King Edward will witness a review of 12,000 troops at Vincennes. In the afternoon he will attend the races at Longchamps, the meeting being held especially in his honor. One of the prizes to be run for, the royal cup, is offered by his majesty. Saturday night there will be a gala performance at the opera, the program including the ballet from "El Cid" and a scene from "Samson and Delilah."

GREAT DEMAND FOR SEATS.

The royal box has been made of three boxes and it has been elaborately decorated with flowers and the arms of Great Britain and France. The performance at the opera will be attended by all high officials, the diplomatic representatives, members of the senate and the chamber and those socially prominent in Paris. Owing to the tremendous pressure for places the American embassy has been asked if it could possibly spare the government some of the seats assigned to it. This, however, was impossible.

On Sunday Foreign Minister Delcasse will give a breakfast at the foreign office, and in the evening King Edward will give a dinner to President Loubet. Each of these events is being arranged upon a scale of lavish magnificence. King Edward will leave Paris Monday morning.

His majesty will be attended throughout his stay here by a large staff of military and naval officers. A French squadron is gathering at Cherbourg to render farewell honors to the British sovereign.

HAS POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE.

Aside from its spectacular features, the visit of King Edward is leading to a wide range of speculation in the matter of its political significance. French officials state freely that this visit marks a long step toward the re-establishment of the cordial relations between France and Great Britain which were strained by reason of the Fashoda incident and the Boer war. They say also that it is an evidence that the foreign policy of Great Britain hereafter will be sympathetic toward Portugal, Italy and France, the three countries visited by King Edward. Hints are also given that the visit will lead to a better state of feeling between Russia and Great Britain, and that later King Edward possibly may visit St. Petersburg.

NAPLES, April 26.—(Special Cable.)—Lord Rosebery gave a luncheon today in honor of King Edward. The other guests were Queen Marie of Portugal, Lady Haddon, Sir Charles Harding, Maj. Stanley Clarke, the Hon. Seymour Fortescue and Capt. Ponsonby.

TALKS OF UNIONISM FROM CHURCH PULPIT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—Theodore Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, delivered an address before a large audience at Plymouth Congregational church this evening.

Mr. Shaffer devoted his talk to a history of the association of which he is the head, to an exposition of its aims and purposes, to an appeal for arbitration and against violence by trades unionists, and to an indorsement of the work of the Civic Federation. Mr. Shaffer, who was formerly a minister, showed his familiarity with the Scriptures by quoting passages from the Bible and illustrating his points with Biblical quotations.

His argument was all for peace and conciliation, closely following the preamble of his annual report, made public last week. He deplored strikes and lockouts and declared that labor unions and their leaders are opposed to violence, no matter what the provocation. He said that the dignity of labor must be upheld, however and that until human nature changes its character, force will be used so long as employers refuse to treat with their men or to listen to their reasonable demands.

After reviewing the story of the founding of the Amalgamated association Mr. Shaffer said that the great organization has always aimed to uplift its members and never to ask of the employers more than the men believe to be their just dues. He paid a high tribute to Senator Hanna and quoted from the Ohio statesman's address at the Amalgamated banquet last week.

The report of the wage scale committee is expected tomorrow and it is practically assured that the convention will adjourn before the end of the current week. St. Louis probably will be chosen for the next annual meeting.

PUBLIC TO WATCH TWO MEN IN CAUCUS

ZANESVILLE, O., April 26.—(Special.)—At the recent municipal election the Democrats saved only the city treasury and two councilmen from the wreck. The new council stands six Republicans and two Democrats and one of the Democratic members, F. A. Bohn, has called for a Democratic caucus in the Memorial hall auditorium for tomorrow evening. He has also invited the public. The meeting promises to be largely attended.

A FLESH FORMING FOOD.

When you buy a package of Mi-o-na, the great flesh-forming food and dyspepsia cure, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use. Druggists Schilling Bros. Co., Penn and Fifth avenues, will tell you that many of their customers who a month or so ago were thin, pale, haggard and dyspeptic, but who are now, through the use of Mi-o-na, plump, strong and happy, with perfect health and good digestion. They have been so many instances of the wonderful power of Mi-o-na to restore the sick to health and to make good natural flesh that they give their personal guarantee with every package of Mi-o-na they sell to refund the money if the remedy does not prove satisfactory.

Mi-o-na is a purely vegetable preparation that can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak, run down and without appetite. It builds up the thin, pale, puny girl and woman to perfect plumpness and health. It is the only flesh-forming food of its kind, and in addition to strengthening the digestive organs, aids the food to digest, and makes complete and permanent cures of the worst cases of dyspepsia.

RURAL MAIL BOX ROBBER PROVES TO BE BLUEBIRD

WASHINGTON, PA., April 26.—As a result of an investigation into the systematic robbing of a rural mail box owned by Jacob Bell of Peters township, this county, it has been found that a bluebird was the thief. The bird built her nest in the box and destroyed the mail.

For several weeks Bell had placed letters in the box with money for stamps upon them. The carrier failed to get them, and mail which he delivered to Bell, placing it in the box, was never received by the farmer.

The bird was seen to pick up the pennies placed in the box for postage, carry them to a tree a few yards off and drop them to the ground. A search revealed the money under the tree, and a short distance further away a number of letters which the bird had carried away were found.

Bell has erected a new mail box and has left the bluebird in possession of the old one.

FARMERS FINALLY GET THEIR PRICE

After Waiting Three Years They Receive $100 an Acre for Coal Land.

TOTAL FIGURES $700,000

Pittsburgh and Other Capitalists Deposit $10,000 With Trust Co. at Washington, Pa., to Bind Deal Long Being Negotiated.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., April 26.—The largest coal deal ever closed up in Washington county and the most extensive in Western Pennsylvania for several years was consummated here last night, when 7,000 acres of the Pittsburgh vein of coal lying in West Bethel and Amwell townships, known as the Lone Pine block, passed from the hands of the farmers to Pittsburgh, New York, Cleveland and Philadelphia capitalists.

The uniform price paid for the territory was $100 an acre, the total transfer of money being slightly more than $700,000. The capitalists making the purchase were represented by William Bald of Pittsburgh, and the negotiation for the farmers was conducted by a committee composed of D. W. Myers, formerly county director of the poor; D. L. Frazee, Henry Fatman and John A. Paul. H. N. Thomas of Thomas station acted as the intermediary. Eighty-eight farmers were represented in the deal, the largest holding containing 290 acres and the smallest but one acre.

The names of the farmers with the number of acres sold by each are as follows: P. L. Feister, 91; H. C. McCrory, 40; D. L. Frazee, 175; Matthias H. Hartley, 100; John Wherry, Jr., 117; James A. Monniger, 100; Louis Miller, 4; W. J. Glesser, 84; H. W. Horn, 182; Samuel McQuay, 50; D. W. Frazee, 20; B. F. Closser, 88; John Closser, 13; Irwin Zollars, 165; Alexander McAfee, 170; J. S. Booth, 95; Emma C. Engle, 52; S. S. Riggle, 13; Clark Rice, 6; A. J. Reynolds, 31; James Reynold, 96; H. C. Harrison, 7; Harvey Swart, 40; Catharine Ferrel, 17; Catharine Riggle, 30; Robert Weir, 165; Alice v. Feister, 30; F. M. Closser, 129; C. F. Lyon, 129; Louis Fatman, 160; Elizabeth Crile, 18; N. M. Bailes, 1; Lavina Williams, 20; Catherine Roberts, 8; G. W. Hewitt, 78; F. I. Norris, 22; J. C. Knostrick, 51; G. W. Crile, 21; Thomas Pike, 29; Andrew J. Hildebrand, 228; J. V. Knestrick, 124; H. G. Kinsemond, 85; Jacob Hainer, 110; John Closser, 30; Henry Friend, 95; John A. Paul, —; Leroy Doak, 137; Ira Friend, 114; Cochas McGinnis, 94; A. J. Sommers, 44; Henry Fatman, 200; Aaron Sisley, 7; A. J. Smith, 22; D. G. Knestrick, 4; N. D. Evans, 124; W. H. Knestrick, 92; Z. T. Harper, 29; Henry Gunlack, 250; S. M. Hosack, 146; D. W. Myers, 160; Grable brothers, 100; J. A. Hana, 130; A. J. Knestrick, 145; Sophia Garret, 100; Simon Wonsetler, 165; William McCaslin, 36; Canada Hewitt, 13; James M. Paul, 165; H. H. Walton, 13; T. C. Gantz, 151; G. W. Shipe, 84; Louis C. Rassl, 105; G. W. Luellen, 150; Sarah F. Shinos, 30; D. R. Monohger, 71; Hannah Miller, 6; John W. and James N. Bristor, 220; John W. Weaver, 53; A. W. Shipe, 107; G. W. Gray, 2; A. C. Knestrick, 50, and Grant Monieger, 50.

A check of $10,000 was deposited with the Washington Trust Company last night by the agent for the capitalists as an evidence of good faith on their part, and in the case they fail to take the coal they forfeit the amount.

The block of coal has a frontage on the national road near Clyde. In the southwest, and extends about two miles west of Lone Pine, in Amwell township, but lies mostly in West Bethlehem township. It is three miles wide and six miles long and about two miles from the Waynesburg & Washington railroad.

The sale has been hanging fire for about three years, and the miners feel in connection with it is the stand taken by the farmers in opposing the selling of the coal for almost nothing. The Ruff block and others which adjoins were sold three years ago for $20 an acre. The farmers of the Lone Pine district, realizing the value of the coal, banded together in March, 1900, agreeing not to sell their coal lands for less than $100 an acre, and then only in one solid block. Many attempts were made to buy the coal at a much lower figure, but the committee appointed by the 88 farmers to handle the block refused and the price was maintained at $100.

The options under which the coal was sold was considered the best and fairest of the kind ever held by Washington county farmers, and was formulated by the committee representing the land owners, so that all things practically their own way in the deal. The options call for only the Pittsburgh vein of coal, which is about seven feet thick. The purchasing company cannot remove or mine any of the coal until the land is paid for in full, the first payment to be made when the deed for the territory is presented, the remaining two-thirds to be paid in equal annual payments. As a consequence the farmers will receive all their money in not less than two years and a half from the present time.

MONTEFIORE HOME IS RECIPIENT OF $50,000

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, April 26.—S. R. Guggenheim, member of the firm of M. Guggenheim & Sons, living at 747 Fifth avenue, has given the trustees of the Montefiore home $50,000, to establish a permanent fund, the interest of which is to be used by the trustees for the support of the home. The gift is in the form of 500 shares of Smelter preferred stock, the donor reserving the right to replace the stock with cash.

In his letter announcing the gift Mr. Guggenheim says: "My object in giving the preferred stock is that you may enjoy a larger income from the amount. Institutions do not, as a rule, invest in industrials, and, therefore, do not secure large interest. The 500 shares of Smelter preferred will give the institution an income of $3,500 per annum."

At his home tonight Mr. Guggenheim said: "I am one of the directors of the home, but have been on the board only a short time. I have been interested in the work for a long time and would like to see a number of permanent funds established."

Mr. Guggenheim is president of the American Steamship Company and a director of the American Smelting Company.

PRESIDENT'S QUIET DAY

Takes 15-Mile Horseback Ride and Visits Soldiers' Home at Grand Island—Will Make a Farewell Speech Today.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GRAND ISLAND, NEB., April 26.—President Roosevelt's day in Grand Island was quiet. His train arrived early this morning. It was run into the yards and the president and his party remained aboard. The president attended St. Stephen's Episcopal church this morning. The sermon was preached by the rector, the Rev. Louis A. Arthur.

In the afternoon the president went for a horseback ride, accompanied by Senator Dietrich. They rode out to Taylor's sheep ranch, and then around to the soldiers' home, where the president greeted the veterans. The ride was about 15 miles.

The day was extremely disagreeable on account of a high wind, which blew clouds of dust in every direction. In order that the president and his party might be free from dust clouds while in the train the fire department stretched a hose around the cars and kept the ground sprinkled.

The president will make a short address tomorrow morning, and at 9:15 o'clock will leave for Hastings, Neb. He will reach Omaha at 5:05 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. He will spend the night in Omaha.

W. W. Heffelfinger of Milwaukee, the famous Yale football guard, who was offered the place on the civil service commission made vacant by the retirement of Mr. Garfield, informed the president today that he will be unable to accept the office.

LITTLE RUNAWAY GIRL CONSUMMATE ACTRESS

Uses Ingenious Make-Up to Create Sympathy and Procure Contributions.

NEW YORK, April 26.—If Mabel Frances Sprague had been trained for the stage, say the police and officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, she would have made a wonderful child actress. By her tears she has hoodwinked the police of several cities and many well-meaning men and women.

Mabel is the daughter of Charles Sprague, a stenographer who lives at No. 191 William street. Her father and mother separated five years ago and the mother is now Mrs. Jennie Miller of No. 112 Madison street, Hoboken. By agreement, the girl, who is now 12 years old, was given in care of her father, but she spends half of her time at her mother's home.

The girl was found at Fifty-fourth street and Sixth avenue on Saturday evening by a policeman, begging the passers-by for pennies. Her dress was torn and dirty, her hair was straggling about her eyes and there were artistic streaks down her face, indicating that she had been crying. The moment the policeman caught her she began with a story that her father and mother were separated. Each had remarried. She had been whipped so much by her stepfather in Hoboken, she said, that five days before she had run away, preferring to starve rather than submit to the harsh treatment.

Mr. Sprague, her father, said tonight: "We have done our best. The child has simply a mania for running away and added to an adaptability to lie and act she has caused us no end of trouble. I have had her examined by experts as to her sanity, but they say she is sound mentally. I do not know what to do."

Mrs. Miller, the girl's mother, will be in the children's court tomorrow morning when the child is arraigned.

ROCKEFELLER TO PROFIT BY SALE OF RAILROAD

Delaware & Hudson Will Likely Buy in the New York & Ottawa Line.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., April 26.—(Special)—The sale of the New York & Ottawa railroad under foreclosure proceedings, adjourned from last November, to take place at Ft. Regh Falls Franklin county, New York, on May 11 next, and it is now believed that it will be acquired at that time by the Delaware & Hudson road instead of the New York Central.

William Rockefeller owns thousands of acres of land along the New York & Ottawa road and also owns the land through which the 21-mile spur must be built connecting the present lines of the Delaware & Hudson and New York & Ottawa railroads near Loon lake.

If the Delaware & Hudson Company buys the New York & Ottawa railroad it will enable Mr. Rockefeller to market hundreds of thousands of cords of pulp wood over the Delaware & Hudson to the pulp mills of the International Paper Company, popularly termed the paper trust, many of whose mills are scattered along the line of the Delaware & Hudson railroad.

Recent purchases by Mr. Rockefeller of the Meacham lake property and other tracts of timber land have made him, it is said, the largest individual holder of Adirondack timber lands.

PROPAGANDA TO CHOOSE NEW BISHOP

ROME, April 26.—The cardinals of the congregation of the propaganda have been informed that a meeting of the congregation will be held May 4 to choose a bishop of Buffalo. According to Cardinal Martinelli's reports on the subject, the Rev. Father Colton, rector of St. Stephen's church, New York, and the Very Rev. Michael P. Connor, vicar general of Buffalo, have the best chances for the appointment, which, however, probably will go to Father Colton.

CZAR SENDS GIFT TO FATHER TOTH

WILKESBARRE, April 26.—Nicholas Ladochinsky of New York, consul from Russia, was here today attending the silver jubilee of the Very Rev. Alexis G. Toth of the Russian church. A feature of the celebration was the presentation of a decoration, the Order of St. Ann, Commander of the Cross, and a gold ciborium, gifts of Czar Nicholas of Russia to Father Toth. Bishop Tikhon of Alaska officiated.

LOVE-LORN YOUTH LOCKS UP JAILER

WEST VIRGINIA EPISODE

Arrested and Fined for Kissing Girl in Public View, William Tillinghast Goes to Jail for Contempt and Later Escapes.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., April 26.—William Tillinghast has probably gone to join his sweetheart, the kissing of whom on the leading avenue of Huntington in broad daylight, with scores of people looking on, resulted in a jail sentence and $20 fine for William, and a like fine for the girl. At least Tillinghast escaped jail this evening, leaving his jailer locked up in the cell that had been his.

Tillinghast's heinous offense was committed a week ago. He was driving along the street with his sweetheart at his side. He loved the girl, and he didn't care who knew it, so he saw nothing wrong with showing his affection in the most approved style of Capt. Hobson in his palmiest days. But there was a heartless policeman in view, and he corralled the love-lorn pair and toted them before an equally heartless judge, who assessed a fine of $20 against each. William paid both fines. It was worth the money. But as he was going from the court room, he expressed a contempt for such a court that cost him a sentence to spend 30 days in jail with no calling privileges for the young woman.

A week without his inamorita was seven long days for William, and he chafed under the restraint. Today he was not the bright, joyous and happy lover of a week ago, and tonight when the jailer brought in his evening meal he was near to madness. With a swing of his brawny arm, he landed his fist on a vulnerable point of the jailer's jaw, and the rest was easy. Quickly taking the keys, he locked the cell door—with the jailer inside—then quietly sauntered through the outer door and disappeared.

Rumor says Tillinghast boarded an eastbound train, but the officers are watching the home of the young woman.

LEADING LAWYER DIES TEACHING BIBLE CLASS

C. M. Bower of Bellefonte Stricken With Apoplexy While at Sunday School.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BELLEFONTE, PA., April 26.—C. M. Bower, a leading attorney and prominent politician, died today from a stroke of apoplexy, while teaching his bible class in Sunday school. He had been in usual good health and attended morning services at the Reformed church, of which he was a member.

He was a native of this county, and was 54 years old. A graduate of the Central Pennsylvania college, New Berlin, he read law and was admitted to the bar in 1873, and ultimately became a member of the firm of Orvis, Bower & Orvis.

In 1894 he was the Democratic candidate for judge in this county, but was defeated by Judge Love, in 1898 he was nominated for the superior court in the convention at Altoona, but was defeated. He was regarded as the certain nominee for the Center county judgeship next year.

Mr. Bower was much interested in church work, and was a trustee of the Franklin and Marshall college. He is survived by a wife and one son, John J. Bower, recent Democratic county chairman. The funeral will be held under the auspices of the Bellefonte Masons next Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

MACHINISTS MAY STRIKE.

Contemplate Making Trouble at the Westinghouse Electric Company's Plant.

Machinists employed by the Westinghouse Electric Company at the East Pittsburgh plant, who are members of the recently formed branch of the Machinists union at Turtle Creek, held a lengthy meeting Saturday night. The object was to take action upon the discharge of 17 men by the Westinghouse Company.

The members of the union allege that the men were discharged because they joined the union. The company officials say the men were dismissed to cut down expenses. It is reported that it was decided at the Saturday night meeting that all the members of the union employed by the company shall go on a strike this week.

In this manner, so it is reported, the Westinghouse plant is to be tied up. As the members of the union employed by the company number considerably less than 500 the plant is not likely to be shut down. It was impossible to secure a verification of the report, as the meeting was a secret one, and none of the officers of the Machinists' union were at the headquarters, No. 1139 Penn avenue, yesterday.

Fiala Tells of Arrangements for Next Ziegler Expedition to Seek North Pole.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Anthony Fiala, who is to head the Ziegler arctic expedition, was a passenger on the American line steamship St. Paul, which arrived today from Southampton. Mr. Fiala went abroad about a month ago to see to the purchasing of supplies, and he now returns to consult William Ziegler. Speaking of his trip Mr. Fiala said:

"We expect to get off some time in June. The ice broke up early and the prospects for the expedition are good. The America was sent down from Tromsoe to Trondheim under her own steam. She is being cleaned, new docks put in and other repairs being made. The America will sail as soon as she is ready, but I cannot give the date."

NEGRO CRAP GAME MAY END IN MURDER

As a result of an argument over a crap game last night Frederick Brown of Bells Tavern is in the Passavant hospital with a fractured skull and Dixey Washington of 905 Kirkpatrick street is locked up. Both are negroes, and with others were shooting craps and drinking on the hillside near the Soho dump. A fight occurred between Brown and Washington and the latter struck Brown on the head with a beer bottle. Brown's condition is serious.

GRAND OPERA PATRONS SUFFERED FROM POOR CAR SERVICE

LONG WAITS ON STREET

Crusade of The Gazette Has Done Some Good for the Suffering Public and a Few Improvements Are in Evidence.

During the season of grand opera just closed at Duquesne garden many people in the two cities and surrounding boroughs had good opportunities to experience in a forcible and disagreeable manner the effect of the lamentably poor accommodations furnished its patrons by the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Each night it was late when the opera was over and the crowds started from the Duquesne corner for their homes.

The majority of those who attended the performances, particularly those who lived in Allegheny, Bellevue and Avalon, were compelled to take the street cars. It was generally about 11:30 o'clock when the opera was over and midnight and later when the crowds bound for the North Side and outskirts reached downtown. At midnight the night schedule goes into effect and cars to Allegheny, Bellevue and Avalon run only every half-hour, and but one an hour out Perrysville avenue.

HAD TO TAKE THEIR CHANCES.

The opera-goers had, therefore, to take their chances of getting night cars every half-hour or every hour. The traction company made no provision for the extra passengers from the opera by furnishing an additional car for the occasion. The result was that not half of the belated theater-goers were able to get on the first night car going home and had to wait on the next, and even the one following that.

This was the situation at the terminus of the Allegheny lines in Liberty avenue Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The first night car started a few minutes after 12 o'clock and every inch of breathing room was filled to the limit. Only a portion of those waiting could get on. In answer to anxious inquiries if an extra car was coming the conductor gruffly replied that the people would have to wait another half-hour or walk. People living in Bellevue and Avalon had no alternative but to wait for another half-hour.

THE SAME THING AGAIN.

The same thing occurred at 12:30 o'clock. Only a portion of those waiting could get seats or standing room, and the rest stood in the street to wait for the 1 o'clock car.

The 1 o'clock car was filled long before it reached the terminus of the line, passengers going down to Ninth street and Penn avenue and Ninth and Liberty in order to be certain of getting on board.

When the car left the terminus at Seventh and Liberty there was not an inch of space left in the car, except on the front bumpers, which were taken by venturesome individuals when the car reached Allegheny.

Women returning from the opera in evening attire had their costumes ruined in the crush, besides being forced to endure, in close confinement, tobacco, whisky and beer fumes of intoxicated individuals who frequent the owl cars on Saturday night.

An official of the traction company was on the 1 o'clock Avalon car going home. He managed to get and hold a comfortable seat while many women in the car were standing, barely able to hold to a strap. Complaints of the service were frequent, but Superintendent Callahan heeded them only with a laugh.

SOME GOOD HAS BEEN DONE.

The efforts put forth by The Gazette to secure better street car service is being followed by some attempt on the part of the Pittsburgh Railways Company to relieve the evils of overcrowding, but there is still great room for improvement even on those lines where the best accommodations are offered. It was apparent yesterday that the appeals of the people through the newspaper columns had borne good fruit, and except on the Second avenue, Bloomfield and South Side lines the company succeeded in reducing the number of strapholders by adding extra cars and "trailers."

"The traction company could like to minimize the effects of The Gazette's crusade," said a resident of Center avenue yesterday, "but when it was discovered that the people and their journalistic champion were in earnest, it was interesting to watch the efforts to get rolling stock repaired and have things in readiness to meet the big summer traffic. I travel on the Center and Negley line. We had a 10-minute service when Supt. Murphy recited his famous epigram to The Gazette, but a few weeks later cars were out on every five minutes to carry the crowds during the busiest hours.

"Where these cars came from I am not informed. The inference is that we got the improvements at the expense of patrons in some other part of the city, but that is no affair of ours. We have troubles of our own and are willing to let patrons of the other division fight their own battles. If they take the matter up and go right after the traction officials with The Gazette's good work, they will get improvements also. The Pittsburgh Railways Company is up against a stone wall, and the fact is appreciated by every officer in the concern."

That the company is doing no more than it is compelled to do toward bettering the service is apparent in the treatment of passengers on some of its neglected lines. The following letters which are selected from scores which have been received tell of evils that are directly attributable to the overcrowding of cars:

WOMAN PATRON'S PLEA.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Dear Sir—Kindly enter my complaint in your list against the traction company. Long before your paper started its crusade I wondered why the women of the city did not rebel against the filth of the street car. I am compelled to ride in the cars on both sides of the river every day, and, though I consider myself healthy, my nerves and my stomach positively rebel against the odors and the sights which we are compelled to endure if we should travel on these cars. MISS E.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Dear Sir—While you are throwing light upon the management of the street car lines in and around Pittsburgh we would like to have you know the inconvenience and trouble we have to undergo at Braddock. When the Philadelphia Company bought the Wilkinsburg and East Pittsburgh lines it discontinued the cars running to the business portion of Braddock, and since then patrons have been required to transfer at both Second and Library street or walk down the hill to the stores or places of business.

When passengers find it necessary to accept the transfer they have often to wait 20 minutes to get a car. It does not matter whether passengers are going to or from Wilkinsburg, they are obliged to alight and wait on the top of the hill, in rain, snow or other inclement weather. There are many people who live on Railroad and Jo streets in Braddock, and those who shop at Braddock, and you can imagine their discomfort while waiting in a driving rain storm or in cold, blustering or freezing weather, as I in cold, blustering or freezing weather, as I have frequently done.

After 10 p. m., while some cars are sent to the barn, passengers have frequently to wait three-quarters of an hour. When 5 p. m. each day, the employes and employes start for home it is simply impossible for a woman to get a car at this point, although waiting for at least 15 minutes. At 4:45 o'clock it is the custom of the company to start three Wilkinsburg "trippers" from the barn at Rankin, and if the conductor will let the passengers get on the cars he usually does so. Through this will be transfer, but these trippers are run by rules who in many cases know neither the route nor the rules, and many times their cars go to Talley Park and then back. I have been put off the "trippers" when I could ride as well as not and have had to wait at the top of the hill for a car. Recently in East Pittsburgh I then found it impossible to get on, and quite a number of cars had passed. I have seen women refused passage in the "trippers" and compelled to take the regular cars and then transfer and wait at the top of the hill. Many could catch a car that was not packed. If you want to see how the public suffers go out to Braddock any evening and stand on the corner. Ben Avon and Emsworth cars stop from 5 to 11 p. m., and you will wonder that the authorities do not rise up in their wrath and compel the railway company to give a more satisfactory service. N. M. T.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Dear Sir—Since The Gazette has been exercising a surveillance over its daily exposition of the poor Pittsburgh street car service, let me add a few word, about the "broken dish" accommodations that fall to the lot of the Second avenue passenger. This division seems to be a back number in the company's list, so far as the style of cars and accommodations are concerned.

A passenger who, for business reasons, desires a transfer for the South Side he is given it, but behold! when he asks for a transfer for the East End or Wilkinsburg line the conductor promptly refuses it. The company thinks he does not want too much for a 5-cent ride from Hazelwood to Grady street. Of course all the cars on the Second avenue, Second Side, Second and Third belong to the one corporation, but the traction company catches more nickels from passengers going from the Second avenue cars to the "L" cars. The Second avenue cars will be full for the financial benefit of the company and the financial loss and dissatisfaction of the many passengers.

Even the "left-overs" and broken down cars from other lines are sent out in the Second avenue line. You get into one of this one's cars in the morning and when you go to alight from it in the evening you find yourself in an elevated seat. The benches are almost up to the window sills and your feet dangle in the air. The people look like sticks and feel very awkward. Just Murphy surely needs a "stone house to fall on him" in order to make some movement toward better service out on the Second avenue line. The pupils from Hazelwood who attend the Fifth avenue high school get off those cars at Grady street and have to walk almost a mile because the company is too mean to give transfers to the Fifth avenue line.

Hoping the day when Hazelwood has better cars and the spot of transfers on any of the one company's lines. A SUFFERER.

To The Editor of The Gazette:

Dear Sir—Yesterday I got off a Penn and Shady car at Penn avenue and Tenth street and walked up Tenth street to Liberty, as I was in a hurry to reach the B. & O. station to catch a train. I stood waiting on the corner and along came car 240 of the Carson street line. But it did not stop, although there was only one passenger inside. Will there ever be a change for the better? ELMO.

TWO THOUSAND PEOPLE LOSE HOMES BY FIRE

VALPARAISO, CHILE, April 26.—(Special.)—Two thousand persons are destitute and camping on the foothills near Pisagua, in the province of Tarapoca, as a result of the fire which destroyed the town. Eighteen blocks of houses were burned, including the banks, churches, schools, prisons, cable and telegraph offices, barracks and commercial houses. More than two-thirds of the port is in ruins. No casualties have been reported.

LOUBET HEARS NEWS OF AMERICAN SQUADRON

BONA, ALGERIA, April 26.—When President Loubet arrived here he received a telegram from Foreign Minister Delcasse, who is at Tunis, informing him that the American squadron will proceed to Marseilles to greet the president when he arrives at that port on April 29 and to salute him in honor of his return to France.

ARCHIE ROOSEVELT'S PONY VISITS HIM IN HIS ROOM

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Archie Roosevelt, who is recovering from an attack of measles, had a visitor the other day whose call will do more to restore him to health than all the medicines the doctor can give him.

Soon after Archie began to convalesce he begged to be allowed to see his spotted pony, Algonquin, which is his constant companion when he is well. It was too soon for Archie to leave his room, and Mrs. Roosevelt was compelled to decline the request. Charles, the groom, who looks after Algonquin and who also is a great chum of Archie, thought the matter over and concluded that if Archie wanted to see his pony he should. Without confiding his plan to anyone, he led the pony into the White House and along the corridor into the elevator.

The attendants were too much surprised to say a word until after the elevator had disappeared. When the second floor was reached Charles led the pony to Archie's room and ushered it in. To say that Archie was delighted expresses it mildly, and the pony also seemed to enjoy the visit. This is the first time that a horse has ridden in a White House elevator.

TWO ITALIANS SHOT BY NEGRO

Black Men Visited a Construction Camp and One Used a Revolver.

ONE VICTIM WILL DIE

The Assailant Escaped and There Is Small Prospect of Capturing Him—Louis Wendel Shoots at J. F. Spang.

Two Italians were shot, one perhaps fatally, yesterday at a construction camp near Brookfield, on the Evergreen road, by a negro, who with a party of his own race had gone to the place with the evident intention of starting a fight. From the account given by the wounded men the shooting was unprovoked. One of the Italians was shot in the abdomen and will probably die. The other was shot in the knee and will be crippled for life. The names of the Italians could not be learned, as they go by numbers at the camp.

Keeling & Ridge have the contract for macadamizing the county road near Brookfield, which is about three miles northwest of Millvale. The laborers are all Italians, who live in tents. Yesterday at 5 p. m. six negroes visited the camp. They are said to have come from a camp of laborers employed by the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which is extending its street car tracks out the Evergreen road.

The negroes tried to take with the Italians, but the latter resented the familiarity, and No. 147, with the very little English he had at his command, ordered the negroes to leave. One of the strangers drew out a revolver and fired at the Italian, the bullet striking him in the abdomen. No. 88, his tent mate, was in the tent, and hearing the pistol shot ran out, only to receive a bullet in the knee. The negroes turned and ran toward Brookfield, through that village and out in the direction of the Perrysville road.

P. Joyce, the foreman of the camp, and J. Newman, a resident of the locality, hitched up a wagon and drove the wounded men to Millvale, where their wounds were temporarily dressed by Dr. I. M. Fife at his office. Then they were taken to the Allegheny hospital in the hospital ambulance.

The man shot in the abdomen was suffering from shock so that an operation could not be undertaken. The other man was examined and it was found that his knee cap was broken in four places. The Allegheny police were notified of the shooting, but could do nothing toward apprehending the negro.

J. F. Spang, living in Isabella street, Allegheny, near Sandusky street, had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon from death at the hands of Louis Wendel, who lives in Manchester way, not far from Spang's house. Spang is about 25 years old and Wendel is 17. Wendel was in the back yard of Spang's house quarreling with his two women and Spang went to the rear door and ordered Wendel away. Wendel, according to Spang, pulled a revolver and shot at him. The bullet went through his overcoat, coat and shirt, entering the clothing four inches below the armpit, and grazing the skin, although not drawing blood. Spang hurried to the Allegheny hospital and would not believe the bullet had not entered him until the doctors, with the aid of mirrors, showed him there was no hole in his body. Wendel had not been arrested late last night, but the police expect to get him.

BUYS FEW STEAMERS.

American Smelting and Refining Company Is to Go Into Transportation Business.

SALT LAKE, UTAH, April 26.—Official circulars received in this city announce the incorporation of the American Smelters Steamship Company. The circulars were issued from the general offices of the American Smelting and Refining Company at New York, and are signed by President S. R. Guggenheim.

They announce that the new company, in addition to handling its own traffic, will engage also in the transportation business from New York, Galveston and other points of the United States, Mexico, South America and elsewhere.

The company, it is announced, already owns or controls a number of steamers and has options on others.

Garrett Goes to Southern.

CINCINNATI, April 26.—President Samuel Spencer of the Southern railway has telegraphed from New York that W. J. Murphy has been made vice president of the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific division, and that W. A. Garrett, recently superintendent of the Philadelphia & Reading road, succeeds Murphy as general manager, both appointments effective May 1.

Wilkinsburg Residence to be Sold.

The fine residence property of the late Dr. H. H. Hurst of Trenton and Franklin avenues, Wilkinsburg, is to be sold at public auction today. That the property was not sold at a private sale is said to be due to the fact that the administrator placed an extra high price on it. It is likely the bidding will be spirited.

TINPLATE WORKERS WILL CONVENE TODAY

Officers Will First Hold Council to Discuss Wage Question.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ANDERSON, IND., April 26.—The annual convention of the Tin Plate Workers' International Protective Association of America will open in this city during the coming week, and will be in session for 10 days. Officers and delegates are arriving in large numbers.

The headquarters of the Tin Plate Workers' association are now located at Wheeling, W. Va., and there is no likelihood of any change. The officers will go into session tomorrow as a council and wage committee.

The most important business of the convention will be the adoption of a wage scale for 1903 and 1904. The present wage schedule will expire July 15, and by that time the new wage schedule will have been presented to the manufacturers, the largest concern being the American Tin Plate Company, with about 213 mills.

PISTOL JOINS GAME

Two Men Badly Used Up While Shooting Craps in Railroad Camp.

ELKINS, W. VA., April 26.—(Special.)—Last night the quiet of camp No. 1 on the coal and coke railroad which is being built from Leiter to Sutton was rudely broken by a quarrel over a crap game between Henry Stanley and an unknown colored man and which proved very disastrous to both sides.

Stanley claimed he won the money and the negro disputed his claim and backed up his argument with a 44-caliber Colt, the ball striking Stanley in the back, passing between the windpipe and the jugular vein, and coming out on the other side.

Although bleeding profusely, Stanley grabbed the revolver and tried to kill him, but the pistol failed to work, so he used it for a blackjack, beating the fellow over the head and chasing him from camp.

He then sank down from exhaustion due to loss of blood, and while he is now in a very precarious condition, the physicians think he will recover.

Speakers for Americus Club Banquet Leave Washington for Pittsburgh.

President S. J. Wallowright and the Americus club committee which went to Washington to escort to Pittsburgh the speakers for tonight's banquet, left the capital last night over the Pennsylvania railroad at 7:45 o'clock, and will arrive here this morning at 7:55 o'clock. The speakers will be guests of the club at the Schenley.

In the party beside the committee are the Hon. James Wilson, secretary of agriculture; James M. Beck, assistant United States attorney general; the Hon. William Dudley Foulke, civil service commissioner; Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau; Gen. P. F. Warner of Washington, D. C., and Frank L. Ridgway, for many years in charge of the weather bureau in Pittsburgh.

PRINCE'S IDEAL WILL BE MARRIED

BRIDE IS BEAUTIFUL

Miss Genevieve Dolan Caused Royal Visitod to Marvel at Her Comeliness — Miss Mathilda Diebold an Intimate Friend.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MILWAUKEE, April 26.—A Pittsburgh girl, Miss Mathilde Diebold, is to be one of the bridesmaids at the most notable wedding Milwaukee has known for years next Wednesday morning. The wedding is one, it might be said, of international interest, for the bride, Genevieve Dolan, is the girl who was declared by Prince Henry of Prussia to be the most charming woman he had ever met. Miss Dolan is to become the bride of Francis J. Romadka, the oldest son of a wealthy trunk manufacturer, who is the Chicago representative of the Romadka company.

The wedding will be elaborate and is looked forward to with the greatest interest by Milwaukee society. The ceremony will take place at St. John's cathedral, the Rev. Father Keogh officiating. The bride will be attended by Miss Ella Kriti as maid of honor and Miss Diebold and Anna Junz will be the bridesmaids. The best man will be a brother of the groom, the groomsmen, Emmett Dolan and John O'Comper of Chicago; the ushers, Harry S. Johnson, James J. Tallmadge, Adolf W. Junz, Charles L. Romadka, Leo J. Sedler and Dr. Lewis J. Daniels.

After the service a wedding breakfast will be given at the Deutcher club, after which Mr. and Mrs. Romadka will leave for a prolonged journey to the Pacific coast. On their return they will reside in Chicago at Forty-fifth street and Grand boulevard.

Miss Dolan was one of the few Milwaukee women to meet Prince Henry, and when she was presented the prince, knowing that she did not understand German, said to Admiral Evans in his native tongue: "My dear admiral, this girl is the most beautiful woman I have ever seen."

This incident figures in Admiral Evans' story of the trip of the prince to America.

PRESIDENT TO TALK ABOUT GOOD HIGHWAYS

Generals Miles and Fitzhugh Lee Also Among Speakers Scheduled.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 26.—The National Good Roads convention will convene here tomorrow for a session of three days. This meeting probably will be the most important since the organization of the association, whose purpose is the betterment of the highways of the country.

Large delegations from nearly all the states are expected to be present. Governor W. R. Moore will preside at the opening of the convention and addresses of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Wells and Gen. Dockery.

Many prominent men will make addresses during the convention, among them being President Roosevelt, Gen. Miles, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, the Hon. Andrew Pattullo, member of the Canadian parliament; William J. Bryan, United States Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, the Hon. Winston Churchill, the Hon. Carter H. Harrison and others.

Two sessions will be held daily and on Wednesday afternoon President Roosevelt will conclude the convention with an address.

RANSACK HOUSE WHILE MISS BRANNIGAN WAS OUT

John Plunkett of No. 425 Avery street, Allegheny, and William Fox of Idlewood were arrested late Saturday night by Lieutenant of Police Adam Neumar. They had broken into the house of Kate Brannigan at No. 20½ Morgan street, Allegheny, the officer claims, and were ransacking the place when he arrested them. Miss Brannigan was out.

Two Mines to Resume.

WILKESBARRE, April 26.—Work will be resumed tomorrow morning at No. 9 colliery of the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal company at Sugar Notch, and at the Baltimore No. 2 colliery of the Delaware & Hudson Company of this city. Both mines have been idle for a few days on account of a strike.

12,000 RUSSIANS RIOT AND OFFICERS SLAIN

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, April 26.—The Lokal Anzeiger has published details of the recent disorders at Kronstadt, Russia, which began in a brawl between troops and marines, and during which it was said that some officers had been killed.

The paper says the trouble developed into a regular fight in which 12,000 persons took part. The streets were torn up, paving stones and wrecked cabs. An attempt to quell the disorder with the fire brigade failed, the fine apparatus being destroyed by the infuriated mob. Several police officers were wounded.

Finally Admiral Lavroff, in command of the fortress at Kronstadt, arrived on the scene with a party of artillery men, who fired blank volleys at the rioters and restored order.

Sent to Workhouse for Begging.

Mary Murray was up before Magistrate Thomas Stewart at Central station yesterday on a charge of begging on the streets. It offered little defense for her actions and will board at the country's expense for the next 90 days at the workhouse.

MORMON LEADERS APPEAL TO KAISER

Hope He Will Revoke Order of Expulsion Against Missionaries.

TWO WERE MALTREATED

United States Government Expected to Demand Apology from Germany in This Case. Copies Sent to Emperor.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, April 26.—Hugh J. Cannon, the Mormon missionary, intends to appeal to Emperor William for permission for the Mormons to remain in Germany, hoping that his majesty's policy of religious tolerance may include the Mormons.

In his petition Mr. Cannon sets forth the morality of Mormon doctrines and refers to the inability of his adversaries to cite any example where Mormon teachings have been subversive of the laws of the state or of orderly citizenship. He declares also that by the command of the supreme head of the church polygamy is not taught.

Mr. Cannon last Wednesday sent to the emperor and the empress copies of the "Book of Mormon" in German. If no aid is extended to the Mormon missionaries by Emperor William, and if the orders of expulsion are enforced, all the missionaries will leave quietly.

Mr. Cannon expects the United States to intervene in cases where missionaries have been maltreated, as, for instance, in the affair at Oisenbruck, in Prussia, last January, when two missionaries were dragged through the streets of the town and imprisoned for three days. They were deported to Hanover, where they were again placed in jail and later sent on to Hamburg. Affidavits of these occurrences have been forwarded to Senators Kearns and Smoot, who have asked Secretary Hay to demand an apology from Germany in this matter on the ground that American citizens were treated brutally.

Among the converts to Mormonism made in Germany are several policemen who were sent to observe the missionary meetings.

HOLLAND GOVERNMENT THANKS MR. CARNEGIE

Baron Gevers Conveys Officially Appreciation for Gift of Peace Temple.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Baron Gevers, the minister from the Netherlands, has addressed to Andrew Carnegie the following letter expressive of the Netherland government's thanks for Mr. Carnegie's gift to the international court of arbitration:

Washington, April 25.

Andrew Carnegie, Esq.,
New York.

Dear Sir—Referring to my letter of the 23d inst., I have the honor to inform you that I have been instructed by cable to express to you the deep-felt gratitude and profound admiration of her majesty's government for your magnificent benefaction in favor of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague.

The Netherland government and the people of Holland, who consider themselves, as it were, the custodians of that great institution of peace which the nations jointly entrusted to their care, are deeply impressed by the high humanitarian sentiments which led you to connect your name in a lasting way with one of the noblest efforts man has ever made—the effort to substitute justice and good will among men for the horrors of war.

Believe me, dear sir, with highest consideration,

Very sincerely yours, GEVERS.

CATHEDRAL CARNIVAL.

City Officials to Lecture on the Cinematograph — Several Other Attractions.

The Cathedral Lyceum is making great preparations for the May carnival to be held in the basement of St. Paul's Catholic cathedral all next week for the benefit of the $10,000 Lyceum to be built in Washington street near the Church of the Epiphany, the new parish church of the cathedral congregation.

Among the attractions will be a cinematograph, a menagerie, a snake charmer, side shows of all kinds and target shooting in which the head of a negro, protruding from a hole in canvas, will be fired at with baseballs.

On Monday, the opening night, everybody will be expected to attend; Tuesday night will be for East End society folk, who are expected to turn out by the score; Wednesday night will be devoted to the entertainment of the L. C. B. A., and Thursday will be C. M. B. A. night. Friday and Saturday nights will be designed later.

Well-known men have been chosen as lecturers for the cinematograph pictures. Andrew Fulton has consented to serve one night, Supt. of Police McTighe will explain the pictures another night, Supt. of Detectives McQuaide will pour forth his eloquence, and John B. Larkin will expatiate on another occasion.

ANOTHER LINK ADDED.

Raubitschek Bros. Increase Their Chain of Handsome Cigar Stores.

Raubitschek Bros., leading cigar dealers in Western Pennsylvania, whose business is known and whose brands are distributed at every point within a radius of 200 miles of Pittsburgh, will today open a new store in Pittsburgh, thereby adding another important link to the chain of stores they already own and operate. The new cigar and tobacco store will be located at No. 319 Wood street, and will be one of the handsomest smoking emporiums ever opened in Pittsburgh or elsewhere. Raubitschek Bros. have expended $8,000 in fitting the place up.

The wholesale end of the firm's business is to be centered in the new store at No. 319 Wood street. The front portion of the store room will be used for retail purposes, but all the rest of the quarters will be devoted to the large and growing wholesale business controlled by the firm.

Raubitschek Bros. have been in business for 10 years. In that time their business has made wonderful strides. Beginning in a small way, the firm now does an annual business of over $500,000, and half a score of men are kept busy covering the surrounding territory.

Bank Clerks Meet Tomorrow.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Pittsburgh chapter, American Institute of Bank Clerks, will be held in the assembly room, at No. 639 Ninth street tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. H. S. McKinley will deliver an address on "Officers and Agents: Their Duties and Powers." The election will take place next month.

STUDENTS ARE ON DECREASE

Number of Young Men Wishing to Be Ministers Is Becoming Less.

CHURCHES HAVE GROWN

Dr. Stanton Says in the United States the Average Is Twelve New Ones Every Day in the Year.

The Rev. W. A. Stanton, pastor of the Shady Avenue Baptist church, Shady avenue, near Penn, preached a sermon yesterday morning entitled, "Why Is There a Falling Off in the Number of Those Who Are Studying For the Ministry?" Dr. Stanton proved by statistics that there is a falling off, saying, in part:

Why is there a falling off in the number of those studying for the ministry? There is no corresponding decrease in the number of new churches being built. Last year in the United States alone we averaged 12 new churches every 24 hours for 365 days in the year. Between $55,000,000 and $60,000,000 were thus spent. Baptists alone averaged two churches a day through the whole year. Among our people there is no falling off in our educational plants, and whole number of students.

During the last five years Baptist school property has increased in value about $10,000,000 in the United States. With 27,826 students in our schools in 1897 we reached 42,577 in 1902, a gain of 55 per cent. There is no falling off among the students of other professions. The commissioner of education reports for the last 10 years gains among students as follows: Pharmacy, 70 per cent; medicine, 79 per cent; law, 277 per cent; dentistry, 627 per cent; nursing, 708 per cent.

But when it comes to the ministry the per cent falls to 28. There must be some definite reason for this.

It is not because the demand has grown less. All facts and figures prove the contrary. So many ministers were never needed before, so many were never in demand. The draft upon the ministry for foreign work was never so great. The reasons are not found in the law of supply and demand.

Dr. Stanton then discussed the following reasons that have more or less weight and that are given by young men who have thought of the ministry as a possible field for them. Salaries are too small and the demands too exacting. There are no stipulated hours of service and a man never knows when he is through. The work takes seven days in the week and includes some of the nights.

The churches throw the minister over and think he is too old just about the time experience, experience and study at him to be most useful and influential. His salary has been too small for him to have saved enough to keep him and there he is unprovided for and unfitted for any other successful occupation. Some men fear the doctrinal restraints and they imagine there is not enough liberty of conduct and thought. Others are kept from the ministry because it takes so long and costs so much to thoroughly prepare for it.

It becomes the church to look into these things and correct what can be corrected for if the present tendency continues the coming generation will find it impossible to man the churches with an educated and trained ministry. And only such a ministry can possibly meet the requirements of the twentieth century.

Every year, Bronchitis, under the mistaken name of Consumption, sweeps thousands of people to a premature grave. Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant nearly always cures this form of disease.

DIGESTIVE PROCESS STILL IN OPERATION

By Careful Handling the Difficult Financial Situation Is Being Adjusted and Disaster Will Be Avoided.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, April 26.

Nothing occurred in commercial or financial circles during the week to impede the process of digestion in the security market. Rather have the developments been of a character to facilitate this much desired operation, upon the successful outcome of which the continuance of the country's prosperity so largely depends. It is no doubt disappointing to the professional speculative element that a spirit of caution and conservatism pervades all classes of the community, for it foreshadows dull days in Wall street.

Better dullness than disaster, however, and it is only by permitting the slow progress of absorption to have full play, unchecked by "sentimental booms" and without adding further to the burdens of banking resources, that the mischief arising from over production of securities, inordinate capital creations and unsound financial enterprises can be undone. The speculative market of 1901 has thus far retraced step by step the market of 1883. The thing to avoid is a recurrence in 1904 of the disasters of 1884. By care and conservatism this is yet possible.

The monetary situation has shown improvement and should continue to do so for some time to come. There is little fear of a recurrence this year of the disquieting money market of May one year ago, when the speculative community was thrown into confusion and money mounted to 25 per cent, largely as a result of the Louisville raid and the Webb-Moyer fiasco. Wall street, however, ought not to be deceived, because dullness in speculative enterprises reflects an easier tendency for time and call loans secured by stock collateral. That funds are relatively not actually abundant, and relatively abundant in Wall street alone, is shown by the high prevailing rates to commercial borrowers as compared with the relaxing tendency in the financial district.

As is clearly indicated by the controller of the currency's reports, the banks of the country are holding less cash than a year ago, and this is true also of the local institutions, both banks and trust companies. Wall street deals only with surplus funds. The activity of business coincident with the immense sums locked up in unrealizable securities, and the necessities of the summer and autumn demand provides no surplus for speculative movements. Mercantile collections are not as good as they were. Few merchants are anticipating the payment of their bills, and demands for renewals are more frequent.

The hope of the future depends upon the crop outcome. Winter wheat maintains the splendid promises and although unfavorable weather has somewhat delayed the spring sown crops in various localities, early reports of corn and wheat elsewhere are of a highly favorable nature. It is, of course, a long time before anything definite can be determined as to the general crop outcome, but in the opinion of expert observers the season starts under unusually favorable conditions. If at any time abundant crops can be more desirable than at another, the period is the present, for the business of the country has been continued at high pressure for a long time and the augmentation of resources drawn from earth is necessary to sustain the activity.

Again, funds, deflected from their natural channels by capital creations, gross extravagance, and other influences to which reference has been made, are none too abundant, and the country may and probably will be forced to appeal again for assistance to the foreign money lenders. Bankers can obtain an extension of credit more readily if their demands are backed up by prospects of an abundant harvest. They may not be yet be willing to help us digest the unsold securities. They will gladly assist us in digesting the cotton, corn and wheat.

BUDGET HAS CHEERING EFFECT ON BUSINESS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, April 26.—The effect of the budget on the stock exchange was immediate and invigorating. The week, which opened with but a slight show of improvement, continued indifferent, every one waiting for Chancellor Ritchie's announcement. This was received with cheering on the floor of the exchange, and an activity unknown for a long time immediately commenced.

The whole list showed fair advances at yesterday's closing. It is thought probable that the recovery in consols will continue.

The American section last week responded to the improved tone of Wall street.

BERLIN, April 26.—Although the apprehension with regard to the American financial situation has disappeared, the bourse had a dull week last week, the slight volume of trading resulting in generally lower values.

The political situation in Macedonia and Morocco begins to be taken into more serious consideration here, not because important international complications are feared, but because speculative developments in the immediate future are rendered uncertain. Another bear factor was the recurrence of the rumor that Americans are trying to cancel their orders for German iron; this report, however, was not confirmed. Nevertheless in connection with the decline in Scotch iron through the slackening of the American demand it caused a pretty heavy selling of iron shares in Berlin, quotations breaking from 3 to 4 points. This department of the market is less able to withstand attack than any other because of the existence of large bull engagements.

Government bonds constituted the strongest feature of the market last week; nevertheless German threes broke 30 pfennings upon the heavy selling of speculative subscriptions to the new issue.

Money rates have a higher tendency. Short term loans reached 4 per cent yesterday, and the private rate of discount was 2½.

The foreign trade of Germany for the first three months of this year was as follows: Imports, $276,500,000, an increase over the corresponding period of last year of $22,500,000; exports, $201,250,000, an increase of $31,250,000. The export of raw sugar to the United States for these three months was only 1,721 tons, as against 22,740 tons in the year 1902 and 42,852 tons in 1901.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Strawberries Steady—Sugar Quotations Advanced and Selling Re-Established.

After long waiting and severe losses Pittsburgh wholesale grocers believe they have at last secured a settlement of the sugar question and that smooth selling is again to be their lot. At a recent meeting of the Wholesale Grocers' association of this city it was unanimously decided that the best interests of jobbers and retailers would be subserved by a speedy resumption of the equality plan of selling sugars and that it should be made operative today. In accordance with this agreement sugars are now quoted on the equality basis, which involves an advance of 10 points, making the price for granulated 5 cents. Primal markets are very strong and it would surprise no one if higher prices were named by refiners this week, and, under the equality method, refiners' advances or reductions will be at once followed in the local market.

Flour has been advanced by mills 5 cents a barrel and some of the local jobbers are now below the market have put up prices accordingly, while others consider it best to sell without increase over figures of last week. Coffee is unchanged. Navy beans went off 5 cents early last week and continue to rule low. Of the potato patch but little is left, as they were, with the tomato market week. Packers are understood to be carrying heavy stocks, notwithstanding representations made that there would be no accumulation at the end of the season. Dried fruits are virtually unchanged, except for a slightly firmer feeling in apricots, with a consequent stiffening of quotations.

It was a week of heavy receipts in the hay market, but the majority of arrivals were low-grade stock, the market for best grades remaining unshaken, with demand active. Straw is in good enough supply and unchanged. Oats have held their own with receipts moderate and top-grade stock moving actively. Corn is in better demand and quotations are higher. Millfeed showed increased activity, the closing down of Minnesota flour mills having created a firmer condition with a reduction in production. Rye is lower.

Cold weather held back strawberry shipments and the market has ruled strong all week, with prices much higher today for good stock than on last Monday. Some temporary weakness has been occasioned owing to the late arrival of consignments, which brought about anxiety to sell very ripe stock before Sunday. For stock in good condition there is no cessation in demand and prices have been very firm all week, owing to scarcity of stock and fancies command higher figures. Peas have been more abundant and are slightly lower. Beans are steady and have suffered little change for some weeks, supply and demand being equally balanced. Cabbage is lower, with accumulated stock. Home products has been seriously retarded by frosts and letting onions and rhubarb constitute the offerings from nearby growers.

Florida grape fruit is higher, while California stock is firm, with a large supply and fewer. Bananas are steady at former prices. Lemons are easier, while oranges have advanced.

Butter went off 2½ cents a pound last Monday and has been intractably active since the decline. New cheese arrives slowly and the market is steady. Eggs are strong at higher quotations. Receipts have been very disappointing and dealers have had to have recourse to storage stocks to take care of demand. At the close on Saturday a slightly easier tone developed, but prices remained unchanged.

Poultry shipments have fallen off and the situation is strong at higher prices. Dealers expected largely increased receipts from the south, but these have failed to materialize and the market is very firm.

FOR A GREATER BRADDOCK.

Meetings Will Be Held Next Week to Discuss Union of the Boroughs.

The Braddock chamber of commerce has decided to take up the Greater Braddock project, which was held in abeyance the last three or four weeks to await the action of the legislature on the Greater Pittsburgh bill. A meeting will be called for some time next week of all the voters of Braddock, Rankin and North Braddock boroughs to discuss the question of a third-class city of the three towns, with a population of about 20,000. The question was discussed at great length at the monthly meeting of the board on Saturday.

County Treasurer Thomas G. Aten, chairman of the committee of transportation of the chamber, stated to the board that he had been informed that the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company will shortly erect a new station building at Braddock, and that substantial improvements will be made at Mills station, also in the Braddock borough limits. The new station likely will be on the site of the present structure, which has since the old Pittsburgh & Connellsville railroad was built. The question of a hospital for Braddock also received much attention.

Accident on Connecting Bridge.

Traffic was delayed yesterday on the Ohio Connecting bridge, between 11 a. m. and 2 p. m., by a rail breaking. An empty box car was thrown from the track just above the Pennsylvania Car Wheel works in Preble avenue. The rear truck of the car was thrown through the bridge railing and fell into the yard of the Pennsylvania Car Wheel works and the body of the car was left hanging over the edge of the bridge. Two freight trains from the Ft. Wayne road adjoining the wreck.

Results Worth Waiting For

Fortune frequently rewards only such as wait the period in the development of the United Verde & Pacific copper which the world's leading authorities say is the richest body of ore in sight. The whole of shares of the stock were sold by Geo. Treadwell & Co. of Pittsburgh, at $1 per share, and the present price is 10 cents, and will soon be advanced to 15 cents. The result of the purchase by the Geo. Treadwell Mining Co. is the investing from three hundred to three thousand per cent on their investment. There is no reason to expect a lower result in our case, as the United Verde is now paying dividends at the rate of 2½ per month, and the recent strike in the Copper Queen mine, which bears the same vein matter as the United Verde, when they broke into ore which is about 20 per cent copper, advises them now to favor the company which bears the name "United Verde" and to follow them in to a good share in future dividends.

The stockholders of the Colonial & Metropolitan Trust Company (or the stockholders of the United Verde, Colonial & Metropolitan Trust Company) are the people who went at one time begging on the street at $1 a share, and later sold it at $5 a share, and later sold it at $10 a share, and later sold it at $20 a share, and later sold it at $40 a share, and later sold it at $80 a share. The people who remained in and bought more were those who, because stability came to build that splendid corporation of Pittsburgh, the United Verde, Boulder.

The time for the wise men to invest in United Verde is now here.

TO THE CENTER

The volume of the business of this office has long demanded a location in the very center of the financial district, but the difficulty of securing a place there was very great.

I have now succeeded in doing so, however, and in a short time will remove to No. 223 Fourth avenue, next door to the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange.

There new and greater facilities will be at the command of my customers, and the central location will save them many minutes.

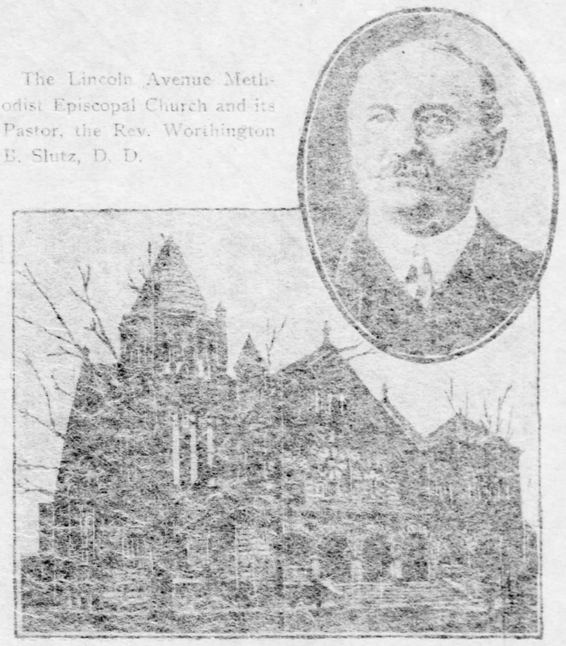
CHURCH TO CELEBRATE TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Lincoln Ave. Methodist Episcopal Congregation's Program Is Completed.

PROMINENT MEN COMING

Bishops H. W. Warren of Denver and John W. Hamilton of California to Make Addresses. Services for a Week.



The Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church and its Pastor, the Rev. Worthington E. Slutz, D. D.

Arrangements have been completed for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, East End, of which the Rev. Worthington B. Slutz, D. D., is the pastor. The ceremonies will begin next Sunday morning and will cover a period of one week.

The Rev. William F. McDowell, D. D., of New York, secretary of the board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal church, will open the anniversary occasion by preaching the sermon next Sunday morning, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Junior league will hold an open meeting.

In the evening at 7 o'clock the Epworth league will conduct a "Reminiscent service." Three former presidents and District President Mills will speak. A short historical sketch of the chapter will be read by a member of the cabinet. Dr. Slutz will preach the anniversary sermon at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "A Working Church."

On Tuesday evening, May 5, Bishop H. W. Warren, LL. D., of Denver, will give his celebrated lecture, "The Forces in a Sunbeam." On Wednesday evening the seventh annual bond-clipping and reunion, together with a reception to the charter members, will be held. Short speeches interspersed with music and luncheon are on the program.

The Rev. E. L. Eaton of Allegheny will preach on Thursday evening. On Sunday, May 10, the Sunday school will have Bishop John W. Hamilton, LL. D., of San Francisco as guest and at 11 o'clock he will preach. The evening sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Charles W. Smith, LL. D., editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate. Prof. C. N. Hassler will have charge of the music for the entire week.

The Lincoln Avenue Methodist Episcopal church was inaugurated May 9, 1893, with 106 members, and it now has a membership of 923. There have been three regular pastors, the Revs. J. P. Long, G. H. Hunnason and Dr. Slutz. Since Dr. Slutz took charge, about two years ago, 150 members have been added. About 60 of the charter members are still in the congregation.

What may be a fine stone church, valued at $75,000, and a number of active organizations. The debt on the church proper has been reduced to $12,000, and at the Wednesday evening bond clipping ceremony $8,000 of this amount will be paid. The congregation has adopted a unique method by which to pay off its indebtedness by bonds. Each year a payment of $2,000 will be made until the entire debt is lifted.

MOUNTAINS MIGHT BE UPROOTED BY PRAYER

First Sermon by Rev. J. T. McCrory on the "Greatest Things in Religion."

"The Most Wonderful Answer to Prayer on Record," the first in a series of five on the "Greatest Things in Religion," was the topic of a sermon preached last night by the Rev. J. T. McCrory, in the Third United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh. The text was from James v:16, "The supplication of a righteous man availeth much in its working." Mr. McCrory in part said:

What may be expected in answer to prayer? Jesus said mountains might be uprooted in answer to prayer. He said all things are possible to him that believeth. Ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you. But no one has tried the experiment of uprooting mountains. There has been no occasion for such a prayer as the difficulties of that kind have been got around in some other way. Paul suggested to Napoleon the difficulties in the way of his proposed campaign by the stupendous, impassable Alpine range that lay across his pathway he replied, "There shall be no Alps," but he did not mean that he would have the mountains tumbled into the sea, but that by some means would overcome the obstacle.

The apostle is here encouraging men to pray for things which to them, perhaps, seemed outside the realm of the possible. But he tells them no, and quotes an example to encourage them. In order to make plainly take the one which to his mind is the most wonderful and refers them to the greatest event in the life of the greatest of the prophets, Elijah. One must have in mind the seventeenth and nineteenth chapters of I. Kings to appreciate the example. What, now, was especially wonderful about that case and what lessons are we taught concerning prayer by it?

The incident was wonderful because it concerned itself not with one event but with a whole series of events, any one of which would have taxed the energy of a giant faith. This prayer presented a program which stretched over three and a half years and had to do with matters that are ordinarily supposed to be outside the realm in which the human agent has any power to act, because it overruled the ordinary processes of nature so that there was neither rain nor dew for three years and six months. True, we pray about the weather and the rain and often have the skies been cleared or the showers descended in answer to prevailing prayer. But this was on a most stupendous scale, and its like was never seen before or since.

DR. PARTRIDGE HAS ACCEPTED THE CALL

Will Become Pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church on June 1.

The trustees of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, Fourth avenue and Ross street, announced yesterday that they are in receipt of a telegram from the Rev. Warren G. Partridge, D. D., of Cincinnati, in which he accepts the call extended him by the congregation. The acceptance becomes effective June 1 of this year.

Dr. Partridge preached his first sermon in the church yesterday a week and met the congregation. He expressed himself afterward as honored by the call, and stated that he was pleased with the church and the congregation. At present Dr. Partridge is pastor of the Ninth Street Baptist church, Cincinnati, the largest of the denomination in Ohio.

The character of Dr. Partridge's work is peculiarly evangelical. Of late years the Fourth Avenue church has been devoted to the development of missions. Five churches have grown from it in the last 12 years. At present there is one mission in a flourishing condition. The church contemplates another one as soon as Dr. Partridge is installed.

At the Fourth Avenue church next Sunday there will be a special musical program. The numbers will be rendered by a quartet under the direction of Prof. L. Norman Hassler. It has been customary in this church to have nothing but congregational singing led by a precentor.

BOSTON WOMAN KILLS HUSBAND'S ASSAILANT

Shoots Drunken Fireman Who Forces His Way Into Their Home.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, April 26.—Joseph A. Kelley, a lieutenant in the Boston fire department, was shot today by Mrs. Isabella Viola in defending her husband from Kelley's assaults. He died a few hours later.

Kelley, it is said, went to No. 8 Fay street, accompanied by a woman employed there as a house-keeper. Some trouble followed, resulting in Kelley being put out.

Half an hour later he returned and, through a mistake, went to the upper apartment, which was occupied by Luke Viola and his wife. Kelley forced the door open and seized Viola by the throat when Mrs. Viola, who is only 20 years old, secured a revolver and fired three shots at Kelley, all of which took effect.

YOUNG MEN CAN BE SAVED IF THEY TRY

Many Are the Pitfalls That Surround Them—Dr. Silveus' Sermon

The Rev. W. F. Silveus, D. D., pastor of the Second Cumberland Presbyterian church, Penn and Brushton avenues, preached a sermon last night on "The Young Man's Battle." His text was from I. Timothy, vi:12. Dr. Silveus said, in part:

How is any man amid this life of shame and self-destruction, amid the perils and strong temptations of desire and sensual passions, to escape from becoming a stagger, a glutton, drunkard or a slanderer, or an unclean person, who is an idolator? How can he gain that self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control which alone can lead a man in sovereign power? That is the question of all questions in human life.

What makes the great difference between men? What separates men from each other, is not whether they are rich or poor; not whether they are noble or lowly; not whether they are in high or low position; not whether they are brilliant or ungifted; but simply whether they are in God's sight good or bad.

You must start with the absolute conviction that it can be done. In order that it might be possible, the Son of God lived and died. Seek Him with your whole heart, and you shall be saved. You must not blame your failure on God. "Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God, for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth He any man, but every man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own lust and enticed."

You can overcome, if you will. Take St. Augustine of Hippo—a petulant, wayward boy; a soft, impure and dissolute youth; he was vain, corrupt, selfish, deceitful; a sore anxiety to his sainted mother. But at last, even with a flash of God's own lightning, there had been born into his heart the text, "Let us walk honestly as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make no provision for the flesh to fulfill the lusts thereof." Thenceforth St. Augustine was a changed man, who bathed himself in the waters of regeneration; he was cleansed, justified, sanctified in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ and by the Spirit of our God.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY SUIT.

Architects of Manitowoc (Wis.) Institution Will Proceed Against City for Pay.

MANITOWOC, WIS., April 26.—(Special.)—Kenney & Detweiler are to sue this city for their commission on the plans and specifications for the new library which is to be erected here through the beneficence of Andrew Carnegie.

The city council building committee authorized the payment of $3,500 for the architects' services, but a citizen enjoined the payment on the ground that the committee had no authority to expend money for the structure without the consent of the council. The architects contend that they are not responsible for the illegal acts of the council or its members and plead that inasmuch as they have furnished the specifications which are now being used they have a right to expect payment.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN SPANISH ELECTIONS

MADRID, April 26.—The general elections are reported to have resulted favorably to the Republicans, who obtained victories in Madrid, Barcelona, Valencia and other large towns. Slight rioting occurred at Barcelona, Bilbao, Granada and elsewhere. At Barcelona several persons were wounded by revolver shots.

STORY OF LOST AND FOUND LIFE

A Bible Text Seems Absurd, Yet It Contains Much Sense.

DR. THOBURN'S SERMON

The Most Lucid Theologian Has Never Exhausted Full Meaning of That Word of Words, "Atonement," He Says.

At the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, Beech and Allegheny avenues, Allegheny, yesterday morning the pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Thoburn, jr., preached a sermon on "The Lost and Found Life." His text was from Matt. x:39, "He that findeth his life shall lose it, and he that loseth his life for My sake shall find it." Dr. Thoburn said, in part:

As formal logic the text is absurd, and yet it contains the utmost law of life. Five times the Great Teacher uttered it. Doctrines and organizations have grown up around single words less significant. This is not a sermon on the atonement, and yet the divine principle of the cross, which "the doctrine which bodies forth," was said in words like on the line of "exchange" in these words. No one ever fathomed the depths of personal loss and death as completely as did Christ. No one had so much to lose, and no one ever died such a death. His whole life was a divine tragedy. He knew the wage of human redemption was His sacrifice and so He gave Himself in benevolence. There was never a more generous offering than the personnel of the cross. It measured the love of God.

The most lucid theologian has never exhausted the full meaning of that word of words, "Atonement." The old idea was that Christ died "to wipe away the red anger spot from the brow of God." Another theory was that the sacrifice of Christ was a governmental severity to keep order in the universe. But the cross comes with a deeper message than these. It is the deliverance from penalty. Christ was crucified for us that we might give ourselves in like surrender to Him and others. The Lord and disciple are under the same law of death and life. The crucified leader is followed by lovers who are crucified with Him.

The cross has been divested of its shame and is now the synonym of triumph. But no glory ever gilded it till there was a death upon it. In view of all it suggests, it is little short of sacrilege to wear the cross as an ornament on a life which is no ornament to it—a life unwilling to die unto sin, or life for others. It is even preposterous to embellish it on temples from whose altars men do not turn to walk in newness of life. The name of Christ is more popular than His reproach. Many admire the morals of Jesus who refuse to look at his cross—the one distinguishing act as a man, between Christ and the other great teachers of earth.

He kingly ideal is preferred to the role of the suffering servant. We all are possessed of the Caesarean sentiment more or less. We belong to the royal family of creation. Our first parents were told we have dominion, and we, their latest children, make our supreme effort in trying to gratify that ruling instinct. We have the selfish idea of kingship—Jesus reversed that standard. We are to rise to our thrones, not over the prostrate bodies of others, but over our dead selves. "Ask not whether thou art in the nobility, but rather is the nobility in thee." It is not what you get, but what you give.

The greatest life is the unselfish life. Selfishness lives alone, but self-denial brings forth much fruit. Every man must lose his life to find it. "Russin died to gain that he might live to acquire." We are likest God when we are pouring out our lives for the benefit of others. The graves of self are the mounts of victory." Tombs are prophecies. We take on the character of God as we take on His cross. We must get the better of ourselves to be like Christ. "If we ever enter heaven we will go in on our shields."

MUST KEEP OUT OF ALL GET-RICH-QUICK SCHEMES

Rev. D. L. Johnson Advises Young Men How to Succeed in Business.

The Rev. D. L. Johnson, Ph. D., pastor of the Union Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, preached a sermon last night on "The Young Man in Business." His text was from Romans, xii:17, "Provide things honest in the sight of all men." Dr. Johnson said in part:

The word of God teaches by precept and example that one must provide for his necessities by his own effort. This effort must be made in an honest way. An effort is not honest, "a thief when puts forth more effort, and shows more skill than is needed in some legitimate calling, but his effort and skill are not honestly employed.

Labor is not a punishment. Man was a laborer before the fall. After the fall he continued a laborer. When it was said to him, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread all the days of thy life," a blessing and not a curse was pronounced. The men whom God called to lead in the civilization of the world were men who followed some useful employment.

Abraham was a keeper of flocks and herds. Joseph in the days of his usefulness occupied in gathering a store of provisions and distributing in the price of famine. Moses and David followed the calling of shepherd, before they were called to rule over Israel. To be employed is the normal condition of the human race. Every person in a healthy human body cries out against idleness. Soon as a child is able, its instinct for labor shows itself.

No one need be ashamed because he must be employed. Let him see to it that his employment is honest. Let him keep out of all schemes that promise to make him rich quickly. One should keep from all kinds of entertainment which drive away hours to others. No one should allow his business to master him. He should be the master. No one can expect to succeed who is unwilling to attend to the details of his calling. Whatever calling one may follow let him ever bear in mind that he must conduct it in such a way as will please God.

PREACHED TO ODD FELLOWS

Angerona No. 289 and Schenley Park No 1039 Lodges Attended Church.

SERMON BY DR. LEAK

Says Order Starts Out With Essential Truth in That Each Member Must Believe in Supreme Being.

The Rev. Thomas J. Leak, D. D., pastor of the Oakland Methodist Episcopal church, Forbes and Bouquet streets, preached a special sermon last night to members of Angerona lodge, No. 289, and Schenley Park lodge, No. 1039, of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The entire service was in celebration of the 86th anniversary of the order. The members met at the lodge rooms, No. 2501 Fifth avenue, and proceeded to the church in a body. Dr. Leak said in part:

This society starts with an essential truth, without which a true brotherhood would be impossible. It requires of all candidates for membership a belief in a supreme being. There must be something peculiar to the mental structure of one who can look upon the heavens above with their numberless worlds each swinging around its own center in perfect obedience to law, or upon this earth upon him with its regular succession of seasons, and upon man with his power to solve the mysteries of nature, until he reads the hieroglyphics of the skies and the story of the rocks and so masters the forces of steam and electricity that compel them to do obedient servants to his command, and not see the handiwork of a being supreme in wisdom and power.

No work can be accomplished without thought, there can be no thought without a thinker and it is incomprehensible that there can be a thinker who is not a personality. Without a personal God we could not without a common fatherhood. From this starting point you organize yourselves together for mutual benefit. In a world like this, so fascinating, so necessary, the accidents of life may easily cause any of us where we are in temporary need of help. Then how we appreciate the extension of the hand of brotherhood. How often have the hearts of these sick and among strangers been cheered as they have listened to the whispered word of love, and felt the pressure of the kindly feeling? This ought to be done everywhere on the broad grounds of human fellowship, but alas! it is too often neglected.

Even more than the word of warning is sometimes needed when one is prone to yield to the temptations of life, the brotherly word and saving hand may turn the current of a young life and "save a soul from death." Your society very properly has much to say about death, and I understand that it calls a meeting of the lodge every time that you have met in your lodge rooms to honor the memories of your members who have died during the year. This is well, for it is startling the world of God, as well as in the experience of man. "It is appointed unto man once to die." To him who bravely faces this fact and prepares for the change there is little terror.

The Word of God, from which your order obtains so many of its lessons, assures us that "If the earthly house of this tabernacle be dissolved we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." But let us not forget, my brethren, that the more belonging to a lodge gets through its beautiful ritual, it will not prepare us for that solemn event, no, not even belonging to a church and subscribing to its teachings will do this, only faith in and consecration to Him who said, "I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in me shall never die," can fit one for a triumphant passage through the grave.

DECISION WILL STAND.

American Railroad Official Abroad Says Court's Verdict Is Likely Permanent.

BERLIN, April 26.—(Special Cable.)—R. D. Caldwell, vice president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railway, is stopping at the Bristol hotel in this city. In an interview with a Gazette correspondent today he said that the recent Northern Securities merger decision would doubtless stand despite the appeals, although regarding the Sherman anti-trust law as inequitable.

He believes that the decision will affect other leading eastern trunk lines. He ascribes the action leading up to the decision as a political move on the part of the Roosevelt administration to cultivate favorable public sentiment. Mr. Caldwell will leave Bremen on Tuesday for New York aboard the Kronprinz Wilhelm.

FROM AN INFIDEL HE BECAME A PREACHER

The Rev. Henry Lutz of Duquesne Did Good Work Since Conversion.

"From being a confirmed infidel, I was led to Christianity, and later to the ministry," was the declaration yesterday of the Rev. Henry P. Lutz, pastor of the First Christian church of Duquesne. Mr. Lutz told the story of his life, and his conversion, to his congregation. He took charge of the congregation about eight months ago, and the members have been worshiping in the Bank building hall. Duquesne, which several times has been found too small.

The Rev. Mr. Lutz is still in the 30's, and has been preaching about 8 or 10 years. He is an eloquent preacher and a convincing one. After his conversion from infidelity to Christianity he did good work as an evangelist at lay stations, under the home mission board of the Christian church.

Special music was a feature of the service last night, a choir of 30 voices, an orchestra of 10 pieces, and the two Hardy brothers, comedists, of this city, furnishing it. There were many atheists from Braddock, Homestead and McKeesport present, and at the close, the Rev. Mr. Lutz held an after meeting with them and answered all questions. The services last evening was the opening of a series of gospel meetings in Duquesne.

THOUSANDS CAN NOT ATTEND SCHOOLS

NEW YORK, April 26.—Bishop James M. Van Buren, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Porto Rico, spoke tonight in St. Mark's church upon the present condition of affairs in his diocese. He said that there are 250,000 children of school age in Porto Rico and yet at present there are accommodations in schools of all classes for only 60,000. When the first American soldiers landed there were only 22,500 children attending school.

Immigration Breaks Record.

NEW YORK, April 26.—During the present month 80,630 immigrants have arrived at the port of New York, and with the steamers due this week the total immigration for the month is expected to reach 100,000, as against 74,841 during April of last year.

GRAND OPERA SINGERS COULD SAVE MILLIONS

Should They Sing Gospels, Church Would Evangelize America, Says Rev. Young.

The recent performances here of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company led the Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, to preach a sermon last night on "Pittsburgh's Day of Art and Opera." His text was from I. Corinthians, viii:31, "Use this word, we not abusing it." Mr. Young in part said:

One past week's opera season is one of the manifold signs that Pittsburgh—which is the United States in a single concrete example—is rapidly losing its grip of the greedy, money-infatuated states, into the upper culture. We are hearing the age of Augustus Art. With earth's passing peoples there have been, always, two kinds of heroes.

First the race of arms. Witness the epoch of Nimrods among the Egyptians, of Assurbanipal in old Assyria, of Alexander among the Greeks, of Caesar among the Romans, of Henry I. in Germany and of Richard Coeur de Lion among the British. America has had her Washington and Grant, but he has had also Marshall Ney and Napoleon Bonaparte.

Then comes the age of noble arts overwhelming into song the feats of arms. Witness the early cartoons of Egypt, the marvelous battle pictures of Homer and Hesiod among the Greeks, Horace and Horace among the Romans, the times of the Nibelungenlied in Germany and the Age from Caedmon to Shakespeare in England. Most noble among these perpetual and competitive arts. While the Thersaitic insanity has the national mind turned to material development, with literature and philosophy struggling for existence. Cults for years, but here to-day.

Last of all comes the reign of art. The third glory of Egypt to transform and ennoble into perpetual temples, of carrara to marble, with architectural splendor, of Greece. To see the strokes of Phidias bring breath into Pentelic stone, the tears of Niobe's children paint her face, the shadows painted or hear the strains of Arion drawing away the enchanted populace, the glory of Italy at the zenith of her art, to add to all these, a people's art, as in Germany, to give the world Thorwaldsen and Rauchardt and Beethoven and Reis and Handel. Already among the glimmerings of Pittsburgh's dawn, have there been signs of the coming day? Are we, as a people, to add the gospel to the millions who never hear? May the churches of America capture the coming American art for the coming American evangelization.

SHEEP THIEF TRAP CATCHES BIG BEAR

PETERSBURG, W. VA., April 26.—(Special.)—I. D. Armentrout of Shafter has had several sheep stolen from his flock and to catch the thief a large steel trap was set. One day last week Mr. Armentrout discovered a large black bear had been trapped and was held fast by one foot. It required several balls from his repeating rifle to kill the animal. The bear weighed over 400 pounds and brought $40.
